CRAMER LANDS IN ICELAND ON TRIP TO EUROPE

Plans to Resume Journey Today.

BULLETIN.

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Aug 7—(Friday.)—(AP)—Parker Cramer, American flyer, landed here early this morning from Angmagsalik, Greenland, on his way to Copenhagen to map a trans-Arctic air mail route from the United States. Cramer refueled his airplane and obtained weather reports from the Faroe Islands, planning to continue his journey today.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Parker D. (Shorty) Cramer, American aviator who landed at Angmagsalik, Greenland, unexpectedly yesterday after a flight from the United States, took off from Angmagsalik at 3 p. m. today for Reykjavik, Iceland, it was learned from a brief radio message received here tonight. The takeoff was a continuation of Cramer's "mystery" flight from the United States to Europe. No word of his arrival in Iceland had arrived here up to midnight.

Shortly before the news of Cramer's departure from Greenland, the government of Greenland received the first official information of Cramer's arrival at Angmagsalik. The information was coupled with a statement that he proposed to start for Iceland.

New Airway to Europe.

New York, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Parker Cramer's 4,000 mile flight surveying a possible arctic air mail and express route to Europe, will be followed by monthly test flights next winter, Alex G. Thompson, president of the Thompson Aeronautical corporation, announced today.

Trans-America Airways, a subsidiary of the Thompson corporation, will utilize meteorologists at Angmagsalik and Pangnirtung, Baffin island. Together with the arctic explorers, Vilhjalmur Stefansson and Peter Freuken, they will make up the advisory staff to assist Cramer and Edward Preston, pilot of a second survey ship, in reporting Cramer's pioneering flight.

The ships will be equipped with automatic cameras, topographical survey instruments and radios. A relief plane also will be stationed along the route.

Bases 500 Miles Apart.

Mr. Thompson refused to commit himself as to the probable opening of the air route to Europe. He described the route, however, as the only "commercially logical" airway to Europe at present. He described the bases as 500 miles apart and the terrain safe for landing. The arctic air service would be limited to air mail and express for some time, Mr. Thompson said. Passenger service might be provided later.

Oliver L. Paquette, radio operator with Cramer, who was loaned by the Canadian government radio service, kept in communication with the Trans-American officials at Cleveland during the flight.

A Diesel engine was used, because of its consumption of common crude oil, which is available throughout the north country. In an emergency Cramer could have used whale oil in the engine, the backers of the flight pointed out.

ARCTIC GALE HOLDS LINDY

ALLAVIK, N. W. T., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Cold winds, fog, and rain, born in the arctic, whipped up the waters of Peel channel in the delta of the Mackenzie river today, holding Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his wife in this far northern trading post. They had planned to leave today for Point Barrow, Alaska, 536 miles north and west.

The storm came up soon after they landed yesterday, preventing radio communication to the south for six hours.

Meanwhile the Lindberghs further explored this "metropolis of the arctic," where the picturesque figures of fur traders and trappers, Eskimos and Indians and mounted policemen mingle. They visited several of the Eskimo homes.

Less than Half Way to Tokio.

The Tokio bound vacationists were guests of Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Urquhart. In the ten days since the Lindberghs left New York July 27 they have covered slightly less than half of the 7,000 mile journey to the orient.

While the aviators planned to go on to Point Barrow they will not find the fuel supply there which they had counted on the United States coast guard cutter Northland bringing. The vessel was prevented by the ice pack from reaching the little settlement

VOTE SHUTDOWN IN FIGHT WITH MALOY'S UNION

Defy Demand for Two Operators.

A general shutdown of 100 independent motion picture theaters in Chicago and vicinity after the last performance Sunday night was voted yesterday by members of the Allied Theater Owners' Association of Illinois, as a protest against a union ruling requiring the use of two operators in each theater. Of the total to be closed, 86 are outlying houses in Chicago and the remainder are in Cook county, with the exception of one in Lake Forest.

AARON SAPERSTEIN

A canvass of the 104 remaining members of the association in Cook, Lake, and Du Page counties is to be made today, to enlist them in a unified stand of the association in the Chicago area. Downstate members are not concerned in the union ruling. Aaron Saperstein, president of the association, predicted the majority of those who have taken no stand to date will join in the movement against the union demand.

Thousands to Be Jobless.

The closing will affect approximately one-fourth of the theaters in the city. Between 5,000 and 10,000 employés, including cashiers, ushers, and assistant managers, will be thrown out of work, in addition to the 200 operators. Owners hinted that nonunion operators may be employed shortly, as the properties cannot be tied up indefinitely. Union leaders maintain there will be no compromise on their demand for two operators.

The owners took their stand at a meeting in the Auditorium hotel last Sunday. Notice was served on Thomas Maloy, business agent of Motion Picture Operators' union that closing was imperative unless one of the operators was dismissed from each of the theaters. Operators receive from $100 to $175 weekly.

The owner held this "unnecessary burden" to be the difference between operating at a small profit and operating at a loss. The union was given until yesterday to make answer or accept the dismissal of one operator in each theater.

Maloy Refuses to Yield.

Maloy, who is under indictment with other officials of his organization on charges of conspiracy and graft, replied yesterday in a letter. He declared the owners had entered into a contract with the union to maintain two operators. He held the contract to be valid until next Jan. 10 and stated any move to cut operators would be actionable as a breach of contract.

On receipt of this reply the owners met with their attorney, Theodore Levin, and Attorney Weymouth Kirkland, representing the National Allied Theater Owners' association. W. A. Steffes, representative of the national association, is coöperating with the local group. After the conference a second message was sent to Maloy.

Second Note to Union.

"Your reply to our notice fails to advise us whether you will comply with our request to furnish one operator per shift per theater commencing Monday," the message read. "Please advise us not later that 4:30 p. m. so that there will be no question of your position. The association denies there ever was or is a contract for two operators."

No answer was made at the deadline set.

"This is a fight to the finish," Saperstein said. "The small theater owners are broke. They are up against the wall and cannot pay for their films or electricity bills. This is not a war on union labor. The theaters are willing to employ union men, but only needed operators. They will not employ nonunion men at first, but these properties cannot remain closed indefinitely."

List Theaters to Close.

DOG DAYS IN FRANCE AND GERMANY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Ashland, Wis., Aug. 6—[Special.]—Shock troops on the noise ridden charivari [shivaree] front in Marengo valley withstood a second attack by Sheriff Elmer Sanders tonight, and delivered to him and the state of Wisconsin an ultimatum when he commanded that the carnival, which has been in progress for 14 days, be forthwith halted. The ultimatum was:

"This here shivaree by golly is going to last until we have to come here on snowshoes, if Arvo Juoni shouldn't pay us $15 to quit. The governor can send him an army here if he wants to, and they can't stop it either."

Ashland Jail Overflows.

Sheriff Sanders, as on last evening, confiscated all the noisemaking implements he could find. One of the prize exhibits was a circular saw six feet in diameter that was beaten with hammers. As the Ashland jail was practically filled with a similar collection of tubs, boilers, horns, bells, and other din manufacturing machinery the night before, the sheriff decided to place the two wagon loads he got tonight in a deep river.

Deprived of their mechanical noise making tools, the 300 Finnish farmers who have decided to keep up the serenade of Juoni and his bride indefinitely resorted to plain old yelling, and proved that they were among the best yellers that ever went to a charivari.

Governor Takes a Hand.

Gov. Philip La Follette has interested himself in the sleepless plight of the Juonis since they sent him a letter requesting that he do something about the neighbors' racket. He has requested District Attorney G. Arthur Johnson to formulate and forward to him a full report on the affair.

All through yesterday preparations had been made for more terrible engines of din than had been seized. The whole of the Finnish settlement halted its ordinary activities to become inventors. The monthly meeting of the Valley Ladies' Aid society, called for the purpose of knitting a few afghans for retired Finn war veterans, was adjourned to permit the ladies to aid the cause of the charivari.

Plans Warrant for 200.

Sheriff Sanders, his dignity somewhat ruffled by the defiance of the celebrants of the Juoni marriage, announced that he was contemplating the issuance of a blanket warrant for at least 200 Marengo valley residents, charging them with disturbing the peace.

"You arrested five before," was the retort. "You can have 200 more, but where are you going to put 'em? The jail house is already full of tubs and things. All the people you put in will have to come out, and then this shivaree keeps itself up."

The sheriff admitted that was something to think about. He is contemplating a campaign of education to convince the carnival makers there is no provision in the law which states that "if a charivari goes on for a month the makers of it can get a license for $1 that will enable them to carry it on for a year." The farmers of the valley say they are sure there is such a law.

Groom Yearns for Sleep.

Tourist parties from long distances gathered around the home tonight. Arvo, the bridegroom, was briefly interviewed as preparations for the evening din were nearly complete.

"I don't know what is gonig to happen," he said, yawning. "We are stuffing up our ears with cotton and trusting to the governor and the state of Wisconsin to get us some sleep some time."

Busted Ranch Show Indians Appeal to Curtis for Aid

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Indian troupers of the 101 ranch wild west show, which cut short here yesterday its summer tour, today appealed to Vice President Curtis for aid.

Led by Chief Eagle Eye, they marched to the office of the Vice President, in whose veins runs the blood of Kaw Indians, and presented their case.

Curtis bought a ticket to the benefit show sponsored tonight by the American Legion and appealed to the Indian bureau with a view of providing transportation home for the performers.

Bank Agent Is Victim of OddKidnaping

John A. Hough, 5516 Flournoy street, purchasing agent for the Central Republic Bank and Trust company, was the victim late last night of a strange kidnaping that is perplexing police authorities of Milwaukee and Chicago. Hough was rescued from his captors in Milwaukee after being compelled to accompany them there at the point of a pistol from Central and Chicago avenues in this city, where they boarded his automobile. He was not robbed and no attempt was made to harm him.

According to his story, which was corroborated by his kidnapers, he was driving in Central avenue about 11 o'clock and stopped for the lights at Chicago avenue. He had had a new radio installed in his car and it was playing. Two men were standing at the corner, apparently interested in the radio. Hough asked them if he could give them a lift, and they entered his car. A short distance away one of them covered him with a pistol and forced him into the back seat. His companion took the wheel.

They drove north until they reached Milwaukee, where, at North 27th and Wells street, they attracted the attention of Patrolman George Biggs. He called to them to stop, but they ignored his order and speeded on. He commandeered an automobile and gave chase. A block away he forced the fugitives to the curb and demanded an explanation. They refused to talk, but Hough cried out that he had been kidnaped.

At the station the kidnapers identified themselves as Fred La Marche, 22 years old, 809 South 20th street, Seattle, and Ray Wallace, 27, Bellevue hotel, Chicago. Wallace was the man who handled the pistol, and La Marche the wheel. They told Lieut. Arthur Burns that they were "broke" and wanted a ride, and that they had no intention of robbing Hough. They said they planned to drive to Rhinelander, Wis.

BOMB BLAST AT LAUNDRY ROCKS SOUTHEAST SIDE

The entire southeastern part of the city was aroused early this morning when a large powder bomb was exploded in the entrance of the Great Western Laundry company's branch plant at 2401 East 75th street. The blast blew out the doors and windows of the three story brick building which in addition to the laundry, stores and offices contains 34 apartments.

All the residents of the flats fled to the street in night attire when the explosion occurred. Plate glass windows across the street also were shattered. The entire damage was estimated at $1,000. Vice President Nathan Levitetz of the laundry company told the police that he believed that the blast was the result of rivalry on the part of other laundries on the south side. His plant is used only as a pickup station for the main laundry of the company.

Raiders Find Captain Where Least Expected

Five squads of detectives assigned to the racket bureau of the state's attorney's office made a series of flying visits on the north side last night, operating under the direction of Assistant State's Attorney Charles Mueller.

For some months Mr. Mueller and has aides have been trying to uncover evidence for the special grand jury showing police corruption. Before the squads left his downtown offices the prosecutor handed them lists of speakeasies, gambling houses, and other places in the Town Hall, Summerdale, and Sheffield avenue police districts.

Squads Start on Tour.

"Do your stuff, and get it, too, if it's over one-half of one per cent," urged Mueller. The squads departed.

One squad in particular was due for two surprises.

As the detectives entered, a patron rose hastily from his chair. He gazed at the raiders, startled. They gazed at him, astonished. They identified him immediately as one of the aces of the prohibition department. Before they could question him, the dry ace edged out of the door and disappeared. A search of the place yielded no evidence, so the dry agent's name was withheld.

Report Police Captain in Place.

The squad proceeded until it arrived at the Edgecomb café, 4021 Broadway. As on the other visit, a patron rose hastily from his chair. So did his companion, a pretty girl of about 20 years. The patron gazed at the raiders, startled. They gazed at him—not so startled. According to Assistant State's Attorney Mueller, they identified him as Capt. Hugh McCarthy of the Town Hall station.

The patron, his face twisted into a pained expression, didn't tarry to talk to the detectives. He tapped his companion on the shoulder and they departed hurriedly. The raiders searched the café, found half a dozen bottles of hard liquors, and arrested the owner, Charles Ehegartner. He was one of four prisoners seized in forty visits of the various squads during the night.

Grand Jury to Hear His Story.

"The squad tells me the captain they saw in this place is Capt. Hugh McCarthy of the Town Hall station," announced Prosecutor Mueller later. "The café is in his district. Liquor was found in the place. Capt. McCarthy will be called before the grand jury soon to explain what he was doing there."

Capt. McCarthy was reached at the police station and asked about the raid. He answered:

"I ain't got no arguments with nobody."

He hung up.

Assistant State's Attorney Hueller said he did not know the identity of the young woman seen supposedly with the captain. But, he said, he was certain of one thing.

She was not his wife.

SEIZE LIQUOR CACHE

Operatives of the racket bureau earlier in the day raided an inconspicuous shed in the rear of 3259 Ogden avenue, where they had been told they might find "a few bottles of liquor." They wouldn't have paid much attention to the information, they said, had not the man who gave it over the telephone laughed vengefully just before he hung up the receiver.

So they went out to the little shed and pushed open its wabbly door. Inside, their flashlights disclosed hundreds of cans and bottles. There were 397 five gallon cans and 461 one gallon cans of alcohol, 816 pints of Mountain Ridge whisky, 564 pints of Mellow Wood whisky, 407 quarts of one kind of Scotch whisky, 235 quarts of another variety of Scotch, 143 pints of Old Ninety-Nine whisky, 24 pints of Chicken Cook whisky, and 12 pints of Old Colonel whisky.

Assistant State's Attorney Mueller, who led the raid, estimated that the booze was worth about $50,000.

While the racket bureau squad was engaged in taking inventory a telephone in one corner of the shed rang and Sergt. Michael Ahern answered. A voice said: "If you care to pass up the raid I'll come around with $25,000." "Nothing doing," was the reply, and Sergt. Ahern went back to his counting.

No arrests were made, as there was nobody near the shed when the squad arrived.

40 Passenger U. S. Plane Given First Test Flight

New York, Aug. 6.—(AP)—The first test flight of a giant Sikorsky 40 passenger plane designed for the Pan-American Airways, and said to be second in size to the DO-X, was made today over Bridgeport, Conn., the company announced. Capt. Boris Sergievsky, Russian war ace, piloted the ship, which weighs 17 tons fully loaded. The plane was flown 30 minutes.

MAYOR ATTACKS REDS PREYING ON UNEMPLOYED

City Plans Action to Oust Agitators.

Interrupting a brief vacation, Mayor Cermak hastened back to Chicago late yesterday from Mackinac to deal with the situation arising from the south side riot of last Monday in which three Negroes were killed.

JUDGE ERICKSON.

Following a conference last night with Corporation Counsel Sexton, Commissioner of Public Works Sprague and Acting Police Commissioner Alcock, the mayor issued a statement dismissing the communist agitators as racketeers, who are seeking to turn the distress of law abiding workers to their own profit by fomenting rent strikes.

At the same time the mayor indicated sympathy for the unemployed and said civic forces are being mobilized to meet the problem adequately and provide food and shelter for those in want.

The Mayor's Statement.

"From the reports at hand," the mayor said, "it is evident that the communists are striving to make mischief of the present business depression. However, I am not inclined to take their activities too seriously.

"My information is that all of them are well dressed, well fed fellows, who have a marked aversion for honest toil but subsist on the contributions of those to whom they preach. I have no fear that the working classes of this city will succumb to their fantastic doctrines."

Promises Help for Needy.

The city administration recognizes that fact that many people are suffering deprivation in the business depression, the mayor asserted. Unemployed tenants are unable to pay rents, impoverishing landlords, who are in turn unable to pay taxes, he said.

"Chicago lacks neither the leadership nor the sympathy to meet this situation," Mayor Cermak declared. "The governor's unemployment commission met the problem last year and will do so again. Moreover, an appeal will be made to the legislature for help. Within the next few days I will announce the administration's progam on the matter."

Work on Plan to Oust Reds.

After conferring with the mayor, Commissioner Alcock summoned Deputy Commissioner James B. Scanlan and Chief of Detectives John Norton to his office to work on a plan for deportation of communist agitators, living illegally in this country. The mayor said he had been informed that most of the agitators were aliens.

"With the coöperation of the department of labor, many of these agitators can be deported," said Commissioner Alcock. "Almost all of them are alifens and a majority, I am told, entered the country illegally. Hereafter every agitator arrested will be required to prove his citizenship or face deportation."

Meet to Plan Relief Work.

Nearly 100 white and colored ministers, labor leaders, charity workers, and sociologists met last night at the Church of the Good Shepherd, a Negro Congregational church at 5700 Prairie avenue, to draw up a program for the relief of the Negro unemployed.

Karl Borders, sociologist and lecturer at the University of Chicago, submitted a program calling for the raising of an unemployment relief fund by a municipal luxury tax or by a "hunger" bond issue to be voted by the next national congress. He also suggested a moratorium on taxes and mortgage payments.

Without taking action on Mr. Borders' proposal, the meeting adjourned. A committee was appointed to meet again today to form a permanent organization.

Raid Communist Offices.

That the communists are planning a mass demonstration at the funerals of two of the slain Negroes was discovered last night when Lieut. Make Mills, head of the industrial squad, raided the communist party headquarters at 1413 West 18th street and seized a quantity of handbills.

The handbills, just off a press, demanded the "death penalty for the policemen who massacred the Negro workers at the riot on Monday," and called on the workers to turn out en masse for the funeral of the dead, Abe Grey and John O'Neal. The third Negro, Thomas Paige, was buried quietly yesterday by a niece.

Lieut. Mills said he was informed the double funeral would be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in a hall at 3337 South State street. He indicated that there would be no police interference. On a recent occasion, he recalled, the communists arranged a mass funeral for a member and, in an effort to attract the police there for a clash, telephoned a false report of rioting to the detective bureau.

"When we arrived one of the leaders privately admitted he had faked the riot alarm in the hope of getting publicity," said Lieut. Mills. "We won't be fooled again."

Woman Radical Fined.

A jury in the Maywood police court last night convicted Miss Ethel Beran, 27 years old, 1415 Elmwood avenue, Berwyn, on a disorderly conduct charge for her part in a communist demonstration last Saturday night in Maywood park, which was broken up by the police. She was fined $10. Seven other defendants were granted a continuance to Aug. 13 by Police Magistrate George Lee.

Nine prisoners arrested by Chicago police in Monday's riot went before Judge Alfred O. Erickson in Wabash Avenue court for trial yesterday morning. Two defendants, John Ellis, 4216 Prairie avenue, and John Hunter, 4106 Federal street, both colored, were fined $1 each and sentenced to three months in the county jail. The other seven demanded jury trials.

As Realty Men See "Strike."

A canvass of south side realty offices revealed a difference of opinion among property managers as to the scope of the rent strike, for which communist orators have been agitating nightly at soap box meetings in Washington park.

Gregory Van Meter, manager of the George F. Harding estate, which includes approximately 600 parcels of property in the 1st and 2d wards, said he knew instances of other rental agents encountering rent strikers, but that his collectors had experienced no trouble.

"The principal difficulty seems to be in the higher rent section south of 43d street," Mr. Van Meter said. "Our properties rent at low rates and, although many tenants are unable to pay because of unemployment, we have encountered no open defiance."

Pay in Better Class Flats.

E. J. Mitchell, vice president of Bowers-Baldwin Realty, Inc., 3450 Indiana avenue, had another view. In the better class dwellings renting above $50 a month tenants are paying promptly, he said, but in the bracket under $50 approximately half of the tenants are in arrears.

"We have encountered few actual rent strikers, however," Mr. Mitchell asserted. "In one eviction case a crowd moved the tenant's furniture back into the apartment and, since the police stood by without interfering, the tenant thought for awhile that he was secure. When we cited him for contempt of court, he vacated in a hurry."

E. B. Laube, partner in the concern of Schackmuth, Strasser and O'Brien, with three offices in the colored district, declared the rent strike threatened serious disturbance of the economic stability of the neighborhood.

On the theory that a full stomach is the surest preventive of riots, Sidney Alexander, white proprietor of a meat market at 5058 South State street, transformed his shop into a free lunch stand yesterday, and served a plate of meat, vegetables and bread to all comers. By nightfall, Mr. Alexander estimated that he had fed 6,000 persons, using 2,000 pounds of meat, 1,500 loaves of bread and 1,000 pecks of potatoes.

Bilbo Faction Swamped in Mississippi Primary

Jackson, Miss., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Returns tonight from Tuesday's domestic primary in Mississippi showed the faction of Gov. Bilbo to have been thoroughly beaten in a record vote of more than 300,000, with Hugh White and Mike Conners, two independent candidates, swept into a run-off for governor. George T. Mitchell, candidate of Gov. Bilbo, was far in the rear. Not one candidate with the full stamp of Bilbo approval weathered the storm.

Trains Run on Sunday; Opposes Rate Increase

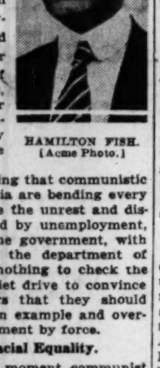
Nashville, Tenn, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Noah W. Cooper, Nashville attorney and chairman of the Tennessee Methodist Sabbath crusade commission, announced plans today to appear before the interstate commerce commission Monday with the contention that railroads have brought their plight upon themselves by violating the Sabbath. He will oppose the requested 15 per cent freight rate increase.

LITTLE DONE TO CURB ACTIVITIES OF COMMUNISTS

Deportation Is Virtually Only U. S. Threat.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—Special.]—Communist agitators and propagandists responsible for the recent outbreak in Chicago's colored district, as well as scores of other disturbances in various sections of the nation where unemployment has prepared the ground for the reception of subversive ideas, carry on their activities virtually unhampered by officials of the government.



HAMILTON FISH. [Acme Photo.]

Although realizing that communistic agents from Russia are bending every effort to capitalize the unrest and dissatisfaction caused by unemployment, departments of the government, with the exception of the department of labor, are doing nothing to check the spread of the soviet drive to convince American workers that they should follow the Russian example and overthrow the government by force.

Promise Racial Equality.

At the present moment communist agitators are capitalizing the grievances of the Negroes in both the north and south and promising class equality as well as better working conditions when the goal of an American soviet republic is realized. In the coal mining fields of West Virginia and Pennsylvania communists, most of them aliens, are spreading propaganda, urging the workers to unite, instilling a hatred in the minds of laborers against a capitalistic system and preparing the ground for mobilizing the workers into revolutionary industrial unions preparatory for the "proletarian revolution."

Wherever there are labor unions communist agents are attempting to control or overthrow them. Foreign agitators are attempting to sow unrest among the unemployed by telling them that they would be better off in a state like Russia, which has overthrown the capitalist class. Especial efforts are made to enroll the alien workers under their red standards. Attempts are made to foment strikes.

Also Work in Schools.

Subversive activities are carried on in the schools and colleges and constant effort is made to influence the youth of the nation to turn communistic. Radical literature is spread among school children. Communists are working to destroy the morale and patriotism of American armed forces, but thus far have not been successful.

These activities have been fully set forth in the report of the congressional committee, headed by Rep. Hamilton Fish [Rep., N. Y.], which conducted an inquiry. All this is well known to the state department, and this constitutes the major reason for this country's failure to recognize the Russian republic, yet officials of the state department are doing little more than stand on the side lines and watch the Red activities.

The department of justice also is aware of the activities of soviet agitators. Yet it does nothing unless a communist commits some crime which makes him amenable to federal laws. The department of justice takes the position that unless a new law is passed increasing its power or communists begin a big revolution to overthrow the government they can do nothing.

Deportation Its Weapon.

The department of labor is the only department of the government which is combating the communist propaganda drive. Its weapon is the deportation warrant and the only communists it deports are those who are caught in the big net spread to catch undesirable aliens unlawfully in this country. Its power, according to evidence given to congressional committees, is confined to the deportation of communists who are aliens and who preach or believe that the existing United States government should be overthrown by force.

Department of labor officials, interviewed today, stated that they have no authority to operate against communists who are citizens of this country. They gave no figures as to numbers of communists deported, but it is known that the number is not high.

Recent letters sent out by radical organizations advised aliens what to do in event they were arrested by officials of the department of ustice. A letter written by the international labor defense organization advised workers that they could not be arrested without warrants and warned them not to talk if arrested. It urged aliens facing deportation not to try to propagandize government officials at hearings and not to talk when asked about their party membership.

Depends on Long Drive.

Whether the communist propaganda drive will be dented depends largely upon the rigorousness of the department of labor drive against gangster and communist aliens and the steps taken by state and local governments. At present the native communist problem is being handled almost altogether by state and local laws.

While few government officials can be found who believe there is any real prospect that the soviet drive has even a remote chance of success, all agree that their activities are annoying and likely to foment industrial unrest leading to violence.

Under the communist organization the country is divided into 20 districts, each with an organizer at its head, and numerous ganizers and agitators travel from place to place. Several dozens workers' unions and groups are affiliated with the national group and organizations of "liberals" and "intellectuals," such as the Civil Liberties union and the Garland fund, have sympathized with and often actively supported the movement. Wherever unrest among workers is found, communist agitators are at work.

William Z. Foster, moving spirit of the communist party in this country, has publicly admitted that the depression was proving a valuable recruiting aid.

Detailed Study Made.

The hearings and final report of the Fish committee constitute the most detailed study ever made of communism in the United States.

The committee presented its report to congress last January. Three of the committee's five members joined Chairman Fish in the majority opinion. Representative John E. Nelson [Rep., Me.] returned a dissenting minority report.

Among the testimony of especial significance in the light of the recent Chicago riot is that having to do with communistic proselyting among the Negroes. This was summed up as follows in the committee's majority report:

"The communists for years have looked hopefully toward the Negro residents of the United States as an element where they might gain recruits for the communist party. Work among the Negroes is considered one of the major activities of the party.

"The task of the communists among the Negro workers is to bring about class consciousness, and to crystalize this in independent class political action against the capitalist class; to take every possible advantage of occurrences and conditions which will tend to develop race feeling with the view of utilizing racial antagonism. At every opportunity the attempt is made to stir up trouble between the white and Negro races."

For "Racial Equality."

"The Negroes are made to believe that the communists practice complete racial and social equality and that only when a communist government is set up in the United States will the Negroes obtain equality and freedom from exploitation by the 'white bosses,' and in order to attract and impress the Negro the communists make a point of encouraging mixed social functions where white women communists dance with Negro men and white men communist dance with Negro women. It is openly advocated that there must be complete social and racial equality between the whites and Negroes, even to the extent of intermarriage.

"Each year a number of American Negroes are sent to school in Russia, where they are indoctrinated by the communists and then appointed to membership in the Negro department of the national office."

Estimated at 500,000.

The majority report of the Fish committee estimated the number of communists and active sympathizers in the United States at between 500,000 and 600,000. Representative Nelson believed this figure exaggerated.

It was shown that the daily circulation of communist newspapers was 262,000 and that more than 80,000 votes were cast for communist candidates in various state elections in 1930. The Daily Worker, leading communist publication in the United States, had a total circulation of 30,000 the first of this year, 4,703 copies going to the Chicago district.

Chicago is the home of three communist publications, Vilnix, in Lithuanian, Rovnost Ludu, a Slovak paper, and Nytid, a Scandinavian weekly.

Recommendations Summarized.

1. Enlarging the authority of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice for the purpose of investigating and keeping in constant touch with the revolutionary propaganda and activities of the communists in the United States.

2. Strengthening immigration laws to prevent the admission of communists into the United States, and providing for immediate deportation of all alien communists.

3. Provide for additional appropriations to the bureau of immigration for vigorous handling of deportation cases.

4. Amend postoffice laws to declare nonmailable all newspapers, magazines, pamphlets, circulars, etc., published, written, or produced advocating revolutionary communism.

5. Enactment of federal law to prosecute communists or other persons, organizations, newspapers, etc., in the spreading of false rumors for the purpose of causing runs on banks.

KENTUCKY ARRESTS MAN AND WOMAN ON SYNDICALISM CHARGE

Harlan, Ky., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Arnold Johnson of New York, said to be a representative of the American Civil Liberties union, and Mrs. Jesse Wakefield of Chattanooga, Tenn., were arrested here today charged with criminal syndicalism in connection with labor troubles in the Harlan county coal field. They were placed in jail pending arraignment.

Their arrests followed a raid last night by sheriff's deputies on the home of Tess Huff, a former newspaper correspondent, where it was stated communistic literature belonging to Johnson was found. Huff was brought to jail but not held.

58 COMMUNIST STRIKERS PLACED UNDER ARREST

Paterson, N. J., Aug. 6.—(AP)—A picketing drive to influence dye shop workers to join the silk strike in effect here resulted in the arrest of 58 communist strikers today. They were charged with disorderly conduct. The picketers used profane and obscene language, police testified, sang communist songs and were blocking traffic. Fred Riedenknapp, alleged ringleader of the demonstration, was fined $50, but refused to pay it and was sent to jail. Of twelve who were fined $5 each, five paid and the others were also committed to jail.

Communist Editor Wants Mails Open to His Paper

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Benjamin Gitlow, president of Revolutionary Ace, the organ of the communist party of the United States published in New York City, today asked the Supreme court to set aside an order excluding the publication from the mails. The order, he declared, must be set aside as invalid under the first amendment to the constitution guaranteeing a free press.

RAIDERS ARREST TWO INVESTMENT HOUSE OFFICIALS

Assistant state's attorneys and police raided the office of the Regent Investment company, 37 West Van Buren street, yesterday and arrested two officials of the company. A client asserted that for a year he had been unable to get either the delivery of stock which he had ordered or the return of collateral which he had posted with the concern.

The men arrested, A. G. Nelson, 840 Addison street, vice president, and George H. Watson, 804 North Harvey avenue, Oak Park, secretary-treasurer of the concern, will be arraigned today on charges of larceny by bailee, it was stated by Assistant State's Attorneys L. P. Holt and H. S. Weinberg, attached to the blue sky division of the prosecutor's office. Roy W. Grove, 7823 Bennett avenue, president, and Carl I. Blonquist, a salesman for the concern, are being sought. The company's license to sell securities was revoked on Jan. 16.

The complainant is David Davidson, 6500 South Sacramento avenue, a plastering contractor. He charged that last August he gave Blonquist stocks worth $2,760 as collateral for purchases of other securities.

ALLIGATOR UNCLAIMED SO EXPRESSMEN TRY TO KEEP HIM HAPPY

Colorado Springs, Colo., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Puzzled employés of a railway express company pondered today the problem of keeping a live alligator happy and contented until they find the creature's owner, one G Holcomb. The alligator, which weighs forty-two pounds and is three and one-half feet long, was shipped here from Florida by a Chicago company, but thus far the express company has not been able to locate Holcomb.

Directions on the alligator's crate say: "Feed twice a week." So the employés plan rations of fish and fresh meat on that basis until Holcomb can be found.

NEW INFANTILE PARALYSIS CASE IN EVANSTON

A third case of infantile paralysis was discovered yesterday in Evanston when it was learned that Peter Van Schaack, 6 years old, 630 Michigan avenue, is under treatment for the disease at the Evanston hospital.

He is the son of Louis L. Van Schaack, secretary-treasurer of the Van Schaack Chemical works, a wholesale drug concern. Dr. John Pollard, Evanston health commissioner, said that he saw no danger of an epidemic of the disease.

Two other boys are in hospitals in the suburb with infantile paralysis. They are George Durgin, 10 years old, 513 Main street, at the Evanston hospital, and Edward Gail, 13 years old, 1520 North Wells street, Chicago, in St. Francis hospital, where he was placed ten days ago in the Drinker respirator, or "robot lung," when his respiratory muscles were affected by the disease.

AUTO KNOCKED ONTO SIDEWALK; KILLS TWO GIRLS

Charge First Driver Ran Past Stoplight.

Joseph Dykton, 18 years old, 114 East 119th street, sought as the driver of a car which struck another machine and catapulted it across a sidewalk, killing two girls and injuring a third, surrendered late last night at the Kensington police station. Dykton's automobile is alleged to have gone past a stop light.

The accident occurred at 111th and Wabash streets. Lillian Williams, 7 years old, 11715 Lowe avenue, and Mary Onyszczuk, 11 years old, 11721 Lowe avenue, were killed and Stella, 4 year old sister of Mary, was injured seriously.

Girls Returning from Pool.

The car which crushed the children was driven by Donald Brunette, 11732 Wentworth avenue, an employé of the Theuet & Sons Packard agency, who was taking it to the company's garage at 120 East 115th street for repairs. He charged that the other car failed to stop for a red traffic light, struck his, and drove him over the sidewalk.

The three girls had been swimming in the pool at Palmer park, and were going home, wearing their bathing suits under their dresses, when they were struck.

Companion Is Arrested.

The driver of the other car fled following the accident, abandoning his machine. The Kensington police last night arrested Adam Kuchta, 16 years old, 133 East 119th street, who said that he had been riding with Dykton when the accident occurred. He told the police that he had warned Dykton that they were approaching a through street, but that the latter was unable to stop in time to avoid a collision.

Three deaths and three others increased the Cook county motor toll since Jan. 1 to 674. The victims:

Mrs. Catherine Scelath, 78 years old, 3111 West 22d street, mother of Dr. Charles E. Scelath, medical superintendent of the Bridewell hospital. Fatally injured when run down at 22d street and Millard avenue. Edward Dewyre, 1535 South Euclid avenue, Berwyn, the driver, was held.

Frank Kinney, 62 years old, of the Salvation Army shelter at 509 North Clinton avenue. Killed when the truck in which he was riding was struck by an auto at Damen avenue and Ohio street. Four others were injured in the crash. Frank Ostapowicz, 1509 North Ashland avenue, the driver of the auto, admitted, police said, that he had been drinking, and was held.

Mrs. Elmer Ruvine, 23 years old, 3111 North Claremont avenue. Died early this morning at the Little Company of Mary hospital. She was struck on Aug. 3 by the automobile of Joseph Petit, 18 years old, 1613 West 87th street, as she alighted from a Western avenue street car at 79th street.

SEVEN KILLED IN ONE AUTO

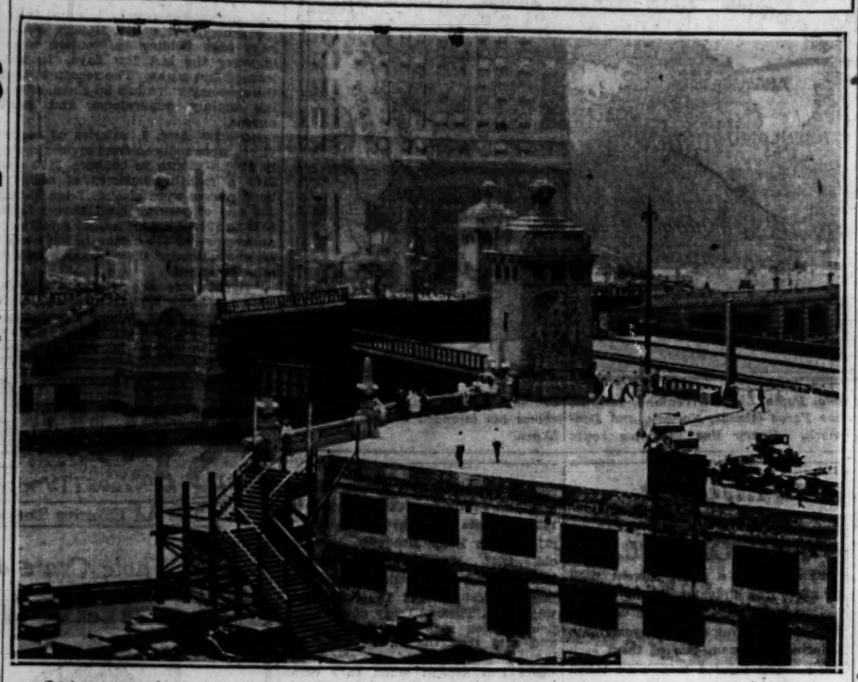
Vincennes, Ind., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Four children and three adults were killed this afternoon when the automobile in which they were all riding was struck by a Chicago and Eastern Illinois passenger train on a crossing at Brautt, three miles south of Vincennes.

The victims were Joseph Sanneman, 45 years old; his wife, Catherine, 42 years old; their son, Anthony, 6 years old; Mrs. Josephine Vieke, 42 years old; her daughter, Lucille Vieke, 8 years old, and the son and daughter of a neighbor of the Sannemans, Hilda Deem, 3 years old, and Stecle Deem, 6 years old.

Sanneman, a farmer residing near Vincennes, and his wife had invited Mrs. Vieke and the children to ride with them. They had decided, according to relatives, to pay a short visit to Mrs. Vieke's daughter, Mrs. John Smith, who lives near Brautt.

The crossing is considered dangerous, as its view is obstructed by a high bank and a cornfield.

TRAFFIC HALTED AS LINK BRIDGE STICKS



Owing to mechanical trouble, the Michigan avenue bridge was kept partly open, as shown in the picture, from 1:30 p. m. to 1:45 p. m. Meantime, hundreds of autos were lined up, and it was some time before the congestion of traffic ceased. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

IS DEATH IN CHAIR AN ACCIDENT? UP TO U. S. SUPREME COURT

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—(AP)—The United States Supreme court has been asked to decide whether death by electrocution for murder is accidental.

Harry H. Diamond at Gary, Ind., took out two life insurance policies, for $5,000 each, in the New York Life Insurance company. The policies contained a clause providing that the company would pay double the face value of each policy if the insured died by accident.

His wife, Nettie, who had been named as beneficiary died Feb. 15, 1923, and he was convicted of murdering her. He assigned the two policies to Joseph A. and Esther R. Diamond, and was electrocuted in the Indiana state prison at Michigan City, Ind., on Nov. 14, 1924.

The insurance company offered to pay the face of the two policies, but refused to pay double indemnity. Suit was brought against it.

The beneficiaries asserted that certain persons "against the will and over the protest and contrary to the intentions" of Diamond had "caused a current of electricity of sufficient intensity and strength to cause death," to be applied to his body."

The Seventh Circuit Court of Appeals sustained the trial court in refusing double indemnity.

Chic Sale Operated On; Condition "Satisfactory"

Santa Barbara, Cal., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Chic Sale, actor and humorist, was operated upon here today for a stomach disorder. Sale has been under treatment at a hospital for several weeks. His physician reported his condition after the operation as "satisfactory."

Poor, Takes Spy Job to Support Mother.

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—How a 19 year old girl had been hired by the U. S. prohibition forces to buy drinks in speakeasies was revealed today by the appearance in city court of Ruth Callahan on a charge of intoxication. It was explained that the girl, forced to support her mother, was paid $10 for evidence that led to a raid on a speakeasy.

The girl's case was called before Judge Patrick J. Keeler within the same hour that the court had convicted Arthur C. Peach, 40, of Hollis, N. Y., another dry agent, of both public intoxication and the use of profane language, and had fined him $5.

Auto Accident Trips Her.

Ruth, whose real name is being withheld, both by the mother and herself, was brought into court on a drunkenness charge following an automobile accident last night.

She had been accused of intoxication by officials of the Lafayette General hospital, to which institution she had been taken after the accident, so cuts on her head could be treated. She was arrested by Patrolman Fred Kelley of the West Delavan avenue station. Her companion, Ralph E. Dell, known as a "buy man" for the prohibition department, was not hurt.

Girl's Mother Testifies.

The girl's mother said she never would have consented to her daughter's entering such a business if she had known the girl would be allowed to drink to the point of intoxication. After giving her testimony in city court concerning the automobile accident, Ruth was sent to the city hospital for treatment. Her drunkenness charge will be heard later.

As a result of today's affair, Allen S. Bartlett, head of the prohibition office here, issued orders strictly forbidding the use of women in obtaining evidence. In the past he had held that the use of women was perfectly legal.

Insists Using Girls Is Legal.

"I did not know that the practice of using girls had been so general," Mr. Bartlett said in commenting upon the girl's case. "It has never been condoned except in one instance. Then it was impossible to get evidence in any other way."

EDISON PREDICTING HE'LL LIVE DECADE LONGER, AT LEAST

West Orange, N. J., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Thomas A. Edison, believed by his physicians to be well on the way to recovery from a serious illness, looked forward today to at least another decade of life.

The 84 year old inventor told Dr. Hubert S. Howe, his personal physician, his theory that if a person lived to be 72 he would live ten years longer and that if he passed that mark he would live another decade.

"My friend, Rockefeller," Dr. Howe quoted the inventor as saying, "seems to have passed these dangerous stages successfully. I feel if he can do it, I can."

Dr. Howe said Edison was expressing a belief in the hereafter, but "is stumped as to just what it is."

Bed Folds Up While They Sleep; $25,000 Suit Results

Mrs. Mary Powers and F. C. Brown, wealthy owners of an apartment building at 839 Sheridan road were named defendants in a $25,000 damage suit filed yesterday in the Superior court by Mrs. Mae Brontingham, a tenant. According to Attorney Murphy O. Tate, who represents Mrs. Brontingham, the folding bed in her apartment suddenly folded up at 5 o'clock in the morning and imprisoned her and her husband, Murray, for three hours. Mrs. Brontingham suffered a nervous breakdown, it is charged.

GOVERNOR CUTS SENTENCES OF 3 FOR VOTE FRAUD

Hrdlicka and Two Aids to Serve Less than Month.

Three former Chicago election officials, serving terms of one to five years each in Joliet penitentiary for ballot frauds, received commutations of sentence from Gov. Louis L. Emmerson yesterday, reducing their imprisonments to less than a month.

They entered prison on July 17. Under the terms of the commutation orden they will be released on Aug. 15.

Convicted of Vote Fraud.

In April, 1930, Kotek, Hrdlicka, and Kirsten were convicted by a jury of altering ballots in the preceding November judicial election, while serving in the 27th precinct of the 34th ward. Testimony given by Edward Grysh, chief prosecution witness, alleged that the trio took the ballots after the polls closed, and marked them for favored candidates.

Motions for new trials were subsequently overruled by Judge Walter P. Steffen, and the men were ordered to prison. Through their attorneys they appealed to the Illinois Supreme court. In December, 1930, that tribunal reversed the conviction. The state's attorney's office succeeded in winning a rehearing and the Supreme court early this year reversed itself, and sustained the judgment of the Criminal court sending the election officials to prison.

Board Grants Hearing.

Through Attorney John F. Cashen Jr., Hrdlicka, Kirsten, and Kotek continued their fight, the men meanwhile remaining on liberty. A hearing was granted by the board of pardons and parole and set for July 14.

At the hearing Cashen submitted a letter from Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom which expressed the opinion that Hrdlicka, Kotek, and Kirsten were not guilty of the charges on which they were convicted. The findings of the Supreme court were attacked by counsel.

Several days after the parole board hearing, the former election officials surrendered at Joliet. Soon afterward the board transmitted a recommendation for clemency to Gov. Emmerson, and it was on this recommendation that the commutations were granted.

2 Chicago Girls with 50 Cents Hunt Kin in Detroit

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Dorothy and Ruth Kalitch, 17 and 15 years old, respectively, of Chicago, arrived in Detroit today with 50 cents between them to surprise their brothers, Otto and Charles, who are working here. They appealed to police when directories failed to reveal their brothers' address and the women's division is caring for them while police search for the brothers.

SILAS STRAWN WARNS AGAINST DOLE; HOOVER TO GET RELIEF PLAN

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—(AP)—The United States chamber of commerce plans to lay before President Hoover by Sept. 1 a comprehensive plan for unemployment relief.

Silas Strawn, president of the chamber and Julius Barnes, chairman of the board, conferred for nearly an hour with the chief executive today, after which Strawn said a preliminary survey indicated there would be "an appreciable increase in unemployment next winter."

The chamber, he said, is making a complete survey through its local organizations. A committee has been appointed to study the results of the survey and make concrete recommendations on methods of relief.

"Unless we do something at once," Strawn said, "there will be more kinds of legislation for the dole than Germany and England ever heard of."

Strawn emphatically stressed his opposition to federal participation in unemployment relief and urged that states, counties, and municipalities take care of the unemployment problem.

"It would be deplorable," he added, "if this country ever reached the place where it voted a dole. When we do that, in my opinion we have hit the toboggan as a nation."

$5,000 IN RADIUM VANISHES; HUNT ON IN HOSPITAL

Fifteen cancer patients at the County hospital have been unable to have their treatments for six days because of the disappearance of a small lead tube which contained radium valued at $5,000. A search for the radium was being conducted last night. Two possible causes for its disappearance were advanced by Warden Michael Zimmer.

"Either the city's most heartless thief made away with it," the warden said, "or some nurse carelessly poured its contents down a drain, not knowing what it was. If the former case is true, that a thief made away with it, and he is inexperienced with its action, he is liable to just punishment for it is instantaneously destructive."

The radium has been missing since the afternoon of July 31 when a woman patient was treated with it.

PREMIER SEIZES FLOUR TO FEED SYDNEY JOBLESS

SYDNEY, Australia, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Seeking to provide the unemployed with bread during a dispute with master bakers, Premier Lang today authorized the seizure of a thousand tons of flour which was intended for shipment abroad. His action created great excitement.

The government recently signed a contract with one company for the sole supply of "dole bread" but the masters bakers refused to supply the company at the stipulated price.

Flour millers, yeast makers and delivery organizations supported the bakers and the unemployed were left without bread.

PACIFIC RACE NEXT

TOKIO, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Losers in an attempt to break the record for an airplane around the world, Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon Jr., American flyers, announced their intention today to compete with two other Americans to make the first nonstop flight across the Pacific. A prize of $25,000 was offered by a Japanese newspaper.

The other competitors are Don Moyle and C. A. Allen, California pilots, who arrived here by steamship.

The date has not been set for the flight of 4,500 miles over water from Japan to Seattle.

Amy Arrives in Tokio.

The Americans' landing at the Tachikawa airdrome near Tokio was eclipsed temporarily by the arrival, an hour before, of the daring English aviatrix, Amy Johnson. Miss Johnson flew from London to Tokio through Siberia, with several halts. Accompanied by C. S. Humphreys as mechanic, she beat by a few hours the record of eleven days for a light plane established in a flight from Berlin to Tokio by Seiji Yoshihara of Japan.

Japanese aviation bureau officials inspected the plane of Herndon and Pangborn and when a camera and a radio set were found in the plane, which was said to have passed over fortifications at Hakodate on Hokkaido island, the flyers were questioned for three hours. Their camera was taken from them for examination of plates which might contain photographs. The ministry of communications reported they asked police to keep a watch over the Americans.

SCOT BREAKS RECORD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 6.—While three separate flights to Japan have centered aviation interest in the east, J. A. Mollison, a young Scotch airman, arrived in England this afternoon with a new record from another direction. He landed on the pebbly beach at Pevensy Bay, Sussex, from Australia, two days better than the previous record established by C. W. A. Scott.

Mollison's time was officially given as eight days 25 minutes, compared to Scott's time of ten days, 23 hours.

Mollison was forced down by a fog and sheer weariness after crossing the English channel.

DO-X Lands at Natal.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NATAL, Brazil, Aug. 6.—The giant German seaplane, the DO-X, arrived here today for an overnight stop after a 600 mile flight from Bahia. The next scheduled stop on the trip to the United States is Para. The DO-X will remain here overnight.

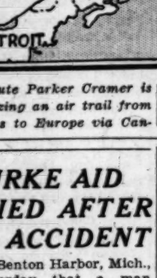
FRED BURKE AID IDENTIFIED AFTER AUTO ACCIDENT

Authorities at Benton Harbor, Mich., announced yesterday that a man known as Jerry Kral of Chicago, who was seriously injured in an automobile accident on Tuesday, has admitted he is Guy Winkler, long sought as a friend of Fred Burke, convicted killer, and as a bank robbery suspect in half a dozen cities.



GUS WINKLER.

There have also been stories that Winkler and Burke were among the gunmen who killed seven Moran gangsters in the St. Valentine's day massacre.

Kral, or Winkler, is in the Mercy hospital at Benton Harbor with a fractured skull. His condition is critical and Sheriff F. J. Cutler has been unable to get any information from him other than the admission of identity.

Winkler and a man known as John Moran were riding in a small car when it collided at Bridgeman, Mich., with another automobile. Moran and Winkler wrecked the car in fleeing to escape motorcycle policemen after their accident.

FIVE INJURED, 2 SERIOUSLY, IN FACTORY BLAST

Fumes from a paint solvent used to clean the finishing rooms of the Teletype corporation plant at 2640 Southport avenue exploded yesterday, injuring five men, two of them seriously. The injured men were taken to the Alexian Brothers hospital by fire department ambulances.

Those seriously hurt are Peter Heffner, 33 years old, 2540 Southport avenue, and Frank Lewicki, 28 years old, 1638 Augusta boulevard. The others injured are Peter Roskopp, 24 years old, 2647 Ward street; William Zminde, 2742 Monticello avenue, and Bernard Keller, 1248 Diversey parkway. Capt. Thomas Duffy of the Sheffield station made an investigation and said that the fumes from the lacquer solvent used to clean the floors had ignited when they came into contact with the flame of the enamel baking ovens which had not been turned off.

AUSTRALIAN DEBT OF 2¾ BILLION TO BE CONVERTED

CANBERRA, Australia, Aug. 6.—(AP)—An act providing for conversion of Australia's $2,750,000,000 internal debt will go into operation on Aug. 10, the government announced today.

Holders of securities are asked to exchange them for new securities and accept 4 per cent lower interest.

The conversion scheme, which is part of a rehabilitation plan agreed upon by the state premiers last June, is expected to save $32,500,000 a year.

Violates Law by Wearing Women's Garb; He's Fined

J. C. Schick, 21 years old, who gave his address as the Old Heidelburg café, 666 North State street, where he was arrested on July 21 wearing a complete feminine ensemble in keeping with his platinum blond wig, was fined $20 by Judge Leon Edelman in Chicago avenue court yesterday. Schick was charged with violating a city ordinance which forbids men attiring themselves in women's clothing.

COUNTY HOSPITAL NURSES RESENT SLASH OF SALARY

Nurses at the county hospital training school, 509 South Honore street, have been holding indignation meetings for the last few days, it was learned last night. The reason is that the economy wave has hit them, affecting mainly supervisors and head nurses.

Effective Aug. 1, salaries of supervisors were reduced from approximately $140 a month to between $100 and $105 a month. Salaries of resident head nurses were slashed from $95 to $80 and of visiting head nurses from $115 to $95. Student nurses receive on an average of $10 a month, but so far as was intimated their wages were not affected as yet.

"Supervisors are graduate nurses, with a college background, and each one is responsible for one floor," commented one nurse last night. "Now they are to be paid between $100 and $105 a month. The scrubwomen do not need a college education, receive $110 a month, and this is of the things that rolls us."

A little more than a month nurses at the training school tained another grievance. More thirty of them became ill from food or water that they had partat meals.

SPEEDS CLOSING OF OKLAHOMA'S 3,000 OIL WELLS

Murray Tells of $138,000 'Interests' Offered Him.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Aug. 6.—(AP)—The uniformed ambassadors of Gov. W. H. Murray's oil field shutdown edict worked today to smooth out complications in the Greater Seminole area while the executive himself told oil interests who "wanted to control the oil proration" offered him $138,000 for campaign funds if he'd run for President.

"I turned it down," he said. "I was offered $3,000 a month for six months and $15,000 for the next six months or until next spring.

"I would rather live in private life than have my hands tied."

Reports from Companies.

Meanwhile Lieut. Col. Cicero I. Murray, the governor's cousin, who is running the field end of the shutdown operations affecting about 3,000 oil wells, received reports at Seminole from oil companies on the number of wells they had shut down and the number of "water wells" they claim should be exempt from the edict.

Several days, it was believed, would be required to classify the wells that must be shut down. Wells pumping water and those making less than 25 barrels of oil a day will not be forced to close, Murray has indicated.

Already major companies in the Seminole area had curbed as many producers as they believed could not be injured and several, including Amerada, Champlin and Atlantic interests, were shut down.

Units of National Guardsmen stood ready at Seminole for enforcement of the edict.

Bridge Injunction Dissolved.

Word came today from Houston, Tex., that the temporary injunction given the Red River Bridge company several weeks ago, and recently suspended, was finally dissolved today by United States District Judge T. M. Kennerly.

The injunction, which prevented use of the Oklahoma-Texas free bridge between Durant, Okla., and Denison, Tex., was the one which brought action from Gov. Murray of Oklahoma, who resorted to martial law to keep the free bridge open.

The free bridge injunction actually removed, Gov. Murray heard that this would be pleasing to the toll bridge owners, and, suspecting a counter-move of some kind, he ordered the guard retained.

"We'll outscheme any scheme they have," he said.

11 Texas Operators Shut Wells.

Tyler, Tex., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Impetus was given a shut-down movement in east Texas today when 37 of 60 oil operators meeting here voted to voluntarily shut their wells.

The group asked for a massmeeting to be held in Tyler Aug. 14, at which time a general shut-down will be sought as a protest of low prices.

A sharp denunciation of east Texas operators offering oil to Oklahoma refiners, "thus nullifying the efforts of the governor of that state," was made by the group.

U. S. to Keep Hands Off.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Acting Secretary Dixon of the interior department today laid the entire responsibility for continued demoralization of the oil industry upon Texas.

In reply to a flood of telegrams from governors, senators, and other leaders for some federal action, Dixon issued a statement asserting the federal government's hands were tied; that it and all other great producing states had placed a curb on the oil output and only Texas' "failure to cooperate with the industry at large" now prevented the price of oil from again reaching a dollar a barrel.

As for Oklahoma, where Gov. Murray under martial law has closed down all flush wells, the interior executive said the federal government would not intervene. The department has an important interest in the Oklahoma oil situation through its supervision of Indian leases, but these are beyond the control of state authorities.

Observes Birthday

Mrs. Edith Kermit Roosevelt.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

New York, Aug. 6.—[Special.]—At historic Sagamore Hill, Oyster Bay, Mrs. Edith Roosevelt, widow of the twenty-sixth President of the United States, today quietly observed her seventieth birthday with her friends, children, and grandchildren. She did so in the big Victorian house to which she came as a bride in 1887, the house where the children of a distinguished family were born and reared, and the house which in 1901 became Theodore Roosevelt's summer White House.

There was no formal celebration, but through the day Mrs. Roosevelt, still the beloved first citizen of the Long Island community, busily received greetings and visits from her neighbors, her children, and the fifteen grandchildren.

Although taking but little part in social or public activities, Mrs. Roosevelt has since her husband's death, in 1919, traveled extensively on every continent and written two books.

POLICE KILLERS SENTENCED TO 145 YEARS EACH

Terms Believed Longest Ever Imposed Here.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Nicholas Floridia and Michael Trotta, murder, sentenced to 145 years each in the penitentiary; George Miske, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary by Judge Charles A. Williams.

J. Kubosa and N. Johnson, robbery [changed to larceny], sentenced to 1 to 10 years each in Pontiac reformatory; A. H. Fruendt, embezzlement, sentenced to 1 year in the Bridewell; V. Radke, robbery [changed to larceny], sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary; B. Magidon, robbery [changed to larceny], sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary; L. Skubish, burglary [changed to larceny], sentenced to 1 to 10 years in Pontiac reformatory by Judge Joseph B. David.

JUDGE WILLIAMS.

Judge Charles A. Williams in the Criminal court yesterday sentenced Michael Trotta, 27 years old, and Nicholas Florida, 25 years old, to the penitentiary for terms totaling 145 years each for the murder of Policeman Edward O'Donnell on June 8. The sentences were said to be the longest ever imposed in Cook county.

Policeman O'Donnell was slain while accompanying Miss Lillian Rice, cashier of the Paul Schulze Baking plant at 25 North Green street, to a nearby bank with $4,100.

Trotta and Floridia were chased up a blind alley and cornered by Frank Mason Rogers, a world war veteran, who ran out of the Elite hotel when he heard the shots that felled the policeman. He picked up O'Donnell's gun and covered the gunmen until Policeman Patrick Dorgan of the West Park force arrived and took them into custody.

Rogers was presented with a gold star for his bravery by Acting Police Commissioner Alcock last Wednesday.

Mrs. O'Donnell, who was responsible for the state not asking the death penalty, said that she was well satisfied with the punishment imposed by Judge Williams.

Floridia will be 75 years old and Trotta 73 years old before being eligible for parole.

The prosecution had demanded a sentence of 165 years for each of the killers, but the judge fixed the shorter terms after the defense attorneys, Harold Levy and Frank O'Donnell, protested that "nobody ever lived that long."

JUDGE ACTS ON 92 CASES; THINS JAIL POPULATION

Prisoners Parade Before David.

Handing down decisions almost as frequently as the clock in his courtroom ticked off minutes, Judge Joseph B. David yesterday continued his drive to relieve the crowded condition in the county jail. Defendants who had signified a willingness to plead guilty or waive jury trials passed in a steady stream before the bench, and before the day was over the court had acted on the cases of 92 prisoners.

JUDGE DAVID.

Fifty-five of the cases were continued, nine defendants were sent to the house of correction, eight cases were stricken off with leave to reinstate, six were nolle prossed, four defendants were adjudged not guilty, four were sentenced to the Pontiac reformatory, two to the penitentiary, two to the county jail, two were put on probation, and two cases were put off the call.

Youth First to Appear.

George A. Krug, 18 years old, the first defendant to face Judge David, pleaded guilty to a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a 15 year old girl. "How old did she tell you she was?" the judge asked. "Nineteen," Krug replied.

"A case of puppy love. Three months in the house of correction. Next case!"

Charles Jameson, 53 years old, accused of breaking into a box car and stealing loin pork valued at $11.49, appeared before the bench. "How long have you been waiting in jail for trial?" Judge David asked. "Twenty-two days," Jameson replied, and was sentenced to spend 48 days more in the house of correction. "Next case!"

A wallet containing $924 was placed on the bench and Walter Proska, 36 years old, was taken before the judge. Proska explained that he had been drinking with his brother-in-law, Bruno Streich, 3412 Burley avenue, and had left with Streich's wallet which contained $1,000, just $76 more than it contained as it lay before the court.

"You're lucky to get that much money back," the judge told Streich. "Discharged. Next case!"

Victor Radke, 20 years old, charged with three robberies, was sent to Joliet prison in short order, and thus Judge David continued until late in the afternoon. When he finally finished he mopped his forehead with a large handkerchief and remarked, "Maybe there's a little more room over in the county jail now."

Find Truck Hijacked by Gunmen; Take $5,000 Cargo

An automobile truck and trailer which had been stolen the night before, were found abandoned yesterday in Oak Park avenue, south of Lake street, in Oak Park. A load of 550 tires and 3,500 inner tubes, valued at $5,000, was missing. The truck had been hijacked in the Lincoln highway four miles east of Aurora by five men armed with shotguns. The drivers, George Mergeno, Andrew Fedor and James Monschiler, all of Akron, were taking the tires to Davenport, Ia.

Troops Guard Shores of Cuba Against Invasion of Rebels

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, Aug. 6.—The war and navy department late today issued drastic instructions to army and naval forces to keep strict vigilance in all ports, harbors and isolated beaches on the north coast of Cuba to prevent landing of revolutionary expeditions, arms and munitions from the United States. Such a move is feared, especially from New York.

Ricardo Herrera, secretary of the presidency, conferred by telephone today with the Cuban embassy at Washington regarding the arrest of former Senator Collazo, former Secretary of the Senate Aurelio Alvarez, former Secretary of War and Navy Iturralde and other prominent Cubans in Atlantic City on charges of organizing a revolutionary expedition to overthrow President Machado.

Asks for Information.

Secretary Herrera requested that the embassy forward full information on the case. He later declared that President Machado and the cabinet had been aware for the last two weeks of plans of the Cuban conspirators in New York, and were not surprised by news of their arrest. He added that the government here is fully prepared to handle any revolutionary outbreak.

Reports circulating in revolutionary circles today said that Mayor Walker of New York, a close friend of President Machado, and other high officials in the United States were of material assistance in bringing about the failure of the allegedly revolutionary expedition. They were said to have assisted the New York police in the arrest of the political exiles and former government officials who plotted the conspiracy in New York.

The government, realizing that the conspiracy has its main offices and branches in Havana, ordered the police to make a city wide search of homes today, under rights vested in the government under the present suspension of individual constitutional guarantees.

Search for Arms.

Secret service men, after several hours of searching, confiscated large quantities of arms, ammunition, pistols, bombs and explosives at the home of Dr. Vidal Morales Calvo, nephew of Lieut. Miguel Angel Calvo, chief of the expert bureau of the national police force, who, incidentally, directed the searchers today.

Many persons were arrested, including prominent citizens charged by Lieut. Calvo as active conspirators against the government. All prisoners were confined in the Cabanas fortress.

SPAIN'S REPUBLIC ACTS TO EXPEL RELIGIOUS ORDERS

MADRID, Aug. 6.—(AP)—The political parliamentary commission which is studying Spain's proposed new constitution decided tonight to present a bill to parliament calling for expulsion of religious orders from the country and the confiscation by the state of church wealth.

The decision of the constitutional commission followed upon agitation by the radical Socialist minority, which expects to present a measure to the assembly providing for the definite expulsion of religious groups which fled from Alicante during the burning of religious houses.

The commission also determined to ask that the Spanish republic be constitutionally defined as a "democratic republic." Catholic Spain tonight prepared to launch a vigorous campaign for the defeat of the proposal.

BRITISH PREMIER STIMSON'S GUEST AT SCOTCH LODGE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 6.—Settled on a farm in the fastness of the Scottish highlands, Secretary of State and Mrs. Stimson today welcomed Prime Minister MacDonald and his daughter, Ishbel, for a two day visit.

It was emphasized by Mr. MacDonald that the visit to the Stimson's retreat will be of purely a holiday character, that tramps over the moors and fishing in the streams running through the farm will occupy the party.

Despite denials that the Stimson-MacDonald party will indulge in affairs of state, London official circles recall that it was during such a holiday that the prime minister and Ambassador Dawes laid the foundations of the London naval conference, and it is believed that a few minutes here and there when the fish are not biting will be utilized by the ministers for a continuation of their discussions.

CHARGES MANY 'GAS' COMPANIES EVADE TAX LAW

Launch Move to Enforce License Act.

Officials of gasoline distributing companies in Cook county who have failed to comply with the new state law which requires a license and the posting of a $5,000 bond to guarantee payment of taxes will be prosecuted, Assistant State's Attorney John Holman announced yesterday.

JOHN HOLMAN.

"I am informed that most of the companies operating in the county are doing so without having complied with the law," Holman said. "We intend to call in the officials of these companies and ask them why. Before the new law was passed the state was defrauded out of thousands of dollars in taxes by concerns that simply changed their names whenever their taxes were due.

Provides Heavier Penalty.

"Under the new law the punishment for this offense has been raised from a $25 to $500 fine with six months' imprisonment to a fine not to exceed $5,000 or imprisonment in the penitentiary for not less than one year nor more than five years."

Several officials of companies which, it is charged, attempted to defraud the state of taxes were indicted last September and many of their cases are still pending, according to Holman. Other companies settled by making down payments of $21,000 with the provision that they were to make additional payments of $1,000 a month until their back taxes were paid up.

Violators Again, Charge.

"I understand that many of these same men are now operating without having obtained licenses and posting the $5,000 bonds," Holman said. "If that is the case, as we intend to find out immediately, they will be prosecuted."

Lawyer, 73, Sues Bride, 54; Charges She Trapped Him

Parke E. Simmons, 73 years old, a wealthy retired attorney of 1746 Hinman avenue, Evanston, has a bill pending in the Circuit court asking the annulment of his marriage last Jan. 12 to Mrs. Mary de Diemar Wright Simmons, 54 years old, widow of a New Haven, Conn., manufacturer. The bill, filed on July 30 and discovered yesterday, charges that Mrs. Simmons entrapped the lawyer into marriage by alleging he was to be the father of a child. Simmons charges her story of expectant motherhood was false.

Simmons, a graduate of Cornell university, began the practice of law here in 1883. He has one of the finest private libraries in the Chicago area and is known as a talented violinist. He is a member of the University, Arts, Caxton, South Shore and Shawnee Country clubs. Until his second marriage he had been a widower since 1915, when his first wife, Mrs. Jessie Williams Simmons, died.

Suggested Meeting, Is Charge.

Simmons in his suit alleges he met Mrs. Wright in the summer of 1930 at a bridge party given by his niece. During the party she is said to have suggested a meeting. Several days later, the bill states, they met by chance on an elevated train when the proposal was repeated. He accepted the offer, according to the bill, considering it nothing more than "a fugitive intimacy." The bill states they registered at a hotel as man and wife.

The bill lists seven meetings. In November, 1930, Simmons avers, he received a telephone call from Mrs. Wright during which she disguised her voice as that of a friend to declare she was to become a mother.

Following the call, the suit charges, she is said to have asked him to marry her "to remove her anxiety," promising to give Simmons a divorce when he wished one. The bill states he suggested a marriage contract, but she became impatient and they were married on Jan. 12.

Draw up Contract.

A contract was ultimately drawn by which each was to control their property rights and each agreed to furnish $100 a month for the child with a gradual increase as the child grew older. This contract was approved by a notary, the bill declares. No child was ever born, the bill asserts.

Simmons avers he suggested a visit for her to California. In the meantime he consulted with a lawyer, who, according to the bill, expressed the opinion Simmons had been trapped. The bill includes a letter of May 1 from Mrs. Simmons, in which she invited her husband to join her in California. She returned to Chicago and took a residence at 1061 Sheridan road, Evanston. They did not live together.

Two weeks later, according to the bill, Simmons received a letter from Attorney Thaddeus Merrill, representing Mrs. Simmons, which declared the contract to be void and stated Mrs. Simmons was proceeding to secure maintenance through the courts. The bill charges Mrs. Simmons had represented herself as a wealthy widow before the marriage.

Attorney Makes Denial.

Attorney A. H. Patek, in speaking for Mrs. Simmons, denied the allegations of the bill. He predicted it will be thrown out of court.

"Simmons was a gold digger," Patek declared. "We are prepared to offer proof of this as soon as we get into court. We will offer an anti-nuptial agreement through which he held his money intact and claimed a dower interest in her estate. The allegations of relations previous to marriage, her entrapment of him with a mythical promise of child and other allegations are absolutely false."

An answer to Simmons' bill is to be filed on the return of her chief counsel, Col. S. T. Lawton, to the city, Patek said.

ESTATE SETTLEMENT

at Brown's Lake, Burlington, Wis.,
65 Miles from CHICAGO—35 Miles from MILWAUKEE

Due to the decease of one of the principals, necessitating the immediate disposition of the estate, we are marketing fifty choice water front homesites at beautiful Hall's Point Villas, on Brown's Lake, Burlington, Wisconsin, just 65 miles from Chicago.

These tracts are entirely unlike any summer property ever offered in the Chicago region because they are all Water Front (not one single parcel of inside property), because they are all magnificently wooded with trees 60 to 80 feet high; because they are on an entirely sand bottom lake (second largest in Southern Wisconsin), and because they were originally priced as high as $5,000.

Hall's Point Villas at Brown's Lake, Wisconsin, needs no introduction to the sports lover. The famous golf courses, the big game fishing, the exceptional yachting and sailing, the safe, sand beach bathing, and its location just a mile and a half from one of Wisconsin's most beautiful towns, are well known features. Hall's Point Villas is a long peninsular type of land thrusting its slender, heavily wooded finger far into the placid waters of beautiful spring-fed Brown's Lake.

In normal times it would be utterly impossible to buy lake front tracts of this size on so exceptional a lake for less than $5,000. The coming years, with the growing scarcity of lake frontage, are almost sure to bring them to the $10,000 price mark. Today, to settle an estate, they can be bought on liberal terms for a fraction of their value.

CITY EMPLOYES GET PAY; PHONE CHECK RECEIVED

$4,759,709 Turned Over by Company.

Pay checks, some overdue more than a month, were mailed yesterday to members of the fire and police departments and other city employés as the result of the payment of $4,759,709 to the city by the Illinois Bell Telephone company.

F. O. Hale, president of the telephone company, handed the $4,759,709 check to City Controller Szymczak in the latter's office. The payment was the compensation due the city for use of its streets and alleys by telephone lines from Jan. 9, 1929, when the old telephone franchise expired, to March 31, 1931. The payment included $304,845 in interest which had accumulated during the negotiations for the new franchise, approved last month by the city council.

Phone Company Presents Bill.

With the check the telephone company presented a bill for $343,634 for telephone service to the city. The city stopped paying its phone bills at the same time that the company suspended payment of compensation. Vouchers for payment of the bill will be issued today.

Pay rolls of the police and fire departments were $1,020,000 for the first half of July and $880,000 for the second half of that month. The difference in the second payment was the result of the deduction of two days' pay for the salaries of all employés as part of Mayor Cermak's economy plan. Checks totaling $925,708 were mailed to other city employés.

After meeting the pay rolls and the telephone bills, the city will have $1,610,367 left. That, with $125,000 which lies in the city treasury, will be sufficient to meet pay rolls until Aug. 15, Controller Szymczak said.

Firemen, policemen and other municipal employés in Cicero were assured payment of a large portion of their salary arrears as the result of the purchase yesterday by the Western Electric company of $125,000 worth of the 1931 tax anticipation warrants of the town.

Hears Plea for Automatic Stokers on All Engines

Petitions to the interstate commerce commission to equip all locomotives in the country with mechanical stokers and power reverse gears were heard yesterday by Examiner John L. Rogers at the Hotel Sherman. The petitions were filed by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen. Other hearings will take place in Salt Lake City, Utah, and in San Francisco, Cal., before the final decision will be given in Washington, D. C.

Office Pajamas Are Latest

Applaud Models

Periodically, Paris attempts to put the weaker sex into the habiliaments of the stronger—to make trousers popular with women. Last night it looked as if such a vogue might be at hand, in the applause which greeted the display of "office pajamas" during a pajama revue at the College Inn. This time the designs were evolved right here in Chicago, though they lack none of the chic of the Rue de la Paix.

A military swagger distinguishes the most popular of the quartet of styles which spectators applauded at the promenade of the models. The blouse and pajamas proper are of deep black crepe Elizabeth. The fitted jacket, with its pinched in waist, narrow shoulders and tight long sleeves, is in scarlet with bright silver buttons. Another design is a conservative model in coffee brown, with the blouse and long, voluminous trousers in solid color, and the lapels long and smart, in satin.

FIND A HIGH TAX CAUSE IN CANAL SPENDING ORGY

Revenue Board Gets Data on 1928 Pay Rolls.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

In its study of the "whoopee" régime of the old sanitary district board—which reached its climax in November, 1928—Gov. Emmerson's revenue commission believes it has found one of the reasons why taxes are so high.

Members of the commission say that the property owners are still paying and will continue to pay for the waste of that period for years to come; because much of the expenditure was from bond funds. Not only were the expenditures unreasonably large, in the opinion of the commission, but the public must pay interest on those expenditures in the form of interest on the bonds.

Commission Collects Facts.

The commission is prepared to show at a public hearing later—the one called for last night was deferred in order to collect more data—that the drainage board at the heyday of its spending had three times as many employés as could work or did work for the district in useful service.

At one period the pay roll contained 4,781 names, while today there are more plants to be cared for and the number of employés is less than 1,520. The pay roll which was running more than $1,000,000 a month in the latter part of 1928, is now around $380,000, and apparently the average salary has been increased. Some of the members of the commission believe, however, that the present pay rolls could be trimmed with advantage to the taxpayers and without decreasing service in any noticeable degree.

A Comparison Is Made.

A recital of the number of pay rollers and the millions they took out of the treasury during the orgy of spending, in contrast with the present pay roll conditions, is looked upon by the governor's commission as proof of waste.

Such a comparison, from the figures of the commission, is presented below. The first table shows the average number of persons on the district pay roll, and the aggregate of salaries they drew, for the last four months of 1928. The second table shows the average number of employés and the salary total for each of the first six months of 1930 and 1931:

Sept. First half	3,667	$439,377
Sept. Second half	4,041	468,955
Oct. First half	4,336	505,058
Oct. Second half	4,758	544,173
Nov. First half	4,781	500,135
Nov. Second half	2,531	314,704
Dec. First half	2,251	282,953
Dec. Second half	2,061	254,950

	1930		1931
Month.	Employes.	Pay.	Employes.	Pay.
Jan.	1,270	$322,905	1,431	$352,106
Feb.	1,264	325,702	1,496	357,939
March	1,294	328,549	1,442	359,799
April	1,302	333,125	1,453	363,266
May	1,325	338,996	1,512	379,768
June	1,372	343,555	1,502	378,735

The pay roll padding of 1928 was in preparation for the election of that year. Soon after the result of that contest was known THE TRIBUNE started to ascertain how much the pay rolls had been increased.

Some of the pay rolls were not made available, even after a delayed consent to look at them had been given, and it was difficult to ascertain with accuracy the exact number of persons working and not working at public expense. The above figures are the first authorized by the trustees of the district of the free spending period.

The governor's commission, according to some of its members, is particularly interested in the increase in persons on the district pay roll since January of last year. They will ask the trustees to explain at the proposed public hearing.

The members of the commission say they do not understand why the district pay roll should be increasing when the city, school board, and two park boards are decreasing the numbers of their employés.

Privately the trustees of the district explain that new sewage disposal plants have been placed in operation and more man power is required to run them, but they will give their explanation in full to the governor's commission.

On the other hand, some information has been supplied the commission that a good percentage of employés in certain kinds of the district's operations do not appear to be doing much work.

Operate on 70% of Taxes.

So far as being hampered for the lack of money, the drainage board is not in the class of the other local governments. It is able to operate when less than 70 per cent of the taxes have been collected without straining its credit in borrowing. Some members of the governor's commission say that to them it seems that the drainage board is therefore empowered to levy too much taxes.

REPORT WALKER BANK ACCOUNTS SUBPŒNAED

New York, Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Reports in circulation today insisted that the bank and brokerage accounts of Mayor James J. Walker, now on his way to Europe aboard the liner Bremen, had been subpoenaed by Samuel Seabury, counsel to the Hofstadter legislative committee appointed to delve into evidence of graft and corruption in the city administration.

Mr. Seabury himself refused to either deny or affirm the rumors.

It was also reported that the bank accounts of John F. Curry, leader of Tammany hall had been subpœnaed, but Mr. Seabury told reporters that this was not true.

Mr. Seabury also took over police records which show that more than 75,000 were given permission to carry guns in the last two years.

Twelve large packing cases, filled with the documentary history of 83 injunctions sought to restrain the police from raiding political, social and gambling clubs while George V. McLaughlin and Joseph A. Warren were police commissioners, were delivered to Counsel Seabury during the day.

Besides looking for any political influence that may have been exerted to protect those clubs from police supervision, Mr. Seabury wants to know whether some of the clubs were used as meeting places for known gangsters and gunmen.

Enough information has been gathered to justify the beginning of public hearings, Mr. Seabury reported today.

He is going to hold back on public hearings, however, until after the Court of Appeals rules on the committee's right to force testimony by granting immunity in the test case of Dr. William F. Doyle, one time horse doctor, committed for contempt for refusing to reveal with whom he split his fees while practicing before the bureau of standards and appeals—a practice in which he is said to have amassed a fortune.

Mrs. A. Cudahy McCormick

says:

"I'm glad to be back to Manor House Coffee

—"for I like good coffee wherever I go. And to me there's no other coffee, in Europe or America, that's half so delicious as Manor House."

MRS. A. CUDAHY McCORMICK —whose name needs no "Who's Who" to tell its story of family position. She's the daughter of Edward A. Cudahy, first of the family of packers, and as well known in Paris and London as in her own Chicago. If only this photograph could show the glorious beauty of her coloring . . . smooth hair of that true Titian . . . eyes of a deep melting brown . . . of course it has inspired a painter's hand! In September, Mrs. McCormick goes "dude ranching" in Wyoming. Then off again for Europe, sorry to leave her favorite coffee, Manor House. "I like its smooth flavor. Just one sugar. No cream. Any coffee as good as Manor House shouldn't be diluted."

GERMANY OFFERS TO BUY COTTON OF FARM BOARD

White House Keeps Terms of Proposal Secret.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—A proposal to purchase a large portion of the farm board's 1,300,000 bales of stabilization cotton was received from the German government today.

FREDERIC M. SACKETT.

The White House, state department and farm board all refused to reveal the terms of the proposal, but dispatches from Germany stated that offer was to purchase 60,000 bales and to take an option on 200,000 additional bales.

The German answer to the representations made last week by Ambassador Frederic M. Sackett in Berlin was received by the state department and immediately transmitted to the farm board.

At the board, it was stated, that until Germany's proposition had been thoroughly considered, there would be nothing to say. It is presumed that the details of the proposal are those as announced from Berlin. That is, that the price would be based either on the average New York price during the next three months or on an average computed on the basis of the prices on the New York, Liverpool, and Bremen exchanges. Germany would be given three years in which to pay, with interest at 4½ per cent.

Though members of the board were silent, following the receipt of the offer, it had been made clear earlier in the day that the board was still in an acceptable frame of mind. At a press conference this noon, Chairman James C. Stone and Carl Williams, cotton members of the board, stated that recent protests by southern senators and the cotton trade against any such sale had not altered the board's willingness to sell to Germany on credit, provided it would assist Germany and increase the consumption of American farm commodities. Chairman Stone stated further that though no definite decision could be reached until an actual offer was under consideration, the board probably would not replace stocks sold abroad by purchases from this year's crop.

Asks Divorce at 70

Mrs. Johanna Fredrickson, 70 years old, 3336 North Harding avenue, charged yesterday in a bill for divorce filed in the Circuit court, that for ten years fear of her pet collie prevented her husband, Gustav, 58 years old, a carpenter, from inflicting violence on her.

Last Labor day the dog died, and since that time, Mrs. Fredrickson charged, her husband has beaten her on several occasions when he was under the influence of liquor. They were married Oct. 18, 1896.

At the request of Mrs. Fredrickson's attorney, Harry X. Cole, Judge Trude issued an injunction restraining Fredrickson from entering the home which he and his wife occupied jointly until yesterday.

CONTRACTOR KILLS HIMSELF.

GERMAN LEADERS REACH ITALY ON 'COURTESY VISIT'

Will Thank Il Duce for Quick Aid.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Aug. 6.—Continuing the present vogue of putting personality into European politics, Chancellor Bruening and Foreign Minister Curtius reached Italian soil through Brennero pass tonight, and tomorrow morning they will be in Rome for 36 hours of talk and food with Premier Mussolini and Foreign Minister Grandi.

What they will talk about no one knows exactly, but the inspired press here tonight suggests that they will give most of their attention to the subject of disarmament, debts, and reparations, and that the Germans will thank Mussolini for his ready acceptance of the Hoover moratorium proposal, which puts Italy out of pocket $11,000,000.

With regard to food and entertainment, there will be plenty, and Mussoline will be chief host to the Germans, departing somewhat from his usual custom.

Will Also See Pope.

After the official visit to Mussolini the Germans will visit another independent state and its ruler—Vatican City and Pope Pius. This will be done with distinct and separate formality. Visiting the rulers of Italy and the pope at the same time was formerly awkward, but has been made more simple by the Lateran pact.

Chancellor Bruening and Dr. Curtius will call on the pontiff Saturday afternoon and will likely have an extended audience. On Saturday night Herr von Bergen, German ambassador to the Quirinal, will give a dinner in honor of Chancellor Bruening, at which several distinguished Vatican prelates will be present. The Germans will leave Rome on Saturday night immediately after this dinner, and will not arrive back in Berlin until after the results of the plebiscite on dissolving the Prussian diet are known.

STEEL HELMETS PROTEST

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 6.—President von Hindenburg was called in as arbitrator tonight after the Nationalistic Steel Helmet organization had protested against the dictatorial measures through which the Prussian government is trying to prevent the success of Sunday's plebiscite for the dissolution of the Prussian diet.

The protest followed a denunciation of the plebiscite, which the Prussian government sent to all Prussian papers, regardless of party allegiance. The papers were ordered to publish the statement in big type on the front page. The Steel Helmet declared no paper should be compelled to publish any statement which it disapproves, without the opportunity of expressing that disapproval in the same issue. The organization appealed to President von Hindenburg to end the government's tactics.

Gen. Ludendorff's Nationalist organ was suppressed yesterday and five communist papers were suppressed today. Scores of newspapers announced that they expected to be silenced within the next few days, but continued the protest against the Prussian denunciation of the plebiscite.

Money Pours into Banks.

Meanwhile, the banking situation has improved sensationally. So much money is pouring into the banks that some of them are reducing their private rates from 15 to 12 per cent.

The Reichsbank announced today that it paid out $250,000 yesterday but took in $21,500,000. Today, with huge withdrawals for weekly wages, the Reichsbank still received four times more money than it paid out. Foreign currency also continues to flow into the Reichsbank, indicating that the public has regained its faith in its own currency.

Owing to this favorable situation the government today issued a decree permitting savings banks to resume payments up to $72 monthly. Bigger payments can be made in special cases and in emergency.

Place Ban on Imports.

Instructions for dealing with foreign currencies issued by the government tonight spread anxiety. Business circles see in them an indication that the government, despite its denials, is preparing a systematic national control of imports, paralyzing all private business initiative.

The decree divides imports into two groups, those of "vital necessity" and those of a "secondary necessity."

Foreign currency may be purchased at the Reichsbank without limit for the first group. For the second group expenditures are limited to $2,300. What goods belong in the two groups was not stated.

U. S. to Renew Loan.

New York, Aug. 6.—[Special.]—The Federal Reserve Bank of New York announced today that, in association with the other Federal Reserve banks, it has agreed to renew its participation in the $100,000,000 credit to the Reichsbank, extended on June 25 by the Bank for International Settlements, the Bank of England, the Bank of France and the Federal Reserve banks. No statement was made as to the period for which the credit had been renewed.

CHARGE AGAINST WOMAN DISMISSED.

A charge of disorderly conduct against Mrs. Florence Day, 28 years old, of Elmwood Park, was dismissed yesterday when Mrs. Frances Rozakles, 2119 Harlem avenue, who had accused Mrs. Day of keeping company with her husband, Ambrose Rozakles, did not appear in court.

Smoke a FRESH cigarette

Make the same test with any other brand. You'll find there's no comparison.

Savor the mild, cool smoke of Camels, see how satisfying and throat-friendly it is, how rich in smoke-pleasure.

Contrast its aromatic, dust-free goodness with the brash taste and bite-and-burn of harsh, parched-dry tobaccos. Then you'll see what freshness really means!

Camels are blended of fine Turkish and mild Domestic tobaccos so choice they need no parching to make them palatable—made fine they are kept fine by the Humidor Pack.

This scientific germ-safe wrapping—not plain ordinary Cellophane, but moisture-proof Cellophane which costs nearly twice as much—seals in all the natural aroma and freshness, seals it so tightly that wet weather cannot make Camels damp, nor drought weather make them dry.

As a favor to your throat switch to Camels for just one day, then leave them—if you can.

Tune in CAMEL QUARTER HOUR featuring Morton Downey and Tony Wons—Columbia Broadcasting System—every night except Sunday

Don't remove the moisture-proof Cellophane from your package of Camels after you open it. The Humidor Pack is protection against perfume and powder odors, dust and germs. It delivers fresh Camels and keeps them right until the last one has been smoked

ADMITS HE WAS GUNMEN TARGET AMONG CHILDREN

Police Find Man Fired On in Crowded Street.

New York, Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Admission that he was the intended victim the gunmen who mowed down five victims in East 107th street last week, and that as the bullets flew he had picked up a little girl and held her in his arms, was made today by Anthony Trobino, 21 year old robbery suspect, according to police.

The revelation, the first break in the case since its beginning a week ago Tuesday night, trickled through the close guard of police secrecy. One detective declared outright that Trobino had used the child as a shield.

A high official of the police department, however, while agreeing that Trobino probably was the man for whom the shots were intended, cast doubt on the detective's statement that Trobino had sought to shield himself behind the child.

May Have Protected Girl.

"Give the devil his due," said this official. "He ran into the doorway and pulled a child in after him—may-be as much to save the child as protect himself."

The detective's version of the statement wrung from Trobino in eight hours of questioning was definite on the point of Trobino's shielding himself behind the child.

According to the detective, Trobino was in an automobile before the Helping Social club in East 107th street, when the gunmen drove up and opened fire. Trobino, the detective reports, admitted he jumped from his car and threw himself on the sidewalk.

"I stayed there for a long time and the shooting continued," the detective says Trobino declared, "and then I crawled along until I got in front of it. I took hold of a little girl and held her in front of me. She wasn't hit."

Through disclosures made by Trobino, police believe they have established that the shooting was an outburst of gang warfare for control of narcotic traffic in Harlem and the Bronx.

Testify Against Diamond.

Meanwhile, in federal court nineteen government witnesses testified against Jack [Legs] Diamond and Paul Quattrochi today, and eighteen of them gave what was considered damaging evidence. When Judge Hopkins adjourned court at 6 p. m. the conspiracy count against the defendants appeared to have been established to the satisfaction of the prosecution and evidence on the count that charges them with possessing and operating a still was being heard.

Six witnesses testified yesterday that they bought and sold or distributed "Diamond's" beer and that Quattrochi took orders and solicited trade for the gang's whisky and beer.

Married on a bet, Mrs. Lynda Gessler, 19 years old, 4012 Cullom avenue, a night club dancer known professionally as Lynda Castanada, told Circuit Judge Daniel P. Trude yesterday that she discovered after her marriage that her husband was a beer runner.

Judge Trude ordered the husband, Howard Gessler, 6221 South Major avenue, to pay $10 a week temporary alimony pending hearing of his wife's suit for separate maintenance. She charged that Gessler locked her out of their home.

She married him, she asserted, after an acquaintance of a week, begun when a party of companions pointed Gessler out to her in a night club and bet her that she could not marry him.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and bouncy and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach, you have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

Ask for those good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. Adv. Carter Medicine Company.

WINE BRICK AND JUICE SALE TEST CASE IS PLANNED

Concentrate Trade's Fate May Be Decided.

New York, Aug. 6.—[Special.]—A test case of the legality of the whole industry that provides householders with grape products capable of conversion into alcoholically satisfactory wine is expected to follow upon the raid yesterday on the "wine brick" shop in 5th avenue, prohibition agents declared today.

MRS. WILLEBRANDT. [A. P. Photo.]

The Vine-Glo corporation, with offices in the Empire State building, understood to be a subsidiary of the California Fruit Industries, Inc., coöperative grape growing organization, for which Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt is acting as general counsel, is said to have been picked as a running mate for the brick sellers to make a local case, testing both liquid and solid concentrates as an evasion of the prohibition law.

Charles W. Shenk, manager of the wine brick shop conducted by Vino Sano, Inc., at 277 5th avenue, and two of his salesmen, John Skiff and Charles McDonald, were held in bail by United States Commissioner Francis A. O'Neill today for a further hearing on Saturday morning.

The raid on the shop of Vino Sano, Inc., the purveyors of the wine bricks which, dissolved in a gallon of water, are said to produce a wine of 13 per cent alcoholic content, was based on the alleged slip of salesmen in instructing prohibition agents as to the methods of making the wine. Apparently, both bricks and the barreled grape juice in which the Vine-Glo firm deals are legal enough so long as the purchaser is not told what to do to make anything from them stronger than grape juice. The liquid grape concentrate concerns employ salesman and service men to follow up sales and do the things to the purchased juice in the buyer's home to make it misbehave.

The fruit industries people insist that their business is conducted with absolute legality and that they have been cleared in the federal courts of California. No test case has been made in the east, however, and it is understood that the legality of the grape juice sales will be tested along with that of the bricks in a case embracing both methods of evading the prohibition law.

REPORT DRY BUREAU ASKS FOR 500 MORE PROHIBITION AGENTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—An official request for reënforcements for the dry army has been transmitted to the budget bureau, according to information current in administration circles today. It is understood the prohibition bureau has asked for 500 additional men to be placed on the government pay roll the first of next July. These new agents would be in addition to the 500 extra dry sleuths added to the prohibition pay roll the first of last month.

Surprise was occasioned in government circles by the action of the prohibition unit in asking for additional funds at a time when all departments of the government have been warned to cut expenditures in the interest of economy. It was recalled in this connection that only yesterday it became known that the Hoover economy axe has slashed 1,500 marines from the marine corps, bringing that branch of the national defense service down to 16,000, with a possibility it may be reduced to 15,000.

2 YOUTHS DROWN, 6 ARE RESCUED IN BOAT ACCIDENTS

A leaky motorboat sank suddenly in the lake 300 yards off North avenue last night and plunged two youths into the water. One swam to shore. The other, Lawrence Reich, 19 years old, of 3457 North Hoyne avenue, was drowned. His body was recovered.

Reich and Nicholas Novak, also 19, of 3938 North Western avenue, a special delivery messenger for the post-office, were motoring in the boat of a friend. Without warning the boat commenced to take in water, Novak later told Lincoln park police. They had no chance to make shore.

Edward Herbst, 32 years old, 4819 North Karlov avenue, was drowned and five others were rescued when a speedboat in which they were riding capsized in Fox lake early yesterday. Herbst, with his brother, Clarence, went for a ride in a speedboat owned by W. D. Gruenberg, 1015 North Kimball avenue, with three others whose names were not learned and the boat upset when the propeller fouled in weeds.

NELSON EXPLAINS FEE TO LAWYERS IN BANK CLOSING

3½% of Collections for Depositors, He Says.

Attorneys' fees amounting to $7,000 have been paid to the law firm of Epstein & Arvey, representing Edgar F. Olson, receiver for the Novak & Steiskal State bank, 1817 South Loomis avenue, which closed Feb. 20, State Auditor Oscar Nelson announced yesterday.

"This fee, which has been criticized, is less than 3½ per cent of the $232,289 collected by the receiver for the benefit of the depositors up to July 31," Mr. Nelson stated. "It represents the total amount they will receive."

It was stated that the sum paid the lawyers was done so with the approval of a depositors' committee, which includes John Kozel, Henry Roesner, Veronica Vrba, Charles A. Zundalek, Helen Kwasnieski and Joseph F. Ferrari.

Auditor Nelson yesterday filed suits in the Circuit court to dissolve the corporate existence of the Glencoe State bank, closed June 22, and of the Noel State bank, closed June 18. The capital stock of the Glencoe State bank was listed at $125,000, total liabilities $937,986 and the amount due depositors as $692,505. The capital stock of the Noel State bank was listed as $1,000,000, the total liabilities as $6,525,429 and the amount due depositors as $4,197,468.

The controller of currency at Washington has ordered the receivers of closed national banks to collect from stockholders under their liability obligations, it was announced yesterday. Stockholders' liability amounts to 100 per cent on their holdings. Where payments are not forthcoming the receivers have been instructed to file suits.

Depositors' Committee to Meet.

The united depositors' committee, organized last week, will hold a meeting at 6:30 this evening at the Den Norske café, 2741 West North avenue, to discuss its plans. The organization is composed of executives of depositors' committees of banks which have closed recently. Its purpose is to exchange ideas regarding action to be taken, to keep a check on receivers and to study methods of improving the state's banking laws so as to prevent a repetition of recent occurrences.

The Rev. H. Truman Gordon is chairman; W. W. Harell, vice chairman; Joseph A. Weber, secretary, and Thomas D. Bell, treasurer.

FOUND DEAD IN HIS ROOM.

The body of J. W. Smith, 60 years old, was found yesterday in his room at 57 West Ohio street, where he had lived for three years. Apparently death occurred several days ago from natural causes.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

WHO GETS THE BIG MONEY IN WASHINGTON?

The killing of a policeman in Washington leads to evidence that some of the police were engaged in a liquor racket to control the trade in the soldiers' home and deliver that market to a favored bootleg ring. The residents of Washington are not self-governing. They get their administration from the national government, and congress is their common council. One fact of prohibition crime and corruption is notorious. The trade in liquor is carried on by conspiracy. It requires official participation. It needs protection and it gets protection by dividing profits. It cannot operate except by paying officials who could stop the trade.

Individual policemen cannot give the immunity the trade requires. They would be caught by their superiors, and the higher police command would be caught by the political authorities. The division of profits is made with persons of sufficient authority to guarantee safety.

Washington, controlled by federal authority, has been made notorious by the freedom of its bootleggers and by the common violation of the Volstead law. The home of the law is its greatest scandal. Both the making and the enforcement of the act are in the federal government.

The division of profits is made somewhere toward the top of authority in the district. Who is getting the big money?

GOOD OLD OKLAHOMA.

Gov. Alfalfa Bill Murray of Oklahoma is the current illustration of the admirable scheme of the American Union in its pure form and undiluted essence. Most admirable of governments, it can be let out at the waist or taken up in the legs, stretched at the collar or lengthened in the coat-tails. It can pull off a button and not drop the garment. The system is flexible and adjustable. It permits the letting off of steam with a minimum of disturbance. If a section of the populace goes loco the fling can be restricted to the least numbers and the bill for broken glass presented to the fewest citizens.

With forty-eight states competent to conduct any experiment in government or have any adventure in political action the country can get a great deal of restless eccentricity and stunting out of its system. Alfalfa has the Oklahoma troops out to stop the production of oil and the rest of the country can watch a little bit of Moscow work out under Comrade Bill, the people's commissar. If the courts do not stop him Oklahoma will discover the consequences, whatever they turn out to be, and pay the bill or take the profit.

When Tennessee passed the monkey law it was discovered to the astonishment of a great many people who had been convinced to the contrary that there was no provision in the United States constitution which was intended to prevent a state legislature or a state administration from making a fool of itself. This wise and worthy foresight was sufficient testimony to the genius of the framers.

It is desirable that the states should retain full liberty in this direction. It is much better than the tendency revealed in California, for instance, which permits a state to make a fool of the nation. California is much too smart for the good of everybody else, getting one federal subsidy for its own water supply and another for anti-Volstead beverages.

QUOTA IMMIGRATION FOR CHINA AND JAPAN.

A resolution of the immigration committee of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States favors the admission of Asiatics upon the quota basis. The important nationalities involved are of course the Chinese and Japanese. The proposal to bring them under quota provisions has been resisted by west coast organizations and newspapers on grounds that have not seemed very substantial to us, although we have supported exclusion in principle and have no patience with the sentimentalists of the eastern states who are willing to sacrifice the American workers of the Pacific states. But to place the Chinese and Japanese on a quota basis would open the gates to only a negligible number of these nationalities, while it would remove the discrimination which offends them. The chairman of the committee of the chamber put the issue straightly in saying that "the question is a practical one covering the relations between nations. The quota for Japan would be approximately 185 a year and for China 105. Regulation can be continued under the quota limit without offending the sensibilities of friendly countries."

The American people are going to live a long time with their neighbors across the Pacific and it should be the national policy to do everything consistent with the nation's vital interests to foster good feeling and active coöperation with them for our mutual advantage. Racial prejudices and local jealousies and frictions should not be permitted to defeat such a policy. The proper protection of American standards and social character should be adequately maintained, but this can be accomplished with justice and tact. It is not consistent with our claim to civilization to discriminate against nationalities which represent centuries of civilization and are as entitled to our respect for their culture as any of the peoples of Europe. The quota system of limitation can protect our legitimate social and economic interests as efficiently with respect to China and Japan as the European countries and should be extended to include them.

THE HIGH COST OF CHICAGO'S PARKS.

The parks of Chicago, Mr. Hewitt has found, cost four times as much in 1929 as they did in 1915, and their cost meanwhile has risen. That is one reason, and an important one, for the complaint of the taxpayers against present tax bills. The city's park bill in 1929 was no less than $20,846,000, and it is steadily rising.

There are three principal park boards in Chicago and a number of minor ones. This fact in itself has frequently drawn criticism on the ground that there are needless duplications in overhead costs, and there is little doubt that a considerable saving could be achieved if the duplications were removed. At the same time it must be conceded that the division of the park authority has frequently worked out to advantage. We have seldom had bad management in all three park systems at once, as might have happened had all the parks been under a single control.

One important reason for the unwarranted increase in park costs has been the excessive use of the borrowing power. The park boards have financed most of their improvements through bond issues, although the annual bill for capital improvements as distinguished from maintenance charges has been fairly constant. The parks are paid for twice, once through amortization and once through interest charges. If the addition of new facilities were not a continuing feature of park management this practice would have greater justification. As it is, this generation pays for the parks provided by the previous generation and the next generation pays for our additions and both generations pay twice as much as necessary because of the addition of interest charges. It is difficult to avoid the conclusion that it would have been better to have financed many of the additions to the park system through current taxes rather than bonds even though the growth in the park areas might have been retarded for a time. In any event, the approaching completion of the outer drive would seem a proper time to consider a revision of our methods of park financing.

Another and less excusable cause of heavy taxation for parks is the item of maintenance. Mr. Hewitt's figures suggest strongly that Chicago's maintenance costs are out of line with those in other cities. The statistics may not be strictly comparable, but a good deal of explaining is required when Chicago pays $2.30 per inhabitant to maintain its parks while Cleveland pays 84 cents and New York $1.08. It would seem that the cost of maintaining our parks is as far out of line with similar expenditures in other cities as is the cost of maintaining our schools.

There is, of course, a certain absurdity in the fact that Chicago is spending huge sums on its parks when it is unable to pay its teachers. That absurdity arises from the fact that each of our local governments has its tax rate authorized by the legislature at Springfield, usually through the aid of high-pressure lobbying. The legislature does not see the forest for the trees. It examines each project with more or less thoroughness, but pays little attention to the sum of the demands placed upon the taxpayers and still less to providing a proper balance between the costs of the various governmental services. There is thus no authority either in the state or the city government to provide what might be called a balanced ration to the local governments. In the present emergency altogether too much is being spent for dessert while money is lacking for meat and potatoes.

If Chicago had a board of estimate and apportionment, as New York and other cities have, it might be possible to apportion the taxpayers' dollar among the various governments more intelligently and to better effect than at present. Suggestions along this line merit the serious attention of the governor's committee. Meanwhile it is plain that the park boards must make sharp reductions in their expenditures.

Editorial of the Day

CAPONE STILL AT LARGE.

[New York Times.]

A federal jury must decide in September whether, and for how long, the notorious Capone is to go to prison for contempt of the statutes requiring honest income tax returns. Perhaps a jury will also try him on the present or amended charges growing out of violations of the prohibition law, although Judge Wilkerson at Chicago will not decide until Sept. 8 whether he will permit the "public enemy" to change his plea to these indictments from guilty to not guilty. So the public, long outraged by the immunity which has surrounded its worst public enemy, must wait longer before it can know whether the doors of prison are finally to close upon him.

This new delay has grown out of the proper statement by Judge Wilkerson that in passing sentence on pleas of guilty he was not bound by any agreement between the official prosecutor and the defense attorneys. While it is customary, in cases involving lesser offenses, for the court to approve the terms of such "bargain agreements," it is not compulsory. There had been open criticism of the negotiation after which Capone and his attorney expected a light prison sentence. Not until he spoke in open court was it known whether Judge Wilkerson would make the thing effective. Some will feel that he should have made his position known before. Others will hold that a certain two or three year sentence for the gang leader from the court justified the bargain, and was better than to run the risk of acquittal by a cowering or corrupted jury. Not until the trial has been held and the verdict rendered in this and on the changed issue in the prohibition cases will the community know whether it has gained or lost by Judge Wilkerson's warning in open court.

It is idle to abuse the government for seeking an agreement of guilt in minor cases and letting charges of murder and mayhem go by. Jurisdiction over these is with the state, and experience has shown how difficult if not impossible it is to convict gunmen before local juries. The attitude of both the government and the federal court has a certain justification. The public can only hope that the Capone beans have not been spilled once more.

THE SPLEEN.

A. B. C. asks for an article on the spleen. She writes from a highly malarial region and she says her spleen is much enlarged, has been so for some time, and gives her much trouble. Her interest is not in the spleen itself but in her diseased spleen, and in the disease behind it.

The spleen is a blood filter, the largest and most important in the body. As the blood flows into this filter it is in need of purifying in some particulars. When it flows out it has been cleansed. The filter may suffer from the ingredients it picks out of the blood stream.

When a wounded finger becomes infected inflammation of the glands under the arm is expected. What has happened is that the gland there has filtered out bacteria that were sweeping towards the blood stream, and these have caused the swelling or the abscess in the axilla. In typhoid fever, pneumonia, and other acute infections the spleen swells because it is doing its best to remove bacteria, or bacterial poisons, from the blood stream.

But A. B. C. writes that she has a chronic enlargement, and she writes from a malarial region. There are several causes of chronic enlargement of the spleen, but the one that A. B. C. probably is interested in is chronic malaria. She should have her physician exclude leucemia and some other causes of enlarged spleen. The next step is to cure the chronic malaria. As this is done the spleen will return to normal size and will behave in general.

The cure of chronic malaria with enlarged spleen is not quickly accomplished. A lick-and-a-promise treatment will not do much good. A. B. C. should live in a screened house and she should stay at home after nightfall. For one thing, she is a malaria spreader and her neighbors should regard her somewhat as they do a case of smallpox. For another, if infected mosquitoes get at her they feed malaria to her as fast as treatment cures that she previously had. She is wasting at the spigot while she saves at the bung—unpleasantly and expensively.

She needs to get plenty of nutritious food. Good nourishment is necessary for cure. She needs to live hygienically. Tonics she needs and they must be long continued. She needs quinine specifics, properly given. This means long continued as well as properly dosed. These specifics are quinine and plasmochin compound.

WEIGHT WOULD VARY.

S. K. writes:

1. What should a boy 16 years old and 5 feet 11½ inches weigh?
2. How can he increase his weight?

REPLY.

1. On an average boys of this age and height weigh about 153. The weight should vary with type of build, length of trunk, and size of bones.
2. The natural tendency is for weight to increase for about sixteen more years. After that the absolutely normal person neither gains nor loses weight for about forty years.

Most 16 year old boys desiring more weight will do well to let nature take its course. If there be reason to fatten up, the best method is to practice poise and calm; to go to bed at ten and sleep nine hours; never to let anything interfere with rest or regularity; eat a bowl of sugared rice or crackers and milk at bedtime.

PRICKLY HEAT.

M. C. F. H. writes: What is prickly heat? Causes? Is there any cure? If so, what is it?

REPLY.

Prickly heat is a mild skin eruption to which the skin of babies is quite subject. The tougher skin of the adult usually escapes it.

It is caused by perspiration. When the skin is covered for hours with garments soaked with perspiration prickly heat is very likely to develop.

The best methods of prevention are those directed against profuse sweating. They are: Keeping cool, fanning, removing sweat soaked garments promptly, bathing, the use of creams, the free use of good dusting powders.

FIRE HAZARD.

Chicago, July 23.—[Friend of the People.]—I own some property on the east side of Sheffield avenue, also on the west side of Wilton avenue between Addison street and Waveland avenue, and I notice that at least twenty to twenty-five cars are parked under the elevated structure each day and on days when the Cubs are playing one cannot start to count them. What would be the outcome if a fire should start on either street? How would the fire department get to the burning buildings? Loss of life and property might be avoided if looked into in time and regulated accordingly. D. M.

Officers on post and Ford crews were notified to give this matter special attention, particularly where such parking would create a fire hazard. Conditions are not bad except on days when there are ball games at Wrigley field, and on these occasions parking of autos undoubtedly creates a fire hazard within a radius of one-half mile of said park. The management of the elevated railroad have given permission to some residents on Wilton avenue to park their cars in rear of their premises. Where they object to parking I have detailed an officer with one of their employés to make arrests, they having agreed to sign complaints on trespassing.

AUTO LOAN.

Chicago, July 21.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Can an auto loan company take your car away from a place when the owner is not in the car? 2. Can they demand full payment of the loan when you are twelve days behind in payments? 3. Can they refuse my payment for one month? J. H.

1. Yes, if you have signed papers giving them that right.
2. Yes.
3. It does not seem probable that they would refuse a tender of the full amount. This question is not clear.

HOUSE INSPECTION.

Chicago, July 21.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. We are building a basement to our house and would like to know if we could call the house inspector without paying him. 2. Where can we call him? J. B.

1. No.
2. Building commissioner in the City hall.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the chips fall where they may.

THIS conductor always has maintained that sports hold a deserving and deserved place in American life. Whenever we get out of our own precincts, where more, or perhaps new, readers exist, we like to exploit that idea. Now comes opportunity with the text taken from the summer school for college and high school athletic coaches in session at Northwestern university.

Here are enrolled nearly 300 men whose profession is the teaching of competitive and intramural sports. These men are not students so far as learning the rudiments are concerned. They are there to seek advanced ideas, to learn the latest developments in their profession, to better understand the administrative functions of their positions—all these ideas, developments, and business technique coming from experienced sources.

Now here's our point. These chaps, to whom you entrust your sons in their physical development, are not satisfied with what they already know. They take their occupation seriously. They wish to excel. Now that argues for more than mere physical training. It's a good backlog for the sportsmanship which produces useful citizenship. If you don't think coaches have moral influence, be it sound or be it unsound, ask any college "letter" man whether his coach or his professors had the greater effect on his college course. The contact of the coach is the more direct and the more intimate.

That's why we wish in the educational field athletic coaches of sound principles and high ethical standards. Northwestern is not the only school of this kind. There are many throughout the country. That coaches take part of their vacation time to attend these schools proves, in part, our original contention.

COMMUNING WITH NATURE.

Harve: We were sitting on the beach, the girl friend and I. Just sitting and looking at good old Lake Michigan, our hands locked across our knees. It was swell out there, Harve. All dark blue and quiet, with a great big red moon poking its head over the horizon. And every so often the Lindbergh light would swing out over the water to cut a silver path across the blue and make you think of a mail plane roaring through the night.

And me, I was drinking it in with both eyes. After sitting in front of a typewriter all day long, pounding out copy, to be sitting on a sandy beach with a girl, a moon, a big dark sky, and a breeze—gosh, Harve. It makes you think that perhaps Chicago isn't such a bad place to be in after all.

I wondered what the girl friend was thinking about. "You know," I said, "some folks make a lot of fun of this sort of thing"—and I swept in the moon and sky and lake with my arm—"but I guess it's just because they don't know how to look at it. It's great, isn't it?"

SENTIMENT VERSUS HUNGER.

The beach was full of golden glints,
The waves were bounding high,
The sun was mad because he had
To leave the rainbow sky.
We sculptured ladies on the beach
Out of the moistened sand
With sea gull feathers for their hair,
With stones for eyeballs. And
As dusk came on we settled down
With faces turned aloft
To watch the stars and moon come out—
The sand was warm and soft,
As warm as toast a minute old,
As soft as fuzzy cotton,
The kind of warmth and softness
That cannot be forgotten.
"What ho," we cried, our hearts a-thrill
With all the peace serene,
"How can the mundane thoughts of earth Disturb this noble scene?"
Just then a coffee zephyr, mixed
With whiffs of steaming pottage,
Blew over us. . . . We all jumped up
And scampered to the cottage.

LONDON.—The Daily Mail's Copenhagen correspondent learns from Berlin that as a result of the fall of Warsaw Germany is preparing to remove 90,000 men daily from the eastern to the western front. About 1,000,000 will be thus transferred within a few weeks, he said.

LONDON.—With the exception of the great entrenched camp of Novo Georgievsk the Russians have evacuated the whole line of the Vistula river. Ivangorod, the southern fortress, located at the confluence of the Vistula and the Vieprz rivers, has fallen into the hands of the Austro-German army, and the Russians are now making their way to the Brest-Litovsk line.

CHICAGO.—Declaring that Gov. Dunne, "at the critical moment" had given the honor system its "biggest setback" and holding the governor responsible in part for the failure to get a confession from "Chicken Joe" Campbell, whom he charges with the murder of his wife, Edmund M. Allen telegraphed Gov. Dunne his resignation as warden of the Joliet penitentiary. The governor accepted the resignation and wired Deputy Warden Lawrence Ryan to take charge of the prison.

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—The battle to the death between organized labor and the billion dollar steel combine will begin in earnest when the last turn is made in the mills on Aug. 10. The formal order calling out all union men in the employ of the big corporation was issued this evening by President Shaffer, and from now on the contest will be waged with all the resources each side can command. Members of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers and officers of the United States Steel corporation are agreed on one point—that the fight must continue until one side admits absolute defeat.

CHICAGO.—Flagrant breaking of the law forbidding the sale of impure ice for domestic purposes has been discovered in Chicago by the State Pure Food commission. Commissioner Alfred R. Jones telegraphed to all his inspectors throughout the state to report at once in Chicago and begin the most thorough investigation ever attempted by them. Not an ice plant will escape examination, and all found guilty of selling impure ice for domestic use will be prosecuted. The frequency of typhoid fever is due to this breaking of the law.

CHICAGO.—Judge William Cecil Price, almost the last of the great figures of the confederacy, died at the house of his daughter, Mrs. William M. Newberry, 6542 Washington avenue. Judge Price was born in Russell county, Va., on April 1, 1815.

LONDON.—Several papers here refuse to abandon the hope of seeing a financial crisis in the United States. The Pall Mall Gazette, which in its financial jeremiads has prophesied ruin for every market in the world, contends that the economic condition of the United States is essentially unsound.

MORRISTOWN, N. J.—Orville L. Grant, brother of Gen. Grant, died at Morris Plains. He was born at the Grant family homestead in Claremont county, Ohio, and was some seven or eight years his brother's junior. Like Ulysses and Simpson, he removed to Galena, Ill., and became a member of the firm of Grant & Sons, the now historic firm of leather tanners. Simpson died, after which Orville virtually controlled the business, and Ulysses was employed by him at the time of the breaking out of the war. In 1864 Orville went to Chicago, where he formed a business partnership with James E. McLean under the name of Grant & McLean, with their place of business on Lake street. This was destroyed in the great fire of 1871.

THE NORTHWEST LIGHTS.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—In re light seen in northwest sky. It is not an airplane. It appears in set spots, flashes on and off like an incandescent light and same color, but very large in comparison. First seen high and straight up, winks out, appears to the east and further down on an invisible arc, flashes on for half a minute, next seen still further down, further east. In this position it comes on and off a few times and then stops. Each of the four times I've seen it it has appeared over the same tree and has been observed in relation to it. E. P.

THE STATE AS SLAVE OWNER.

Manistee, Mich., July 28.—Your editorial, "The State as Slave Owner," was indeed dramatic. You infer, however, that the terrible Russians are far worse than we could be in this country. Possibly you are unaware that our secretary of labor, Mr. Doak, has ordered deported one Venezuelan, one Chinese student, and one Italian to their native countries in spite of the fact that he has been reliably informed that all three are in grave danger of being put to death in their respective countries for no other reason than their radicalism.

The United States then is putting itself in the position of being an accomplice in the murder of these men unless a court decision, now pending, can save them. Russia has in two of the instances at least offered to welcome these aliens to her shores, but Secretary Doak must be convinced that living in Russia is worse than being murdered in any other country. The men themselves feel differently, but, of course, they may be prejudiced.

Of the five countries mentioned here which appears to be civilized? Why not correct some of the inanities of our own government and leave Russia for the Russians themselves to improve?

FOR A SHORTER SCHOOL YEAR.

Chicago, July 28.—I would strongly urge that due to the torrid weather, which prevails during the latter part of June and the early part of September, that the schools close two weeks earlier and open two weeks later. This would save thousands of dollars.

WIDE TROUSERS.

Galena, Ill., July 15.—In today's Voice of the People is a wail signed "Subscriber." He kicks about trouser legs being too wide and the cuffs trip him coming down the stairs. Why does he not get his trousers made according to his own specifications, either with or without cuffs, or else not put them on until he reaches the bottom of the stairway? JOHN MCHUGH.

GRAIN FARM EARNINGS.

Kankakee, Ill., Aug. 4.—Last Saturday's TRIBUNE announced that cash wheat on the Chicago Board of Trade reached the price of 48 cents per bushel, the lowest ever recorded in the history of Chicago. The lowest cash wheat price before that was established on Jan. 29, 1895, when the price was 48½ cents. This is only a difference of ½ of a cent, but if you consult the index figure of Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale you will discover that the purchasing power of a dollar was about twice as great in 1895 as it is today. I do not have Prof. Fisher's table available, but would like to hear from some one who has.

Yesterday's TRIBUNE states that the wheat market is under government control, so put this down as one of the major achievements of the Hoover administration on behalf of the American farmer. At this price, Mr. Hoover's Kansas farmer constituents, after shipping their wheat to the world market at Liverpool, would be minus their wheat and on top of that would owe somebody a goodly price for the transportation of the wheat from the Kansas farm to the world market at Liverpool.

Nor does the wheat price tell the whole story of the farmer's degradation. All small grains are just as hopeless. Farmers hereabouts, after paying the cost of threshing and hauling, are getting six cents for their oats, and the yield was hit by the hot weather. FRANK J. BURNS.

THE PRIMROSE LANE.

Elgin, Ill., Aug. 3.—It is not always the novice who causes crashes. The first class driver is the man to be aware of. He will attempt most any feat with his car, getting by with it sometimes, but not always. Both men and women with swell cars in every instance feel that they should have right of way, forcing other drivers to take a back seat. I talk from experience. The roads are free for all, and their uses should not be abused. Another menace to auto driving are lovers. I have seen them kiss and neck directly in front of my car, their car going fifteen and twenty miles an hour, holding up traffic for a number of miles. They jeopardize others' lives. A heavy penalty should be assessed them when caught in the act. R. E. CHRISTMAN.

A DELAYED APPRECIATION.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—Joseph T. Ryerson has a truck driver that needs serious consideration. On July 11, at 9:30 at Halsted near Madison, an elderly blind man got lost in the middle of the street among several cars. The driver on the Ryerson truck did not think it too much work to get off his truck and kindly lead this blind man to the sidewalk.

W. RANDOLPH ST. MARKETS FRESH FARM PRODUCTS

Half Mile of Trucks Daily Line Up Side by Side.

BY PAUL POTTER.

The sultry midnight air engulfs Chicago.

Families move their bedding to open porches, to fire escapes, or to basements to slumber restlessly as best they can.

Through the night the streets are awakened at intervals by the rumble of a farmer's truck, chugging its way from some remote cabbage and onion plantation with a load of edibles newly plucked from their soilbed.

For almost as long as Chicagoans can remember, this quiet midnight procession has rivalled the milkmen in their lonely route. Years ago, horses brought to Randolph street the creaking wagons laden with potatoes, sweet corn, carrots and turnips, through the night. But now the gasoline motor does it.

Get Belated Snooze.

Arriving at the first crack of the morning, sleepy eyed farmers or their sons pull up along the street car tracks west of Des Plaines street on Randolph. The engines stop, and with a yawn, the drivers curl up in all manner of positions for a snooze.

From four in the morning until six or seven, this gathering of sturdy, ruddy cheeked Dutch, German, Swede or Danish menfolk seek to rest with the others in Chicago's sultriness.

They are awakened gradually by the hamburger and coffee vendors and their pushcarts, bringing a "dime breakfast" to men who all the afternoon before had been harvesting truck crops on hands and knees, washing and bunching or sacking their garden wares for the ride to market.

Then come buyers, in huckster wagons, in dilapidated or great van sized trucks.

Bartering Begins.

"How much the kebbige?" one asks.

"Thirty-five and you take 'em away," drawls the grower, with a yawn. Forgotten is the drudgery of weeks of tilling, sowing, and weeding to produce these home grown foods. Only now, is the thought that the buyer will pass him up for another grower along the eight blocks of market at a nickel cheaper.

The morning's bargaining continues, as the market master makes his rounds, collecting fees. Frugal housewives, baskets in hand, come shopping for their family needs. Old men and bald headed boys with coaster wagons make their purchases for some landlady's boarding house.

Before long, the first farmers, jingling some coin in their jeans, pull out for the rumbling home journey and a load of stuff for the next day. Perhaps they have quality vegetables, an 1 had a readier sale than others, or perhaps they are content to be hammered down by a purchaser who would take his load. At any rate, it is not until as late as 10 o'clock at night that the bartering ceases.

Street Cleared by Evening.

In the afternoon, the trucks and wagons must be pulled off the street or back to the curb, so the street sweepers can brush away the debris that a perishable food market always accumulates.

Ahead of the sweepers have come a small roving band of poor or unemployed men and women, seeking to salvage a partly damaged cabbage or lettuce head, a cucumber or partly overripe tomato or apple. An occasional piece of good luck discloses for one of these scavengers a retrievable ear of sweet corn.

But in the main one can find on more than casual viewing of this seemingly disorganized market place, the movement from farms of several counties to thousands of city homes, several million dollars' worth of fresh and home grown products in the range of a growing season.

Truckloads of merchandise cover a half mile or so of the street, lined side by side along each track of the surface car line. Growers from Cook, Kankakee, Will, Du Page, Lake, and Kildeer counties are the principal sources of supply.

First Market in 1847.

The market itself carries traditions of almost a century. It was created by city ordinance in 1847, and was the scene of the famous Haymarket riots of 1886. A part of it was once known as Haymarket square, so named from the bartering for hay among Cook county farmers of a generation that is gone.

In recent years city ordinance has extended and widened the market, until it now extends from Des Plaines street to Union park. During the days when the old South Water market, now Wacker drive, was outgrowing its limited waterfront quarters the market was entered by many commission firms and stores, and they still line the walks with their wares.

In the newer section of the market, westward, has sprung up many stores where dairy and poultry products, and even cut flowers and potted plants, are sold at wholesale and retail.

Seek Law's Protection.

Randolph street's market has once again invaded the news columns in recent weeks with the efforts of farmers to secure enforcement of the city ordinance which makes it unlawful for others than actual growers to sell foodstuffs. Mayor Cermak and City Controller M. S. Szymczak have taken a hand in aiding the Cook County Truck Gardeners' association in effecting improvements in bringing fresh farm products into Chicago.

Among the veteran traders of this street has risen the facetious reference to this move, that although trading conditions could be improved, there is no longer need of reforming what was once an old levee district for the farmers and their hired hands of an earlier day. But the seasoned frequenter of the market still is able to find a wetting for his whistle, whether from native grapes or from beer that the "flats" still find ready sales for among the early morning traders.

Sour Cream a Delicate Dish and It Does Not Cost Much

For those who like it, sour cream is a delicate dish which most persons consider too expensive; but there is no great cost for milk which has soured quickly to a heavy curd, called clabber or bonnyclabber. It may be eaten with or without sugar.

JEANE SAMPLES A FRESH FIG

Peach Canning Time Here: Other Ways to Use Fruit

Now that peaches are coming on the market in such large quantities and are selling at such reasonable prices, 7 or 8 pounds for a quarter, the housewife needs to know interesting ways of using them. Canning should be done now if you plan to use them that way. It is nice to know ways to enjoy peaches in the fresh state. Try the following recipes. The disagreeable task of peeling peaches can be much simplified by dipping the peaches in boiling water and then blanching in cold water just as is done with tomatoes.

Peach Compote.

2 cups milk.
¾ cup sugar.
⅛ teaspoon salt.
Whites of 2 eggs.
6 peaches.
3 tablespoons water.
6 tablespoons sugar.

Scald the milk and add rice gradually. Stir this constantly. As the mixture thickens add sugar and salt. Cook in double boiler until rice is soft, then add the stiffly beaten whites of eggs. Turn into a slight buttered shallow pan and keep in a warm place until ready to serve. Remove the skin and pits from the peaches. Cut the peaches in half and place in pan with water and sugar. Cover and cook slowly until the fruit is soft. Cut the rice in squares, put a peach on the top of each square and pour peach sauce over all.

Peach Sauce.

Combine ½ tablespoon corn starch with 1 tablespoon water. Add to the sirup remaining in the sauce pan. Bring to the boiling point and boil 2 minutes. Pour slowly, stirring constantly over the beaten yolks.

Stuffed Pear Salad.

Select small ripe pears. Peel and core them, marinate in lemon juice, diluted with a little ice water, while you prepare the stuffing. The stuffing consist of 2 cakes of cream cheese, mashed with a fork, and mixed with ¼ cup chopped nut meats. I suggest pecans or walnuts. Moisten the cheese with a few drops of French dressing and if you choose you may omit the nut meats. Season with salt and paprika to taste. Fill each half pear with the cheese. Top each with a rosette of cream cheese made with a pastry tube. Garnish with a fleck of red or green pepper.

Vegetable coloring, preferably the green, may be applied to the lemon juice and makes a very colorful and unusual salad. Serve the pears in crisp lettuce nests with a tart French dressing.

Stuffed peaches can be made in the same way.

Peach Mousse.

2 cups whipping cream.
½ cup confectioners sugar.
1½ teaspoons vanilla.
⅛ teaspoon salt.
2 cups peach purée.
2 eggs whites.

Whip cream, add sugar, vanilla. Pour in the purée. Add stiffly beaten egg whites to which salt has been added.

Stewed Peaches.

2 cups water.

Soak peaches for several hours in the water. Then cook slowly until tender. Add the sugar about 5 minutes before removing from the fire.

Peach Cobbler.

3 tablespoons melted butter
½ to 2-3 cup sugar, depending upon sourness of peaches.
¼ teaspoon vanilla.

Mix peaches, butter, and sugar. Turn into buttered baking pan. Cover with a rich biscuit dough or plain pie crust rolled a little thicker than for ordinary pie. Bake in a hot oven 450 degrees F. until the crust is well baked 20 to 25 minutes. Serve with vanilla or hard sauce. Yield: Six servings.

CHICAGO PRICES FOR FRESH FOOD HIT RECORD LOW

Peaches and Other Fruits Here in Abundance.

BY EVERETT SWINGLE.

Wholesalers trying to balance large fresh food shipments with record low prices are having to mind their "p's" and "q's" this summer to realize even meager profits. But it might be said their attention was focused largely on the former, because there are peaches, pears, peas, peppers, plums, prunes, and potatoes to deal in, although there are no fresh commodities in the "q" section of the alphabetical list.

Retailers are finding conditions similar, as cheap produce permits many stores to offer feature sales at such low prices that diligent shopping fills the market basket without putting severe dents in pocketbooks.

Home grown vegetables are selling at prices that could hardly be lower, reports W. H. Hall, fruit and vegetable expert of the Chicago bureau of the United States department of agriculture. Beans, cabbage, carrots, cucumbers, green onions—all of them are about as cheap as they can be sold and at that with little or no profit to the grower.

Peaches May Be Cheaper.

Some stores this week offered peaches in bushel containers for as low as $1.39. That is less than three cents a pound. But peaches probably will be even cheaper than that when Illinois begins heavy shipments around Aug. 20, according to Mr. Hall.

One saving feature will redeem the Chicago peach market from becoming glutted, market men say. Growers in Arkansas overestimated the production of their orchards, with the result that the Illinois peach growers will have less competition than had been expected for their bumper crop.

Blueberries are now available in stores at a slight reduction from prices that have prevailed. The wild and the cultivated are worth retail about 40 to 45 cents a quart.

Home Grown Cherry Tomatoes.

Two of the new edibles on the market this week are fresh figs from California and the home grown cherry tomatoes. The figs are labeled "pre-cooled" and are somewhat of a luxury, selling for around five cents each. The tiny tomatoes, used mainly for decorating salads, are tasty, although small, and sell for the same price per pound, about 15 cents, as do the normal sized and lighter colored tomatoes, many of which now are from Tennessee.

Chicago housewives who may have planned to can, or include in preserves, large quantities of tomatoes this summer, are not going to find a heavy home grown crop. Hot weather has caused widespread "blossom wilt" which means that the plants will not bear heavily because of too sudden temperature and moisture changes.

50 Pound Sacks of Pickles.

Pickle time has nearly arrived. Wholesalers this week were selling 50 pound sacks of pickles of about "dill" size for $1 and $1.25. Retailers were parceling them out at around 3½ to 4 cents a pound.

It's almost wine ——. Well, possibly it would be better to say "juice grape" time on the team tracks at 27th and Ashland avenue. Last year shippers found it difficult to dispose of the record receipts of juice grapes that arrived in Chicago. The average price last September probably was around 90 cents a "lug." The lug is a box sold intact and containing about 30 pounds. Some of these packages went for 75 cents for the 30 pounds of potential juice, while other sales were around $1 and $1.25.

This year the quality may be a little better and there probably will be no trouble with a surplus. The price, however, is expected to be about the same range as prevailed last year. The juice grapes will start in heavily around Sept. 1 and will be received here in large quantities throughout the month.

Housewives Get Cookery Ideas at Bridge Parties

BY FLORA MARTIN.

As a rule conversation waxes high during informal bridge games. In between deals the merits of moratorium are discussed; operations are lived over again; the probable outcome of the Lindberghs' latest flight is forecast, and the latest novels are panned or boosted.

If the bridge foursome happens to be composed entirely of housewives playing hookey from their domestic duties, sooner or later the conversation will drift to the art of cookery. Culinary hints and the newest tricks for simplifying the day's work will be bandied across the table. Unsuspecting husbands would no doubt get the surprise of their lives if they knew that ideas for many of the new and tasty dishes were collected at afternoon bridge meetings.

Variety in Cup Cakes.

At a recent bridge party cup cakes were discussed. The light refreshments, consisting of cup cakes served with a cold fruit juice concoction, brought the subject up. Part of the homemade cup cakes were covered with shredded cocoanut, some with chopped nuts, others with plain butter cream frosting, and the remainder with chocolate and maple icings. Atop a few of the small cakes trimmed with plain butter cream frosting were miniature colorful poinsettias.

To the casual observer this varied assortment of miniature cakes spelled hard labor. But here's first hand information from the hostess, who, knowing her guests were curious as to how she managed the job, imparted her secret to them. According to her, turning out a batch of cup cakes was play. That is, if you went about it systematically.

No Pans to Wash.

She used her regular cake recipe for the batter. By inserting individual paper containers in the hollows of the muffin tins and pouring her batter into them, she kept the pans practically clean. As a result she escaped with the additional labor of scouring and scrubbing the tins after the cakes were turned out.

To keep the kitchen cool while the cup cakes were baking she hung a wet sheet over a clothes line stretched across the kitchen and turned an electric fan on it.

All of the materials for icing the cakes were grouped in handy spots on the kitchen table. The butter cream frosting, which formed the base for the various icings, was made first.

As she frosted part of the cakes with the plain butter cream icing, she dipped one into a saucer of chopped nuts and the next one into a dish of shredded cocoanut. The butter cream frosting also acted as the background for the miniature poinsettias. Shredded cocoanut dipped in green vegetable coloring served as the stem, candied red cherries which, when cut, curled naturally, made the leaflike bracts and, a drop of yellow frosting formed the center.

The remainder of the butter cream frosting was divided into two parts. Cocoa and cream were added to one-half and maple flavoring to the other part. The rest of the cakes were decked out with chocolate and maple icings.

SIMMER BUT DO NOT BOIL MEATS, EXPERTS ADVISE

Meat should be simmered and not boiled and housewives waste their time when roasting meat to stand over a hot stove and baste or drop the drippings over the roast, according to findings of meat specialists of 26 state agricultural colleges, coöperating with the United States department of agriculture.

New information of this type is expected to be divulged in a meeting next week, when representatives of the colleges and of the department of agriculture meet in Chicago for a four day conference on the various investigations conducted at the institutions in the last year. The sessions will be held next Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday at the Congress hotel.

All phases of the subject of meat is under consideration. This work was started seven years ago after an introduction by the National Live Stock and Meat board. Studies of the breeding, feeding, slaughtering methods, processing of the meat, color and texture of meat and on down the line to the cooking of the finished product are included.

Thousands of pieces of meat have been cooked in experimental ovens as one portion of the experiments. In addition to investigation by home economics departments of the colleges, additional results have been obtained by the home economics bureau which the government conducts at Washington, D. C.

HERE ARE SOME CULINARY IDEAS OF THE CHINESE

Diplomat Dispenses with Oriental Chef.

By GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—It was nearly luncheon time today when I arrived at the home of Mme. Y. C. Mei, wife of the head of the Chinese educational mission and the lady, so the Chinese legation declared, who knows most about the culinary customs of the Chinese diplomats here in Washington.

Did I find her preparing a big dish of chop suey?

Of course not.

Indeed, when I mentioned chop suey Mme. Mai smiled, just as you would smile, only more politely, if some Chinese tourists were to ask you if all our senators wore red and white striped pants, the way Uncle Sam does.

I don't believe Mme. Mei ever eats chop suey unless she is invited to dine at some American's home. As a matter of fact the typical Chinese menu among the diplomats here is a sort of "half and half" formula; a combination of ham and eggs, and dragons eyes and lotus leaves. This is particularly true at the legation itself where when Dr. Wu was minister the kitchen was in charge, not of a Chinese chef, but of a colored cook.

Await Wu's Successor.

At present the legation is awaiting the arrival of Dr. Wu's successor, and the colored cook is ready to welcome him to New York ice cream as well as mandarin rice pudding.

This same "half and half" rule was in operation today at the Mei menage. The colored maid was setting the table for a regular American luncheon, salad, and bread and butter, tea and fruit. But in the oven was another item, typically Chinese. It was the ever popular chiao-tzu, a kind of pie crust turnover which is used as a meat pie, or with slightly different ingredients, as an accompaniment to the inevitable afternoon tea.

"How do we make it?" Mme. Mei pondered the question. "The difficulty is," she explained, "that we in China don't cook by exact measurements. We put a bit of this, and so much of that, by experience and instinct, you know, and it's hard to tell another person and have it come out right."

I offered to take a chance. Here's the result, on paper:

Scald 2 pounds of white flour with enough water to make a stiff dough. Knead and roll into a long roll about 1 inch thick. Pull off in ½ inch pieces and flatten and roll out thin and round.

Fry the onion and pork in peanut oil for about 5 minutes. Add 1 tablespoon of salt, some ginger, and the vegetables. Cook another 10 minutes and take off.

Fill the crusts like dumplings. Put a moist cloth on the bottom of the steamer, arrange a layer of Chiao-tzu, steam for 10 minutes and serve with vinegar.

For afternoon tea, the filling may be any desirable combination of chopped meat and vegetables. Ginger and oil are added. The dumplings are steamed for a few minutes, then brushed with milk and put in a quick oven to bake.

Art in Cooking Rice.

There is an art in cooking rice, Mme. Mei points out. Here's the way to boil rice: Wash it first in cold, then in hot water, until the water poured off is clear. Put in kettle with boiling water, one-third rice and two-thirds water. Bring to quick boil, then set where it will cook slowly until all the water has disappeared. This will take from 35 to 45 minutes.

"The mistake the American cook is likely to make in cooking rice, or in preparing anything that has to be covered," Mme. Mei says, "is that she is so anxious to see what's going on under the lid that she's forever lifting the cover to take a peek. That's bad."

Of course, if you want all the nice rice grains to remain unbroken then you must steam them, not boil them. First, wash the rice thoroughly; then boil rapidly a few minutes. Drain off the water, put on a cloth on the bottom of a steamer and steam until done.

Orange Soup.

Ever eat orange soup? It is made out of one half dozen ch'en-tzu, which are really oranges; one-quarter pound ping t'ang, and that is merely rock sugar, and some t'uan fen which, believe it or not, is starch.

Bring three quarts of water to a boil. Add rock sugar and stir until melted. Add pulp of the oranges. Dissolve one tablespoonful of bean starch in water. Stir into soup as much as needed to give desired consistency.

How about some almond tea? Take one-half cup of very carefully washed rice and 1 cup of blanched almonds and put them through a meat chopper until they are finely powdered. Add 6 cups of water and cook in a double boiler until the liquid is slightly thickened. Flavor with vanilla.

And don't for goodness sake, go putting cream and sugar in it.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

The easiest way to keep silver clean and bright is to use it; tarnish begins when it is out of use. When silver is stored place it in an airtight container with a small piece of camphor gum.

A good way to mend cut oilcloth is to place a strip of adhesive tape underneath the cut and press the oilcloth down on it.

POULTRY FOLK GOING EAST TO STUDY METHODS

Tour by Motor Coach to Start Aug. 29.

Urbana, Ill., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Illinois poultrymen, who produce products valued at approximately $60,000,000 annually, will have a chance to visit one of the best poultry areas of the east to study marketing, hatchery operations, and commercial egg production in a tentative tour being sponsored by the college of agriculture, University of Illinois. The tour will be made by motor coach Aug. 29 to Sept. 6, with H. H. Alp, poultry extension specialist, in charge.

Those making the tour will leave here at 10:30 a. m. Aug. 29 for Dayton, O., where the night will be spent. A scenic 250 mile drive between Dayton and Uniontown, Pa., will take up the second day.

Camp at Washington.

Before proceeding to Washington, D. C., on Aug. 31, the third day, the poultrymen will stop at a commercial poultry farm near Uniontown. A flock of 2,000 layers, part of which is trapnested, will be the chief attraction. Camp will be made for the night at Washington.

Before leaving Washington for the governmental experimental farm at Beltsville, Md., the poultrymen will make a short tour of the capital city. In the afternoon the party will proceed to New Jersey to visit a large commercial farm and hatchery. Camp will be in the neighborhood of Rosemont, N. J.

The first and second stops on Sept. 2, the fifth day of the tour, will be at a 5,000 bird breeding plant and at a large hatchery, both among the finest in New Jersey. The tour will then proceed to the New York City poultry and egg market. A short tour of the city also will be made.

Jersey Farms to Be Visited.

Camp will be made in the vicinity of Gettysburg, Pa., following the close of the program for Sept. 3, the sixth day. The itinerary includes stops in the morning at two New Jersey farms of considerable size and importance.

The day's travel on Sept. 4 will be between Gettysburg and Pittsburgh, Pa., where the night will be spent. The following day a stop will be made in Ohio, after which the tour will continue so as to reach Urbana in good time the morning of Sept. 6.

CUT FOOD BUDGET WITH CEREALS, SAYS PURDUE WOMAN

More extensive use of cereal products is one way to cut down the family food budget, in the opinion of Dorothy Muehl, extension nutritionist of Purdue university. Lacking certain food properties, cereal products are classed as excellent to combine with some of the substantial protein foods such as milk, eggs, cheese and meat, adding variety to well balanced diets, yet keeping the cost low.

Food value in cereals is certain because of high heat and energy giving properties and the vitamin B content, according to Miss Muehl.

Vitamin A, found in large quantities in yellow corn meal, is important to help the growth of children and to build up resistance against diseases of the eye, ear, nose and throat in both children and adults, Miss Muehl says. Vitamin B is a special aid to digestion and the lack of this vitamin in children's diets causes nervousness, listlessness and the loss of appetite, she adds.

Lamb Most Economical Purchase for Week-End

In its regular weekly report issued for the guidance of consumers the committee on marketing information of the meat council of Chicago states: "Leg and shoulder of lamb represent the most economical meat buys for the Chicago housewife over the coming week-end. Pot roasts and the low priced cuts of beef are available at attractive prices. Dried beef also is an economical purchase at the present time."

SOUR CHERRIES CHEAP, REPORTS BENTON HARBOR

Sour cherries should be plentiful and comparatively cheap on the Chicago market. Reports from Benton Harbor, Mich., which supplies most of the fresh cherries used here, indicate wholesale prices of less than 10 cents a quart. As a result, it is estimated Chicago housewives should be able to find cherries priced retail at around 15 cents a quart for medium quality or 20 cents for the best. Michigan raspberries should be priced at 10 to 15 cents a pint, the same for blackberries, but about 40 cents a quart for blueberries.

STEAM PRESSURE BEST IN CANNING; IT KILLS GERMS

The steam pressure method is considered the safest for canning of meats and vegetables, according to food specialists of the New York State College of Agriculture. The high temperature made possible under steam pressure reduces the danger of botulinus poisoning, because the higher the temperature the quicker the poisonous botulinus organism is destroyed.

11 of Markets' 29 Products Classed as Home Grown

Of 29 of the most important fresh fruits and vegetables now available in the metropolitan area served by Chicago's South Water market, 11 commodities are coming largely under the class called home grown. These include beans, beets, cabbage, corn, cucumbers, bundles of dill, green onions, lettuce, parsley, peppers, and radishes.

OPERATORS MAY ASK U. S. TO RUN COAL INDUSTRY

Public Utility Suggested at Conference.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 6.—[Special.] John T. Rose, general counsel of the Pittsburgh Coal company, and J. T. Moorehead, president of the Carnegie Coal company, met here this afternoon to consider asking the federal government to regulate the coal industry as a public utility, according to a story in the Pittsburgh Sun Telegraph.

The conference, the newspaper stated, grew out of a previous meeting of Pittsburgh coal operators in which federal regulation was discussed.

The particular topic today was the invitation sent by Secretary of Commerce Lamont and Secretary of Labor Doak to the operators to meet representatives of the United Mine Workers in Washington to see what could be done to rehabilitate the industry. Mr. Moorehead later refused to confirm the report in the Sun Telegraph and would not admit attending the meeting.

It is known that J. D. A. Morrow, president of the Pittsburgh Coal company, largest soft coal concern in the world, suggested consideration of government control to the cabinet officials. It is the consensus of the operators that nothing would be gained by dealing with the miners' representatives since the wage question is only an issue.

Overproduction Chief Issue.

The main problem, it was pointed out, is curtailment of excessive production. If overproduction could be prevented, it was said, the price of coal would rise and the wage question would take care of itself.

"Two or three years ago," one operator said, "if any one had proposed government regulation to the operators it would have thrown them into a rage and they would have denounced it as bolshevism. Now they are inclined to welcome it as the only way out. They see nothing ahead of them, as things stand now, but the loss of their properties through their inability to sell coal at a profit."

Samuel Purseglove, president of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal corporation, said, "It always was my idea of what should be done."

Significance is given to the statement that the industry is in desperate straits by the action of Gov. Pinchot in canceling yesterday his proposed trip to the Pacific coast. Pinchot telegraphed Gov. Meyer of Oregon that he could not attend the annual session of the Alaska-Yukon Sourdough association in Portland, Ore., next week because of conditions prevailing in the western Pennsylvania mining region.

Suggest U. S. Coal Domain.

The Mellons' $300,000,000 Pittsburgh Coal company, largest of the producers, is feeling the pinch like the others, it was asserted.

As an alternative to government regulation of the coal industry as a public utility, it was suggested by operators that a national coal domain be established and the government called upon to buy mines and close them, not only to prevent overproduction, but also to conserve the supply of coal, as it is being done in the oil industry.

The statement was made that with an expenditure of $25,000,000 in western Pennsylvania the government could acquire enough mines to reduce the district's output to a profitable basis.

Would Imitate Gov. Murray.

If the operators should attempt through a voluntary agreement to curtail production and thus raise the price of coal they would be violating the Sherman anti-trust law, according to the operator. He added:

"If Gov. Pinchot and the governors of West Virginia and Ohio were to take charge of the mines and regulate coal production as Gov. Murray in Oklahoma is regulating the oil wells, the price of coal would at once advance. And who knows but that it would start a wave of prosperity?"

AUG. 1 REPORT MAKES WAR VET LOANS $1,187,386,000

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Loans to war veterans on their adjusted compensation certificates amounted to $1,187,386,000 up to Aug. 1, the administrator of veterans' affairs disclosed today in a report submitted to President Hoover and made public.

BRIG. GEN. FRANK T. HINES.

Loans paid out under the act of last February, which increased the loan value of the bonus certificates to 50 per cent, totaled 819 millions on Aug. 1. The number of loans made under the new law was 2,128,097. Loans made at Hines, Ill., the Chicago district, numbered 123,103, the third largest number attributed to any station. Washington, D. C., led the list of stations with 425,929 loans, carrying a total of $156,000,000.

The loans made under the new adjusted service certificate act of last February reached the high water mark during the week of April 4, when a total of $100,923,502.83 was loaned. From then on to the last week in July the amount of loans fell off until they reached a weekly total of $4,353,759.

J. J. M'VICKER APPOINTED TO WATERWAY BODY

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Gov. Louis L. Emmerson today announced the re-appointment of all but one of the nine members of the deep waterway commission. The new member is State Representative James J. McVicker of Chicago, who succeeds former State Representative Charles H. Weber of Chicago.

MAJOR PUTNAM IS NAMED DIRECTOR OF HARBOR BOARD

The appointment of Maj. Rufus W. Putnam, former United States district engineer in Chicago, to be director of the Chicago regional port was announced yesterday by William R. Dawes, president of the commission. Besides Mr. Dawes, the other members of the commission, recently given authority by the legislatures of Illinois and Indiana, are John T. Pirie, Floyd L. Bateman, and E. M. Antrim of Chicago, and Walter J. Riley of East Chicago, Ind.

MAJ. PUTNAM. [Moffett Photo.]

Maj. Putnam is the author of the Chicago harbor plan prepared for the city government in 1926 by the Commercial club. His new task will be to coördinate all of the harbor development projects in the area from Michigan City to Waukegan, and extending inland to Joliet.

One of the first tasks of the commission, Mr. Dawes said, will be to draft a law under which a permanent interstate port authority will be constituted by the Illinois and Indiana legislatures to supervise all harbor developments in the Chicago metropolitan area, and to coördinate them with rail and barge lines.

FLOWER OF THORNS

By Marie Conway Oemler

SYNOPSIS.

Sally Rutherford, the last of a proud old southern family, following the ruin and suicide of her grandfather, determines to keep the heavily mortgaged Oakleigh plantation for her grandmother. She opens a hot dog stand on the Dixie highway. The estate of the Winsteads, of carpetbagging stock, adjoins Oakleigh. Henry Winstead holds the Oakleigh mortgage. His only son, Sam, is a great help to Sally, although she doesn't know his real identity until the stand is successfully started. Sally falls in love with Lowndes Jennings. Sam forces Lowndes to admit in front of Sally that he is engaged to the wealthy Gertrude Reinert. Sam asks Sally to marry him, although he knows she doesn't love him. Sally becomes Sam's wife in name only. Sam gives Oakleigh back to Sally as a wedding present. The night of the wedding Sally's grandmother dies. Sally collapses and is brought to Winstead's while she is still unconscious. When she recovers Sam tells her that he is going abroad and when he returns she can sue him for divorce.

INSTALLMENT XXIX.

ASHES OF LOVE.

Henry brightened when Sally spoke to him of Mr. Reinert. He liked Reinert.

"Ask them to come here to dinner one night, Sally. You wouldn't mind, would you? And, by the way, his girl and her new husband are staying with them, are they not? Jennings, isn't that the name? You might ask them, too."

His daughter-in-law looked at him reflectively. What could she say? Henry's first request couldn't be refused, without apparent ungraciousness. So far as he knew, there was no reason why Reinert's daughter and her husband shouldn't be received by her. She couldn't explain, so she said politely:

"I am sure Mr. Reinert will be delighted to come. He said he wanted to see you outside of your office. Of course I will include Mr. and Mrs. Jennings in the invitation."

She hoped Lowndes and his wife would find it impossible to accept, but Lowndes found it impossible to refuse. Gertrude liked Sam, and she wished to meet the girl who was one of the Rutherfords of Oakleigh. Mr. and Mrs. Reinert, too, were pleased to say yes.

On the appointed Wednesday night, then, Sally found herself presiding at Henry Winstead's table with Mr. and Mrs. Reinert and Mr. and Mrs. Lowndes Jennings for guests. She had not seen Lowndes, nor heard from him, since the night she had visited his rooms. The thought of meeting him had been most unwelcome, but at sight of him her nervousness vanished, and she was able to greet him without the slightest feeling of perturbation.

He was as handsome as ever, the glance of his long gray eyes as devastating as ever, but he did not appeal to her in the least. He aroused no emotion in her—not even resentment. He meant nothing to her.

Gertrude was very pretty, something of what her mother must have been once, but tempered by her father. Unlike her mother, she was simply dressed, and she looked charming in her yellow frock, her fair hair, her eyes keenly gray, something of her father's will and force accentuating her. No chattering, no gushing "so romantic" like her mother. You saw that this young woman knew what was due her, and would claim and demand it.

Sally was unaware how lovely she herself was. Henry thought he had never seen his daughter-in-law quite so beautiful as she was tonight.

She maddened Lowndes. Because he had always meant to do exactly what he had done—marry wealth—he had been able to put her aside; but he had loved her, and now that he saw her again, out of his reach, and in her right element, his old passion for her revived. Circumstances for which neither of them was responsible had forced them apart, had forced him to an unlovely rôle, had forced her to marry Winstead . . . whom she didn't love, she couldn't love . . . because she had loved him. Lowndes felt that, despite fate itself, Sally belonged to him.

It was still pleasant to walk in the garden after dinner. Just then the gardens had many late roses. The fountain and lily ponds Sam had installed added the magic of water reflecting and tinkling. Gertrude clung to her father's arm, Mrs. Reinert held Henry's, and Sally found herself walking beside Lowndes. A fountain tinkled its silver laughter and the heavy heads of winter roses nodded to the moon. Again she had a shock of surprise at herself for her lack of all emotion. Her breathing was even, her heart did not skip one calm beat.

There was a bench by the larger lily pond, and here Lowndes paused and asked her in a low voice to be seated.

"Sally, Sally!" he whispered huskily.

She turned her head to look at him surprisedly. What could he have to say to her, or she to him? Nothing. Less than nothing.

"Sally, Sally—I—O, darling, what can I say?"

"Why need you say anything?" she asked calmly.

"Fate was too much for us both, Sally. I had to do—what I did . . . to avoid ruin. I—I couldn't drag you into the whirlpool with me!"

"No, you couldn't. And you didn't," said she succinctly.

"Don't be bitter, Sally. Though heaven knows you have reason to be bitter! When I think of you being rushed into marriage with—with another man——"

"And you to another woman. By the way, your wife is charming. And I honestly think she's in love with you, genuinely and unselfishly in love with you," said Sally. "You are really very lucky, Lowndes."

"I am horribly unhappy," he lamented. "I haven't a word to say against Gertrude—she is good, generous and kind; and, as you say, she loves me, poor girl. While I—I'm in love with you, Sally."

"You can get right out of it, then, Lowndes. Why should you waste your time? Why remember that silly affair of ours?"

"You loved me; you said so, and I know you did."

"Certainly I did—or thought I did. Heavens, what a simpleton I was! But I was Sally Rutherford then, and I am Sally Winstead now."

"Do not twit me with that dreadful fact! Fate was too strong for us both, darling. But fate hasn't been able to kill my love for you. I have only to see you to have that proven to me. I—I love you, Sally. More than ever. I shall always love you."

"I ought to be angry with you, Lowndes. Only somehow I can't seem to care enough to be angry."

"But you love me, Sally, don't you, darling? I dare to ask you that, now!" he said, as though in agony.

She shook her head. "No, Lowndes."

"Do you mean to tell me you love—that fellow?"

"Sam? Why do you refer to Sam as 'that fellow'? I don't like it."

"You haven't answered my question. Do you love Winstead? How could you, how can you?"

"He married me," said she quietly. "I do not choose to be questioned further, please."

"I have a right to know the truth," he said, sullenly.

"Very well, know the truth that you displease me. You have no claim upon me, any more than I have any claim on you. You have no right to question me about anything," she said, with spirit.

"Sally, answer me this: Don't you love me? In spite of all the wretched circumstances that parted us—in spite of the cruel fact that we are hopelessly separated, don't you love me?" And he leaned toward her.

"Do you hate me, darling?" he whispered humbly.

"No, Lowndes, I haven't the least resentment against you," she told him truthfully.

"When I—when I heard you were going to marry . . . Winstead . . . I could hardly bear it, I almost went crazy. I—knew why you did it. I understood. I——"

"No, you don't understand. You may have been a contributing factor, but it was really grandmamma."

"And she died that night!" he said, awed.

"And the sacrifice—O, Sally, Sally!"

"O, I dare say he's generous enough," conceded Lowndes. "One can afford to be generous when one has money like the Winsteads."

"Or the Reinerts. They are generous, too, I hear. But, as you say, Sam is very generous."

"And you—you married to him!" cried Lowndes, bitterly.

"Yes, I am married to him," said Sally, and rose. He rose with her.

"Sally—I have simply got to see you again," he told her hurriedly.

"Please don't try to. I am in my place, you are in yours. Let us stay there," she advised, composedly.

"But I have to see you occasionally. Every chance I get," he said in a shaking voice. "My love—my own love——" And he seized her hands and pressed his lips against them. Even the touch of his lips—Lowndes' lips—did not stir her to anything more than a slight annoyance, a touch of disgust. She drew her hands away from his clasp, and began to walk down the garden path. He had to follow her perforce.

"Would you call it a sacrifice? I got Oakleigh—for a wedding present," said Sally, with a strange smile. Before her rose the picture of her tall young bridegroom giving her the papers—because she loved Oakleigh more than anything else. And he knew she didn't love him—so he renounced her. She looked at Lowndes now, searchingly, questioningly. How is it you fancy you love a man so much, and idealize him, and then agonize over the fact that he isn't at all what your fancy painted him—and then—he has no hold upon your heart any more? When you see him again you have but one wish—that he would go away.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Asks for Bedroom Furniture.

"I am a widow trying hard to rear three girls, aged 16, 7, and 5 years. I have been out of employment a long time and need help. I have a chance to rent two rooms if I could furnish them, and thought perhaps you could get some of the things for me. I need bed linen, two beds, mattresses and springs, dressers, and other small pieces for sleeping rooms. It might help to provide a living for my children again. MRS. E. R."

Young Children Are Joining the Beauty Parlor's Clientele

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

One of the current trade periodicals states that catering to the beauty needs of children is coming to the fore. To the trade, of course, as an added source of income. To parents and onlookers—as WHAT?

You're either going to like the idea or get yourself appointed to a place on the mourners' bench along with the rest of those who exclaim: "What is the world coming to!"

Permanents for youngsters! Manicures for them! Not facials—yet!

I saw a 5 year old getting a manicure and dictating the "shine" for her nails the other day. And was told that the small ones get finger waves to reshape the destiny of their naturally straight little locks. A light curling fluid is used if the hair is too straight to respond to water used for setting.

The youngsters, it is reported, follow in mother's footsteps. If she wears her hair straight back, they want their hair off the forehead, with perhaps a small pin curl arranged somewhere on the forehead. Long ringlet curls are grown in fifteen minutes on these small heads, if the urge for ringlet curls is strong. Five dollars is the duty tax for the mother who would have her small one arrayed in anywhere from five to nine ringlets.

All of which indicates that we're either going to have a crop of exquisitely groomed young people one of these fine days, or we're going to be burdened with a crop of self-centered little arrogants. There's no denying, however, that the seed of self-beautifying is being planted early. As one who bitterly mourned a ringletless small girlhood, a bit of envy overshadows my somewhat mid-Victorian ideas about keeping youngsters youngsters, as these permanently made ringlets are observed.

Anyway, it's just a bit of news about the very young generation I'm passing on. And who knows but the small ones are being groomed for a complete return to the average male ideal of what a woman should be—decorative and not too brain-elongated for comfort.

Paris Wears Printed and Plain Ensemble

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS. — [Special.] — While there have been mighty rumors that printed frocks would not be worn in Paris this summer, the flowered chiffon frock and wool coat ensemble of Chanel are appearing in the most exclusive society here. Women refuse to be alienated from their pretty printed dresses no matter what the rest of the world has to say about it, and Chanel's ensembles with printed frocks and plain coats having printed revers, are having a triumphant run in Paris society.

One of the most successful printed and plain ensembles of Chanel is shown in the accompanying sketch. It is composed of a bright, primitive green wool crepe coat, having revers of flowered chiffon and no collar. These revers are edged with petals appliqued on with silk, having been cut out of the chiffon. The coat has a fitted bodice, buttoned with two bone buttons near the waistline, and a skirt made of narrow gores flared a bit toward the bottom. The sleeves are plain, and quite long.

The dress that is worn under this coat is shown in the background. It has a pattern of small, bright flowers on a white chiffon ground, and armholes, neckline and pointed hem are edged with cut out appliqued flowers from the chiffon. There is a round, scalloped shoulder yoke, from which the dress is cut into gradually flaring gores to the hem. There are no sleeves. A narrow belt of the printed chiffon is tied around the waist.

Definite Knowledge Arms Child Against Warped Information

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Many letters come in on the subject of "street" language; also many come in from mothers who are distressed over "street" ideas regarding all matters in any way related to sex information.

One says: "We live among people who have never taught their children anything of this sort. Their knowledge is picked up anywhere, and I know my boys are learning things I don't want them to learn. I got lots of misinformation this way when I was a child, and I don't want my children to get it, too."

Yesterday we suggested that the way to cope with street language was to teach and use at home the correct names for the parts of the body and its functions, and to begin to do so just as early as possible.

The same procedure works as well with ideas as with language. Don't wait for your son or daughter to get distorted or shocking or even merely incorrect information about the beginnings of life, its reproduction, and sex information in general. Don't let their first images of natural, wholesome and beautiful things be unnatural, unwholesome and ugly.

Start when the children are little, by answering their first questions properly, and keep it up through the years. That is not only what is due them, but it is their great protection against the disturbing sordidness of the ideas to which they may sometime be exposed.

If, however, you didn't start early—start now. Open a line of communication between yourself and your son or daughter and arm them with wholesome ideas on matters pertaining to sex. If you need help, our sex education booklet was carefully planned with that in mind. It will be sent on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Doris Has Lenient Word for Husbands Who Like to Stray

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"While on my vacation one of the women at my husband's office, supposed to be a friend of mine, made it her business to entertain and go around with my husband, who is her employer. They went to parties, out to dinner, and sometimes she got dinner for him at my house.

"I always prided myself on being broad minded, but after this I can't see that broad mindedness gets you anywhere. What would you do?

"WIFE."

I'd try to grant that it was my broad mindedness that had precipitated the gayeties provided your husband. And I'd try to realize that there just isn't any such animal as broad mindedness where another woman is concerned. It's one of the noble traits denied the great majority of females. And perhaps it is just as well. Unless one draws the kind of husband who would not take advantage of his wife's broad minded nature under any circumstances. But there's the rub, for men innocently believe that they can take a lady at her word.

I'm warning them right here and now to beware of that catch in female make up! That the women who talk the loudest about the great wide latitude they would give to their mates are much the shortest on understanding such a situation if it does arise.

The question is revived about whether 'tis better to have husband troop along on the vacation route or leave him home to wander around aimlessly nights and Saturday p. m.'s and Sundays. We have no answer for either. But if a woman sets off for a round of adventure, or even on an orderly vacation schedule and leaves the mate behind—well, why be so hard on him if he does get into a bit of mischief? Or, on the woman friend who thanklessly makes it her business to keep him out of worse mischief?

Not that all husbands are paragons of cut ups with the wife off to the country. But many of them simply are not good stayers-at-home-alones. Women are better at staying put than men. Their training has been better directed along that line.

MILLIONS OF SMOKERS DISCOVERED IT FOR US

MANY persons have reported to us an interesting fact about smoking and eating—a fact that has given them keener enjoyment of both.

We put their discovery to laboratory test, and here's what we find:*

On the tongue are thousands upon thousands of sensitive taste-buds, clustered in tiny groups, known to science as papillae.

It is these delicate taste-buds that give flavor, zest to your cigarette—and to your food.

Care for your taste-buds, your papillae. Care for them by avoiding dry mouth, a condition of recognized prevalence. Keep the tongue moist and well lubricated.

If you enjoy smoking a lot—and who doesn't!—chew Wrigley's frequently. Wrigley's between smokes, by stimulating a free flow of saliva, keeps the taste-buds moist and fresh and definitely relieves dry mouth. Thus, scientists say, the sensation of taste is intensified.

If you'd like more enjoyment of your cigarette and your food, keener appetite and better digestion, chew Wrigley's regularly between smokes and between meals.

At the cigar stand, take your change in Wrigley's.

Girl Recites Bitter Story of Childhood

Home a Market, She Hates Her Family.

BY EDITH WEIGLE.

ALMOST remarkable and vivid human document is the book called "And No Birds Sing," by Pauline Leader [Vanguard]. It is the biography of a girl born in a family she grew to hate, of a father and mother she grew to detest; it is the story of her fierce struggle against the enormous handicap of deafness which came when she was only 12.

E. BARRINGTON.

This biography is written with a pen dipped in blood. It is so terribly tense, the picture it gives of a human being in torture is so heartrending that other stories of other lives pale beside it. There was a sensitive, imaginative, female child dumped by Fate into a squalid dwelling whose front room was a meat market, her parents uninteresting, coarse, and brutal, and her two brothers and sisters akin to them, but alien to her. Fate gave her the worst possible start in life.

Miss Leader describes her starved childhood in words that burn with feeling. "I wanted a home like other girls," she says. "I didn't want a mansion, and two rooms upstairs. I wanted a home that was a house by itself. A house with a hallway in it. I dreamed of that hallway. It was a symbol—like Sunday. I did not want a place that led right into the bedroom or kitchen. There must be a hallway first.

"I did not want to be always stinking of the market. Didn't my parents realize that we children were ostracized, because of the market, and because of them? What rottenness and rankness and cheapness was necessary to make money, anyway, I thought as I watched from my corner near the refrigerator. How could people stink so low?"

It was this passionate questioning, together with her repulsion for conditions at home that made her a restless child, and that she was entirely an enigma to her parents goes without saying. They could not comprehend her as they used brute force to try to "break her will," and threats to discipline her.

At the age of 12 the final blow came: a long illness and at the end complete deafness. Miss Leader speaks of it only in words highly colored with the imagination she indulged in at that time, so the reader does not understand the real physical cause of the trouble. Deafness was a gnome that the child had to carry about eternally on her back. Whenever people spoke to her the gnome snatched the words away from their mouths, so that she could hear nothing. She saw only strangely distorted lips, "fish mouths." And in the eyes of these people she saw that they knew she carried the gnome and they looked at her curiously as though she were a freak. She grew to hate their eyes, always their eyes, looking at her, piercing her, so that she walked with her gaze on the pavement or the floor to escape them.

In spite of her deafness she insisted on going to high school. She had been at the head of her class before, but now she could not understand the teachers or the students and her days were misery. How strange it was that no one befriended her, that no understanding soul ever came her way!

The last novel of E. Barrington, "The Irish Beauties" [Doubleday-Doran], is another of that late author's historical romances. The action takes place during the middle and latter part of the 18th century in Ireland and England and some of the famous men and women of that day figure in the plot.

The two very beautiful daughters of Mrs. Gunning are found in poverty when the story opens. George Anne Bellasy, an actress with Richard Brinsley Sheridan and his players, befriends them and, dressed in borrowed theatrical finery, they make a great impression at a Dublin ball. This is the trick that turns their fortunes.

In London the Gunning sisters are soon the talk of the town, because of their charm and loveliness. Horace Walpole and his niece become their friends. One sister marries the duke of Hamilton, while the other weds Lord Coventry. And, says E. Barrington: "Still the blood of the Gunning sisters flows in the noblest veins in England. Still eyes are lovely because theirs won all hearts. Still living women are brave and pure because Elizabeth endured."

"The Irish Beauties" appeared serially in THE TRIBUNE.

Mrs. Thatcher	Cecil Weston
Abigail Prentice	Aileen Manning
Teacher	Frank McGlynn

BY ROBERTA NANGLE.

"Huckleberry Finn," brought to life again by Paramount's troupe of child actors, should provoke an appreciative chuckle from the grave of its author. Surely Mark Twain himself would find no fault with his barefooted adventurers, as portrayed by the juvenile starring team of Durkin and Coogan.

Junior Durkin is exactly the Huckleberry that Mr. Twain created—a lanky, homely, slow spoken, literal minded youngster, irked by grown-ups in general and women in particular. Jackie Coogan, as the more romantic Tom Sawyer who breaks away from feminine wiles to see the world with Huck, proves again that Charlie Chaplin knew what he was about when he picked him so long ago for "The Kid."

Mitzi Green, wearing a blond wig, is the dangerous young female of the story, and although her rôle is small, she does her bit with a prim grace. Also in the cast for brief, but well done intervals, are Jane Darwell as the kindly Widow Douglas, Eugene Pallette and Clarence Muse as the pair of villains who disrupt the boys' plans for a nomadic life, and Frank McGlynn as the dutiful school teacher.

From beginning to end the picture is directed with fine understanding. Action and dialogue and photography all match the excellent work of the players. There's no reason why it shouldn't remain in Chicago until every boy and girl has seen it, and there's no reason, either, why fathers, mothers, uncles, and aunts shouldn't accompany the children and enjoy it with them.

"JEDE FRAU HAT ETWAS."
Produced by Paramount.
Presented at the Punch and Judy theater.

THE CAST.

Trude	Trude Berliner
Charles	Kurt Vespermann
Doris	Anni Ann
Burton Crane	Curt Lillien
Fran Falkner	Ida Perry
Detective	Karl Harbauer
Cora	Vera Zacharova

As this picture at the Punch and Judy theater got under way I thought there was something familiar about it, despite a lot of German dialogue made only partly understandable by vigorous slapstick pantomime. After a reel or so I realized it was the German version of that early talkie, "Honey," which featured Nancy Carroll, Skeets Gallagher, Lillian Roth, and, I believe, Buddy Rogers.

The title has been changed to "Every Woman Has Something," and the rôles, of course, are played by German actors. The plot and music of the English version remain the same, and the high point of the proceedings is the Negro chorus with which Lillian Roth introduced "Sing, You Sinners."

The picture does not compare with "Honey" as entertainment, except perhaps for persons who do not understand English. The cast includes three young women, none of whom is a Dietrich; two male comedians, and a German youngster who does a good imitation of Mitzi Green. It was disappointing, to say the least, to find that this picture, advertised as a German production, is a German version of a two year old American film, made, I presume, for the foreign market.

Austin Dormitory to House Business Leaders of Future

President Walter Dill Scott of Northwestern university yesterday announced that construction work will be started immediately on a new dormitory for the Evanston campus, to accommodate forty-five persons, and to be used exclusively for the Austin scholars and their proctors and faculty advisers.

The Austin Foundation at the university was established in 1929 by the late Frederick C. Austin, for the training of future business executives.

The building in prospect will be on the men's quadrangle, of the same type or architecture as the fraternity houses. Instead of a kitchen and dining room, the basement will be used as a recreation hall, and the students will take their meals at the university commons. It is expected it will be ready for occupancy by the fall of 1932.

Movie Gossip from Hollywood

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

HELEN TWELVETREES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Revival of the Wampas custom of thirteen yearly "baby stars," announced today, created the biggest scurrying around Hollywood in months, as admirers of 100 17, 18, 19, and 20 year old actresses sought to press their claims.

The Wampas, which is the name of Hollywood's guild of movie press agents, is prpud of its standing in the community, as an organization; its solvency, and its past record of charities within and without the movie group. The Wampas formerly selected thirteen young actresses each season as "baby stars" because they were considered brightest prospects for future stardom.

How judiciously the Wampas chose, is indicated by some of the girls—then obscure—whom they singled out: Norma Shearer, Clara Bow, Billie Dove, Helen Twelvetrees, Dolores Del Rio, Dorothy Mackaill, Loretta Young, Sally Eilers, and Dolores Costello.

These annual glorifications were discontinued in 1929 because of a quarrel between the Wampas organization and a newspaper association in Los Angeles. During the quarrel, the Wampas was asked to contribute a heavy amount out of its treasury. The club decided it would abandon the baby star custom if the custom were beginning to bear earmarks of commercialism.

But this season, the Wampas club was inportuned by Los Angeles business men to revive the baby star selections. Accordingly, thirteen girls will be chosen from the last year's screen finds, and will then figure as queens of Los Angeles civic "fiesta," a week of semi-holidays devoted to commemorating 175th anniversary of the city's founding, and given over to city wide bunting, bands, bedecking in historic Spanish costumes and outdoor programs.

Survey Shows Chicago Fails to Fight Weeds

Public and Private Lands Are Infested.

BY PAUL POTTER.

A dank growth of weeds, many of them existing in violation of the state noxious weed law, was found to be going to seed this week on both public and private property in the metropolitan area.

Although mowers have been operating, and some weed patches have been sprayed, the majority of vacant properties including those owned by real estate subdividers, the Chicago sanitary district, Cook and DuPage counties, and individual property owners, presented an unsightly and unlawful appearance in a survey of Chicago and its environs.

Only one of several large Chicago subdividers interviewed yesterday could report having complied with the state noxious weed law. He said the spraying with sodium chlorate and mowing of his 80 odd properties had furnished employment for 60 men, and had cost him about $7,000. The equipment used by this subdivider in weeding his properties has been employed with success for the third season, he said.

Another real estate subdivider indicated that he regarded the individual lot owners as legally responsible for allowing weeds to go to seed while unemployed men were available at present low wage rates. But, he added, the matter of pride and possible enhancement of land values had of necessity been subordinated by most lot owners because of present business conditions.

"There can be no such excuse as most offenders offer—that is, the prohibitive cost of complying with the weed law," declared P. S. Haner, superintendent of Illinois weed law enforcement at Springfield. "We have a spray outfit here that is available to any one in Cook county if he will man it and pay for chemicals used."

Haner returned to Springfield yesterday from Camp Grant, where the military areas have been completely covered in a weed spray with the state equipment, at much less cost than ever before.

Nearly 1,000 farmers have attended weed control demonstrations staged by Haner at Marengo and Belvidere in recent weeks. He also indicated a demonstration would be held in Cook county soon.

"We have taken up with President Emmett Whealan of the Cook county board the prevalence of thistles and other noxious weeds in forest preserves and other county property," Haner said. "The sanitary district is also a flagrant violator of the law."

Under the new law, township boards are empowered to treat weeded property and charge the cost against the property, taking a lien against it in payment, if necessary. Haner said that some of the large insurance and loan companies were now refusing to make loans on land infested with unlawful weeds.

Pope Receives Chicagoans in a Private Audience

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Aug. 6.—Pope Pius XI. today gave a private audience to Dr. Robert M. Black, of Chicago, physician and hospital director. Dr. Black was accompanied by Mrs. Black and their daughter. They were introduced to the pontiff by Msgr. Kiley, spiritual director of the American college.

LORD READING WEDS STELLA CHARNAUD AS KING SENDS MESSAGE

LONDON, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Lord Reading, Sir Rufus Isaacs, once ambassador to the United States and later viceroy of India, was married early this afternoon to Miss Stella Charnaud, his secretary, in the registry office on Princes row.

The place had been transformed with gorgeous flowers, and many friends of the couple attended the ceremony.

Miss Charnaud wore a long gown of dark blue romaine and a close fitting hat. She carried a bouquet of dark red roses.

After the ceremony they drove to the old Deal castle. Tomorrow they will go to Paris.

"The queen and I send you our best congratulations and good wishes."

The bride, daughter of the late Charles Charnaud, British representative on the international debt mission to Turkey, was a member of Lord Reading's staff when he went to India as viceroy in 1921. When he returned in 1926 she became his chief political assistant. During the first round table conference in London she was one of his principal advisers.

Lord Reading was in the house of commons from 1904 to 1913 and has served as solicitor general and attorney general. He is 70 years old and his bride is 37.

Clash with Camera Men.

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Aug. 6.—Despite Lord Reading's wish for a quiet wedding, hundreds gathered in the street outside. There was a clash between a battery of camera men and mounted police, instructed to prevent the taking of pictures. The indignant camera men later marched in a body to the nearest police station and lodged a formal protest at their treatment. In carrying out Lord Reading's wish the taking of photographs was not permitted except by two persons specially invited to the ceremony.

BEG YOUR PARDON

In an article on the communist rent strike plot it was stated yesterday that a meeting of colored ministers was held at "St. Mark's Negro Episcopal church," 4427 Drexel boulevard. The meeting was held in St. Mark's Methodist Episcopal church, 50th street and Wabash avenue. St. Mark's Episcopal church at 4427 Drexel boulevard is a white congregation.

High School Band Rehearses Tonight for Music Festival

The first rehearsal will be held tonight for the Chicago high school festival band which will play Saturday night, Aug. 22, at the Chicagoland Music Festival concert at Soldiers' field. The rehearsal will be in the Lyon & Healy auditorium, Wabash avenue and Jackson boulevard, at 8 o'clock. Oscar Anderson, supervisor of music in the public schools, who will direct the band, says whether the entry blank, which has appeared in THE TRIBUNE, has been signed or not any student of a senior high school band in Chicago or nearby town or city who is present at the rehearsal will be permitted to take part in the concert. Already 15 high schools of the city are represented in the entry list.

The two numbers which will be played are, "The French Military March" by Saint-Saëns and the "Il Guarany Overture," by Gomez.

The Lincoln Liberty chorus of Springfield, Ill., composed of 25 Negro singers, will come to Chicago to participate in the Negro massed chorus which will take part in the music festival. These singers were trained by Prof. James A. Mundy of Chicago and sang before President Hoover at the rededication of the Lincoln tomb. Robert P. Taylor, who is employed in the state museum at Springfield, is president of the organization.

Goliath, Sea Elephant, Has Nine Ton Look, Believe It or Not!

Admirers of Goliath, the sea elephant, will have the opportunity of gazing with delighted awe at his nine tons tomorrow afternoon. Goliath will disembark from one of four circus trains this morning and by the time the visitors arrive will be all spruced up for company.

Goliath is one of several hundred performers who will entertain under the big top of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey circus for nine days beginning tomorrow. There are a good many other performers who are old friends of the circus public, and plenty of new acts.

Among the new acts is the Orland-Mara thriller in which Orland, with Miss Mara upon his back, dives from a pedestal to land on his chest in a narrow toboggan chute far below. There are the three Reinsch brothers, bareback stars who come from Sweden.

HOW TO KEEP FROM GROWING OLD

Another Hot Day Revives Algonquin Idea

It's Good Weather to Think of the Poor.

It wasn't a very cheerful outlook that greeted residents in the tenements as they awoke yesterday. Just another blistering hot day.

Many were wearier than usual because the breeze had died down in the night, and not a breath of air stirred the stuffy small rooms. In some of these rooms five or six persons were sleeping a small window the only ventilation. Babies cried out with prickly heat, and mothers could not quiet them.

There were no electric fans to set the air in motion in these homes. No cross-ventilation to utilize what little breeze might wander in. No ice to make a cold drink to cool one off enough to invite sleep.

There are two things more fortunate Chicagoans can do to alleviate suffering such as mentioned above. Two things that are so very easy to do. Either requires less than five minutes' time. The slipping into an envelope a check addressed to the Camp Algonquin fund or THE TRIBUNE free ice fund,

A little money will send a mother and her children away from the sweltering city to the country, to a cool shady camp of the Fox river.

Ten dollars will give a mother or child two weeks away from the hot tenements, and return her to the city physically improved and with a happier attitude toward her poverty.

A little money will send the ice wagon around to a tenement back door. Ice, from THE TRIBUNE free ice fund, it has been proven time and again, has saved a baby's life by keeping his food fresh. One of the first things social workers recommend when they visit these underprivileged families, is ice as a safety measure for the family's health.

Grant Park Concert Band to Start Series Thursday

The Chicago Concert band, which will begin a series of open air concerts in Grant park next Thursday night, held its final rehearsal in the ball room of the Auditorium hotel yesterday morning. The organization, which numbers eighty-five of the best equipped band musicians of Chicago, will be conducted by Victor J. Grabel, the general musical director of the Chicagoland Musical festival, to be presented under the auspices of THE TRIBUNE and associated newspapers at Soldiers field Saturday, Aug. 22. An interesting program is promised for the first of the Chicago Concert band series, including works by Wagner, Saint-Saens, Massenet, and Tschaikowsky, some light opera selections, and a march, "Fair Chicago," by Mr. Grabel himself. Rosalinda Morini, soprano, will be the soloist in arias by Mozart and Ambroise Thomas.

Doctor Says Normal Need No Psychoanalysis.

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

Mental medicine, administered to a sound mind in the form of psychoanalysis, is quite as apt to be provocative of harm as of benefit, and even considerably more so.

Dr. F. J. Gerty, head of the psychopathic hospital, yesterday expounded this principle of his response to a request that he evaluate the influence of that science on the mentally normal.

"If there is such a thing as a mentally normal individual," qualified the medical man with a grin. "You know we all have our little oddities and fixations. To define normal mentality would be quite a problem.

"But given a person of average intelligence and ability, who has conceived the idea that psychoanalysis would turn him into something of a genius by uncovering his weak points, I would say that person had far better let well enough alone. Why? Because every one has the consciousness of certain minor imperfections in his or her own characters, which may be imperfections only to them.

"It is more than anything else a matter of substituting some one else's idea for your own, and, unless you strike a psychoanalyst of the most sterling character and ability, you are apt to come out of it worse off than when you started.

"Here is the situation. Psychoanalysis is based on the theory that the mentally sick patient puts himself into the hands of his mentor, revealing his inmost thoughts and ideas unreservedly, no matter how private or how shocking they may be. The purpose is to relieve the mind of whatever is troubling that patient, and the relief comes only when that bothersome idea emerges of itself into the open. There must be no suggestion on the part of the psychoanalyst.

"The difficulty is to force that topic out into the open, without resorting to suggestion—and here is where most psychoanalysts lose patience. They may have known for weeks what the problem is, but they encounter resistance because the patient, often not realizing himself the nature of his trouble, evades and skirts the subject even when it is approached indirectly. Here two methods may be employed. One, is dream interpretations, the other, free association of ideas.

"Dream interpretations are significant. One school denies altogether that they have any relation to physical conditions, such as kicking the covers off and then dreaming of wandering half clothed through the street. Another takes into account both the mental and physical status of the patient. However, there is no doubt that dream symbols reveal things, sometimes with uncanny accuracy, to the psychoanalyst. Association of ideas—asking for a word and then for the immediate response to it—also establishes mental conditions with great clarity.

"Hypnotism sometimes is employed, but patients will lie under hypnotism as quickly as they will without it. That has been proved. False statements under hypnosis have often been admitted afterward.

"Well, then, the first reaction of the patient to the examiner probably is negative. The patients learn to hate him because he has made them tell things of which they are ashamed, or do not wish to talk. Next, by counsel or further treatment, they come to reverence him almost as a father, if they are male. If they are female, they usually imagine themselves deeply in love with him. Then one has to effect the final stage, the transference of their affections to wherever those affections properly belong.

"It is apparent from this that if one happens upon a psychoanalyst whose character is not of the strongest or best, disaster can result at one of these stages. That is why the normal mentality had better not tamper with things as they are. It's better to go along and do the best one can, and trust to time to work matters out all right.

"A conference or two with a good scientist can hardly be hurtful and may help, but to go seriously into an analysis, which takes weeks and sometimes months, I could not recommend."

Y. M. C. A. DEBATES ON FATE OF WORLD AND HAVING GIRL MEMBERS

Cleveland, O., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Delegates to the world conference of the Young Men's Christian association became involved today in problems of German war guilt and international disarmament, as well as in the question of admitting women to Y. M. C. A. membership.

The 250 representatives of 48 nations listened to pleas to drop the issue of settling responsibility for the war, and heard the German delegation oppose relegating that question.

This discussion was broken by the recurrent squall over the suggestion to admit women to the Y. M. C. A.

R. W. Springer, secretary of the Carlisle, Pa., Y. M. C. A., led the attack today on the suggestion, with the declaration, "we must remember that platonic love is only occasional and very unstable. If the women are taken in the Y. M. C. A., the Y. M. C. A. as an institution will break up, women and men remain chums only a short time and then separate into couples."

Supporting Springer were Miss Una Saunders, secretary of the World's Alliance of the Y. W. C. A., Geneva; Miss Anna Rice, general secretary of the Y. W. C. A., Washington, and Hugo Cedergren, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. in Sweden.

While most of the delegates were openly sympathetic on war guilt, with the feelings of German representatives the conference generally appeared to feel the question beyond its realm.

Texas Born Princess in U. S. with Her Prince

New York, Aug. 6.—[Special.]—When the former Miss Aleen McFarland returns with her husband to the home of her childhood, the hamlet of Weatherford, in Texas, there probably will be "the usual rubbernecking and gossip along Main street," she said today.

Miss McFarland now is a princess. Her husband is Prince Johann, member of the reigning house of the small European principality of Lichtenstein.

The prince and the princess, daughter of the late Charles McFarland, of Texas, who amassed great wealth in cattle and oil lands, were married in London, July 29. They arrived here today aboard the steamship Lafayette on their wedding trip.

The princess is slender and dark haired, skilled in dancing and music. Five yers ago she danced at a dinner given in Paris by Mrs. Robert Schutte of New York. The young prince was charmed. He asked to be presented and they soon became engaged.

The royal couple plan a tour of Harlem, a glimpse of the city's night life and a week-end at the Westchester-Biltmore, where they will be guests of the princess' uncle, C. M. McAfee, retired real estate dealer. They will go to Weatherford to visit the princess' mother—called by the prince "the most beautiful woman in the world."

The female half of a couple who figured in a marriage at city hall this afternoon was another passenger on the Lafayette. She was Mlle. Zelie Laulhe, a young French girl who was met at the pier by her fiancé, Dr. J. B. Claverie of Chicago. They were playmates in childhood and the doctor served with the French army in the infantry and air forces with one of the four brothers of Mlle. Laulhe. She was accompanied by one of her brothers, Adrien, who was Dr. Claverie's particular soldier chum.

Sally's Hundred and Alice White Meet, Seeing "Newly Rich"

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Perhaps one of the best ways to spend a summer afternoon, and especially a warm one such as we had yesterday, is within the spacious confines of a Balaban and Katz theater—the Oriental, for instance. That's what my hundred young guests and I did with the result that our party yesterday afternoon was a huge success.

To start things off with a bang we had the thrilling experience of meeting one of our favorite screen actresses face to face, Alice White, and when we saw her across the footlights a few minutes later we were completely won ove rto her, so clever and entertaining was she. The rest of the stage show was excellent, too, with a charming ballet, a pair of acrobats, who were as comical as they were skillful, and a popular vocalist, Frank Wilson. Ted Cooke acted as master of ceremonies and he and his orchestra contribute much to make the show the success it is.

Of course, the picture "Newly Rich," with Mitzi Green, Jackie Searl and Edna Mae Oliver, was the most important part of our afternoon. You never saw such scrapes as Mitzie and Jackie, playing the king and queen of the movies, could get themselves into. We laughed heartily at and with the children in the amusement park scene where they join forces with a "gang" from the back streets of London's slums. We were terribly excited and perhaps a wee bit frightened as we felt our way through the fog with the young hero and heroine and we marveled at the way the loyal brothers of the "gang" bested the kidnapers. Yes, there are moments in this film when you laugh hysterically and there are times when you're simply tense with excitement. There are scenes "behind the scenes" of a Hollywood sound studio and there are shots inside the royal suite of a London hotel. All in all, it was a marvelous picture and a marvelous party and our only regret throughout the afternoon was that it had to come to an end.

Lloyd George's Daughter Presides at Welsh Fete

BANGOR, North Wales, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Megan Lloyd George, daugher of Great Britain's war time prime minister, substituted tonight for her father in presiding over the national eisteddfod and made a record for being the first woman ever to occupy the president's chair. She read messages from her father in London in which the famous political leader, now recovering from an operation for a kidney ailment, was reported so well that the physicians' bulletins had been suspended and a complete restoration of his health indicated.

FARM and GARDEN BY PAUL POTTER

FLOWER GARDEN CONTEST.

Another opportunity for amateur flower gardeners of the Chicago area to "clip coupons" and gain recognition for their efforts in beautifying their homes will be described in THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE of Aug. 9, accompanied by a blank ballot to be filled out for entry in the contest.

This will be the third semi-annual flower garden honor roll devised by THE TRIBUNE to encourage amateur gardeners within a radius of 40 miles of Tribune Tower, whether living in city, suburban, or rural territory. The competition bars only those who employ paid professional help or who have already had their names placed on the permanent honor roll.

In addition to naming the winners and illustrating with pictures some of the best gardens of Chicagoland, the honor roll awards are accompanied by a gold certificate, suitable for framing. The ballot simplifies entry, but gardens will be judged for those who send in ordinary slips of paper, indorsed by signatures of two neighbors with their addresses. All nominations of gardens must be mailed prior to midnight, Aug. 27.

WOMAN'S AND MISSES' DRESS.

This chic dress has many good points—the pointed hip yoke, creating an effect of slenderness, a gracefully flaring circular skirt and biblike bodice that is very smart. White tub silk, showing blue dots, would be lovely with a bib of plain white. Almost any of the new cottons, chiffons or crêpes are suitable materials.

The pattern, 3183, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years, and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3¼ yards of 39 inch material with ⅝ yard of 35 inch contrasting.

Gillette Girls to Make Debut December 5

BY THALIA

ADD to the growing list of this winter's débutantes Miss Helen and Miss Marietta Gillette, the two daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Fraser Gillette. Erstwhile Chicagoans, they have been living for two years in Pasadena. Their father's sister, Mrs. William Shippen Jr., is of 10 East Schiller street, will present them to society at a tea dance she plans to give on the 5th of December at the Fortnightly.

Miss Helen went to Miss Risser's in Rome two winters ago and Miss Marietta has just recently returned from a year in Rome and Paris with Miss Louise Wood. The girls are nieces of the late Helen Hyde, the artist who is noted for her exquisite wood cuts and etchings of Chinese and Japanese women and children. She was a Chicagoan, but she lived for many years in Japan. A complete series of her etchings is in the Congressional library at Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Jenks are now with the Gillettes at their summer place, Norwalk at Lake Beulah, Wisconsin, and will remain until some time in September. I take it that the Misses Gillette will be with Mr. and Mrs. Jenks for most of the winter and will, of course, be included in all the events of the usual gay débutante fracas.

From the east we hear—that Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Moore Jr. [Rhea Murray] are returning this week from their honeymoon in Honolulu and are to be with the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Munn, at Inverness in Greenwich, Conn., for the month . . . that Mrs. Harold A. Howard, Mrs. Charles B. Pike, and Mrs. Potter Palmer were among the board of governors' wives of the Bar Harbor club in the receiving line at the Navy ball, the annual reception for the visiting officers of the British and American warships, at Bar Harbor for tennis week, held on Tuesday evening . . . that Mrs. Jacob Baur and Mrs. Charles Harrington Chadwick were among the guests at the religious wedding of Princess Laura Murat of Paris and Paul Frank, a New York publisher, which took place at the Church of Notre Dame des Pins in Cannes on Tuesday morning, and also at the reception and luncheon at the Martinez hotel which followed the ceremony. . . . Mrs. Prentiss Coonley gave a picnic supper for Mr. Coonley last week-end at Folly Farm pavilion at Great Barrington.

Mrs. and Mrs. Russell Stafford of Lake Forest are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter, Virginia, on Tuesday at the Passavant hospital. Mrs. Stafford is the former Cora Howland, and the baby's maternal grandparents are Prof. and Mrs. George Carter Howland.

Virginia and Peggy Wiley, the Stanley M. Wileys' young lady daughters, have just returned to Chicago, having been visiting school friends in the east ever since school closed in June. Miss Virginia was graduated from Ogontz and has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Pratt Tracy in Toledo, and Miss Peggy, who still has another year at Sarah Lawrence college, has been visiting in New Hampshire. Miss Virginia is to be a bridesmaid at the wedding of Miss Adele Kanaley, daughter of the Byron V. Kanaleys of Winnetka, and Frederick Charles Miller, which is to take place on Aug. 22 at the Sacred Heart church in Winnetka.

Chronicling—the departure of the Carl H. Zeiss family of Winnetka this week for their Camp Wipigaki at Lac du Flambeau in northern Wisconsin, to be there for a month or more . . . the Robert Hymans' daughter, Miss Jean Hyman, entertaining a Detroit friend, Miss Eleanor Ford Torrey, at the Hyman summer place at Harbor Point, Mich. . . . the birth on Aug. 1 of a daughter, to be named Jean Antoinette, to Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Abel Davis . . . the departure of Mrs. Otis E. Glidden of the Belden-Stratford hotel for Melchar camp in New Hampshire for a month's stay.

Watch Hill news—Mrs. Louise de Koven Phelps still is women's golf champion, having defeated Mrs. John H. Owsley of New Haven in the recent tournament at the Misquamicut Golf club to retain her title for the third consecutive summer . . . Mrs. Phelps' son, Hubbard, in his Captain Rip Rap, won last week's boat race for Alden boats. . . . The Donald R. Weggs have taken North Cove for the month of August. . . . Buford Porter has been visiting the M. E. Singletons of St. Louis at their cottage. . . . The Frank Hibbards had as house guests Mrs. Frederick Reed and Mrs. Ashley Wall of Bristol, R. I. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hall have been visiting the Benjamin F. Taylors at their summer place at Nantucket. . . . Mrs. George McLaughlin has been spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Smith of Syracuse. . . . George Nichols III. came down from Camp Eastford in Connecticut, bringing along some of his camp mates and two of the counselors for a visit with his mother, Mrs. George R. Nichols Jr.

The wedding of Miss Noreen Hennessy, daughter of Sir George Hennessy, to Michael Bull, son of William Perkins Bull, wealthy Canadian, was celebrated July 27 at St. Mary's Roman Catholic church in London. Michael Bull's brother, Bartie, is engaged to Rosemary Baur, daughter of Mrs. Bertha Baur of Chicago.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—Mrs. William Dewitt Mitchell, wife of the attorney general, has gone to New York to visit. She had remained until after the wedding of her niece, Miss Gertrude Bancroft, to Hubert B. Holland on Tuesday evening. Mrs. Mitchell soon will join Mr. Mitchell in their home here.

The secretary of labor and Mrs. Doak have Mrs. Floyd Bolling of Roanoke, Va., as their guest this week in their country home in Virginia.

Mrs. Brown, wife of the postmaster general, closed their apartment in the Shoreham hotel yesterday. She went to New York last night to meet Mr. Brown and sail with him today for the Pacific coast by way of Panama. They will be absent until Sept. 1.

Mrs. Duncan Cameron announced today in Washington and New York the engagement of her elder daughter, Phoebe Quinby, to Señor Conrado Traverso, first secretary of the Argentine embassy. He arrived today at Newport, where Mrs. Cameron and her daughter are in their summer home. The wedding will take place at the end of the month. The Argentine ambassador, Señor Felipe A. Espil, will be the best man. He also will be the guest of Mrs. Cameron in Newport. Miss Quinby's maid of honor at the wedding will be her sister, Miss Elsie Howland Quinby.

GOVERNOR'S BODY TO PLAN WINTER JOBLESS RELIEF

Report and Discussion Is Set for Aug. 17.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Gov. Emmerson has called a meeting of his commission on unemployment and relief for Aug. 17 at the Stevens hotel. This is the commission appointed last November when the business depression became such that it was apparent that an unusual amount of relief would be necessary for those without work and money.

George F. Getz, the chairman, announced yesterday that he will make a report to the governor and the commission on its activities up to Aug. 1. Plans for the coming winter will also be discussed. Social and charity workers predict there will be urgent need for as much relief this winter as was supplied last year. Some predict that even more aid will be required.

Clarke Heads Finance Drive.

Last winter the governor's commission set out to raise $5,000,000 and Philip R. Clarke, president of the General Republic bank, was placed in charge of the campaign. Mr. Clarke had previously led the drive which sold $750,000,000 of Liberty bonds during the war. Within twelve days of February and March of 1930 he directed the raising of $74,000,000 to finance the city, schools, county and other local governments for six months. The $5,000,000 relief drive last winter was started on Nov. 15. It was Feb. 27 of this year before Mr. Clarke reached the goal. The task drained his strength and impaired his health temporarily.

For next winter's relief, it is planned to get started earlier and probably an effort will be made to correlate this campaign with that of various charity organizations. At the meeting Aug. 17, Mr. Getz is expected to present data showing present conditions as well as the trend so that plans may be made accordingly.

Report 369,990 Jobless.

In April, 1930, the federal government, after a hurried census, reported that there were 147,440 persons without work in Chicago, but by January the number was reported to be 369,990.

From fragmentary information so far gathered by Mr. Getz, it appears that the concensus of opinion is that unemployment will not increase to any substantial degree; but it is still thought that a fund as large, if not larger, than the previous one should be provided for this winter.

The extent of the relief needed may be guaged by the fact that the governor's commission reported that in December, 1929, the charitable organizations were aiding 8,783 families, while the commission last December was assisting 51,709 families. These figures were made public Jan. 25 in the campaign to raise the $5,000,000.

Estimate U. S. Unemployed.

On that day the Metropolitan Life Insurance company estimated the unemployed of the nation at 4,500,000. On that same day the governor's commission made an appeal to "the wealthy residents of Chicago for $1,000,000 to aid the starving."

It is understood that Mr. Getz thinks it highly advisable to raise enough money for this winter so that no one can be referred to as starving. He points out that New York raised $8,000,000 last winter, and dispatches from Washington, D. C., indicate that the federal officials will loan blankets and cots for the needy if requested.

ORDERS POURING INTO CITY FROM BUYERS OF U. S.

Wholesalers and manufacturers in the Chicago market were jubilant last night over the orders pouring in from more than 1,500 merchants from 30 states now attending the Merchants' Interstate council at the Palmer house.

ROBERT C. ROSS.

Conservative estimates of the expenditures of these buyers place the amount of their orders at an average of $1,000 each, which would bring the total to a million and a half. Actually, the figure will soar far beyond that, officials of the Association of Commerce declared, as some of the representatives of the larger stores buy far more than the average.

"For the most part, these men represent the type of store doing a gross yearly business of from $150,000 to $200,000," Robert C. Ross, vice president of the Association of Commerce, explained. "Then again some of them will gross as high as $500,000 annually.

"When it comes to collecting specific data about their orders, however, we find ourselves unable to go beyond generalities, because the scope and variety of the Chicago wholesale businesses and manufactures are so extensive it is impossible to gather definite information."

Optimism characterizes the attitude of the visitors. None was exuberant about prospects for the coming season, but practically all expressed a definite conviction that the fall will see business opening up gradually but steadily. Their confidence in this development is reflected in the orders they are leaving behind, for all types of merchandise manufactured here.

MAXWELL HOUSE announces the

VITA-FRESH PROCESS

Now for the first time a packing method which prevents Oxygen from robbing fine coffee of strength and flavor

This is one of the most important announcements in the history of packaged foods.

It not only means much in terms of new enjoyment to the lover of fine coffee, but it makes a luxury coffee a real economy.

With the introduction of the new Vita-Fresh Process, Maxwell House solves a problem that has baffled the coffee industry for years: the problem of preventing rapid deterioration, caused by Oxygen, after roasting.

This greatly advanced new process enables the roasters of Maxwell House to guarantee you strictly fresh coffee at all times, wherever purchased.

Oxygen a greedy racketeer

Coffee flavor, you know, is highly perishable.

And Oxygen, a part of the very air we breathe, is its arch-enemy.

A greedy racketeer, Oxygen attacks coffee as soon as it comes from the roaster, stealing its strength, hijacking its flavor and robbing you of the very elements that put aroma and delight into your coffee cup.

Just read these amazing facts. These facts were established in a leading eastern university and were published in "Food Industries" (September, 1930).

1. Loose or bag coffee loses 65% of its flavor in 9 days after roasting
2. Coffee in old-fashioned cans loses 45% of its flavor in a like period

The Vita-Fresh Process
An improved vacuum method

For many years Maxwell House has wrestled with this perplexing problem.

But not until the discovery of the Vita-Fresh Process has science been able to overcome the steady flavor loss due to Oxygen.

Vacuum packing, of course, was a great step forward.

But even that was not enough to satisfy our food chemists who for months now have been hot on the trail of an improved new method which would bring absolute protection.

Vacuum packing was far superior to old-fashioned methods because it withdrew part of the Oxygen from the can and prevented Oxygen from entering the package after sealing.

According to every yardstick of science, this revolutionary new method is the most nearly perfect process ever developed to preserve the freshness and flavor of fine blended coffee.

The finest coffee now a real economy

If you are a connoisseur of fine coffee flavor, and have been vainly trying to lure the flavor of freshly roasted coffee into your coffee cup by using more than the standard proportions—then the economy of Vita-Fresh Maxwell House Coffee will appeal to you. For now you can use your old proportions for making coffee—yet have that inimitable coffee flavor heretofore impossible, regardless of proportions, unless you had roaster-fresh coffee.

For it can truthfully be stated that Maxwell House Coffee guarded by the Vita-Fresh Process captures and preserves for you the real flavor of freshly roasted coffee.

You judge at our risk

Please don't take our word for this statement. All we ask is that you make the flavor test yourself and be the exclusive judge.

Order a pound of Maxwell House at your grocer's. Prepare it in your usual way. Then if you and your family don't agree that it is the finest coffee you ever drank, if you don't find that you get extra flavor for your money in every pound, simply return the can with the unused portion and the grocer will gladly return your money.

PAY DAY JUST MEANS TRIP TO BANK FOR A'S

Mack Says His Stars Are Thrifty Lads.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 6.—Old Judge Von Ohl was sitting by the pass gate of the Yankee stadium representing the management of the Philadelphia club. The baseball magnates trust one another fully, you understand, but still it is customary for the visiting ball club to keep a representative on the pass gate, possibly for no more actual reason than the government keeps an inspector in Col. Jake Ruppert's near beer plant. Col. Jake wouldn't cheat, but still the government keeps the inspector in his near beer plant and the visiting ball clubs keep a man on his pass gate and he keeps a man on theirs.

Sellers and baseball writers and other unclassified customers were trickling through the pass gate and Judge Von Ohl seemed to be paying as close heed as the man on the gate pulled them off to this checker who sat with a big board, writing them down, "two on the navy," "two on the head," "one B. B.," and so forth.

His Age? Between 60 and 105.

Judge Von Ohl is traffic manager, road secretary or something of the kind for the Philadelphia Athletics, a man somewhere between 60 and 105 years, who lives down on the Jersey shore, not in the hotel belt but in the fish and game country.

He raises bird dogs and sometimes judges field trials. So people call him Judge. He is also a very good judge of Jersey applejack and Maryland corn products. He can handle those big, iron bound ball club trunks with the nimble ease of a grocer's boy juggling a box of crackers. I heard of a row a couple of years ago in which he mulled up, every one of his quarter inch gray wire whiskers twitching like a porcupine's quills, and backed a big, young ball player around a room, threatening to do him serious bodily harm, in an argument about something.

Snake Gets Best of Him.

"Look what a snake did to me," the old judge said, pointing to four blue dots on the back of his left hand near the thumb. "I caught me a pine snake six feet long, or you can have my best dog, and hung him around my neck. Then I got to slapping him on the neck, to make him sort of moose or hiss-like, something like a goose, they go. I must have been holding his head too far back down the neck, because he up and struck me. See those four dots?

"I thought you was coming down to my shack? Better come down this fall. I can show you some of the best dogs you ever saw, and we can get some birds and do a little fishing. Fall time is the time to have fun, anyway, and when it gets cold I've got me some jack that's been hid away in the woods for five years, as smooth as oil now, and one slug just settles all your troubles."

Cronin and Family Arrive.

About 15,000 people were passing through the gates to have a good time at the ball game, but every man to his own pleasure and Judge Von Ohl, who looks at 200 ball games a year, was waiting for the end of the season and the Jersey coast.

"Cronin ought to be along any minute," he said. "He's got his family along with him this trip. There's Mrs. Cronin and his daughter and some friend of the daughter's. He generally comes in the pass gate and sets around in the back row of the stand for fifteen minutes or so before he goes down with the boys."

Connie Mack came in just about then with his family. They went to their seats and the boss went up the ramp to sit in the back row a spell. It was dry and cool on a muggy day. A kid tearing blindly up the ramp

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Carl Reynolds, a fine batsman who has been pretty unhappy of late, came back to his profession in a great big way in the seventh inning of the White Sox opener with the St. Louis Browns yesterday. Carl smacked a homer into the top deck of the left field stands with Billy Sullivan on base, and that gave the Chicagoans just enough to win the ball game, 7 to 6.

There are several important things to record in the matter, and not the least of these is the fact that Pat Caraway was listed as the winning pitcher, though he gave way to a pinch batter in the seventh when the Sox were trailing, 6 to 3. Pat was mighty good in spots and what little poor pitching he did followed fielding mishaps that may have upset him a little, seeing as he has had so much tough luck and so little rest from torture of one kind and another.

Cissell Blows One.

Right off, Cissell fumbled an easy chance on the first batsman and four runs followed. In the fifth, Johnny Watwood, still groggy over a silly muff he made in the third inning, bumped into Lew Fonseca and the stumbling about precipitated a Brownie rally which the Sox were fortunate to hold to two runs.

But Pat's courage never left him, and it was fine that the boys were able to support the long 'un with a three run blast in the first inning and a four run foray which won the battle in the seventh while the verdict still was on his ledger.

Since the game was won with that four run Sox outbreak in the seventh we'll tell you about it now and reserve the recitation of other happenings until later on.

Mr. Jolley Hits Again.

Cissell opened the inning with a single to deep short and Tate walked. Manager Bush sent forth Smead Jolley to hit for Caraway and Stewart came in to relieve Collins as the Brownie pitcher.

Now a few words about this man Jolley. On the trip just closed he was used five times as a pinch batter and his record was a homer and three doubles.

Yesterday afternoon the large fellow made it five deliveries out of six when he singled to right, scoring Cissell and putting Tate on third. Blue hit into a double play, Tate scoring. But the Sox still were behind, 6 to 5. Sullivan singled to left, his second vital hit of the afternoon.

Reynolds had hit into a double play

Chicago's Civil War of 1906 Still Greatest World Series

BY HARVEY WOODRUFF.

What was the greatest baseball world series of all time?

Ask any old time baseball fan of twenty-five years ago and he will tell you there never was and never will be another like that of 1906 between Frank Chance's great Cub machine, then known as "Spuds," and Fielder Jones' White Sox, nicknamed "Hitless Wonders." Looking back through the years to that civic strife, the writer is inclined to agree.

There has been larger attendance since, because baseball parks are larger. There since have been parades through confetti strewn streets, banquets, and civic demonstrations. Never, however, have there been wilder excitement and enthusiasm or more partisanship than between west side, then home of the National leaguers, and the south siders of the American league—all this excitement, enthusiasm, and partisanship intensified many fold because both teams were from the same city. It was a civil war contrasted with a foreign war.

Two Great Teams.

For those whose baseball does not run back to 1906, let us recall the setting. Chance's team had brought to Chicago for the first time in twenty years a National league pennant. It had acquired this championship by winning 116 and losing 36 games, a margin of 20 over its nearest rival, for a percentage of .763, never since equaled. It was a squad of heavy batters with scarcely a weak hitting spot in its lineup, good pitchers, and brilliant fielders, including the "Tinker to Evers to Chance" infield combination, afterward famed in verse. It had beaten the White Sox four games to one in the city series of 1905.

On the other hand, the White Sox had won the first American league pennant since 1902 with 93 victories and 58 defeats, a margin of 3 games over the New York Yankees. These Sox were flashy but at times erratic fielders. They were weak hitters, as batting went, but scored so many runs from hits they did gather that they had earned the name of "Hitless Wonders." That was in part due to a hurling staff headed by Doc White, then at his height, Nick Altrock, Washington's present baseball clown, and Big Ed Walsh, then reaching toward fame as a spitball flinger.

La Salle Street Backs Cubs.

Under these conditions, it was not strange that "Spud" partisans—we prefer to call them Cubs and will hereafter—were confident and sought by twitting and bragging to entice Sox fans to wager, offering 8 to 5, 2 to 1, and even as high as 3 to 1 on a series which proved one of the biggest upsets of baseball up to that time. The Board of Trade Rooters were a Cub organization then and the weight of La Salle street money also lengthened the odds. From the stockyards came the bulk of the Sox betting support.

The city was literally baseball mad. THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE rented the Auditorium and First Regiment armory and there presented on a large replica of a diamond play by play reports of the contests for those fans unable to attend or to gain entrance to the ball yards. There was no admission fee to these halls. When the Auditorium was not available for the two final contests, McVicker's theater was obtained.

Admission Prices Boosted.

So, on "Chicago Day," Oct. 9, the first game was played at the Cubs park before 12,960 spectators who paid the "boosted" admission prices of $1.50, $1, and 50 cents— quite a contrast with present world series prices. It was a raw cold day with the temperature hovering around 50. Fur coats, blankets and steamer rugs were adopted by the congealed fans.

Both teams were at full strength with the exception of Slagle of the Cubs and George Davis, star Sox

REHABILITATION OF FOX RIVER UP TO GOVERNMENT

BY BOB BECKER.

Rated as a navigable stream, which today is blocked by 14 dams between McHenry and Ottawa, the Fox river should be taken in hand by federal and state engineers to restore its navigable state. This is the only conclusion that can be drawn after one has traveled the Fox and seen first hand what this river means to thousands of Chicagoland residents and how much more it could be used by recreationists if the government would step in and put life in this half choked stream.

The Fox Valley federation, speaking for thousands of residents of the Fox valley, is behind this proposal to restore a navigable channel to the Fox, which today hasn't enough water to float any kind of craft.

Water, Water! We Want Water!

Speaking for the federation, which represents Fox river communities, civic bodies, boards, officials, service clubs, industries and residents of the valley, Lester J. Norris, president of the organization, said yesterday:

"The federation heartily endorses THE TRIBUNE'S proposal that federal and state governments rehabilitate the Fox river, with the objective of making it a navigable stream. This engineering work would achieve the two objectives for which we are working. It would bring about an improvement in the sanitation and health problems of the valley by providing more water where now the Fox is so dry that it is a menace. It also would increase the availability of the river for recreationists.

It Would Cost Little.

"Our engineers tell us that by installing either locks or cradle carriers, which can put boats through or over dams, and by regulating flow control through reservoirs, the river can serve industry and at the same time be improved as a source of public recreation.

"The engineers state it is entirely feasible to install at comparatively low expense cradle carriers to lift boats over dams. These are efficient substitutes for locks and dispense with the expense of lock tenders. All of these features are being studied by our engineering staff in coöperation with state and federal authorities."

Norris also pointed out the urgent need for reservoir control of the Fox waters so that the stream will not be dry in one place and then have ten feet of water in another.

It's a Great Playground.

The importance of the Fox river as a recreational center also was stressed yesterday by Harry F. Ferguson, chief sanitary engineer of the state department of public health, who declared that the "Fox river is used more than any other river for recreational purposes and therefore should be made and kept clean."

Talking it Over

BY ARCH WARD.

It seems that the topic of the White Sox as sporting conversation still is explosive enough to disturb the placidity of the citizenry.

J. L. S., who writes that he has been following the Sox since the organization of the American league, sends in the following comment:

"I wonder when the newspapers will get next to themselves and lay off that talk about the undermanned White Sox. I am as interested in the success of the club as any one can be, for I have been a semi-weekly patron at Comiskey park for a quarter of a century.

HAL McKAIN.

"Why not tell the truth about the situation instead of ribbing Comiskey as a nickel pincher? When the Sox started the 1931 campaign they had a pitching staff that in popular estimation was as good as any in the league. How was Comiskey or Bush or Grabiner to know that Moore would contract a contagious disease, that McKain would develop a shoulder injury and that Lyons, one of the best hurlers in the league, would be unavailable for most of the season?

"Add to the club's pitching troubles the loss of Jolley, who last year drove in 110 runs. He counted as heavily in the White Sox attack as Simmons does in the Athletics, if you get what I mean. Reynolds, another good hitter, has been out of the game nearly half of the time.

"The management of the team hardly can be blamed for breaks like that. There unquestionably is a shortage of pitchers but I imagine Comiskey would be glad to buy two or three top ranking chuckers if they could be obtained. A man who has spent $100,000 for players like Kamm and Cissell hardly can be accused of being a tightwad.

"Doesn't it seem reasonable purely from the commercial side that Comiskey would like to have his club up in the race? When it comes to bankrolls I have a feeling that the Old Roman's will stack up pretty well with any of them.

"As I say, I have been watching the Sox and pulling for them when they were up and when they were down. Their building up process will take the same course as on other clubs. It is mainly a matter of luck. Every spring all the major league teams bring in a score of rookies. Occasionally a club gets two or three in one season who make good. Then they have the nucleus for a winner.

"Maybe the darkest days on the south side are over. There seems to be nothing wrong with the latest recruit they picked up, young Billy Sullivan.

"Candidly now, doesn't all this seem reasonable?"

AN AMATEUR SPORT.

You read a lot about the difficulty confronted by governing boards in enforcing amateurism in football, tennis, golf, boxing and basketball, but there seems to be one sport in which clean cut amateurism stands out like the Lindbergh light atop the Palmolive building. That is yachting.

According to Coworker Bartlett, who observed the goings on of the yachtsmen as a guest sailor on the recent race to Mackinac, the thought of monetary reward is abhorrent to nearly all who follow this healthful combination of sport and recreation.

It takes money to own and operate a yacht. Men who go in for this sort of fun are prepared to spend money without any idea of compensation other than the satisfaction of winning races and of being out on the deep.

ANOTHER COMING BACK.

So Benny Leonard is going to try a comeback. It wasn't long ago that one of Benny's old rivals of another decade, Charley White, also attempted a comeback. His return to the fistic wars lasted about a round against a second rater from Kalamazoo. Sammy Mandell, who was coming along to claim Leonard's crown before the king of the lightweights abdicated, also has tried a comeback. He still is at it, but seems to be getting nowhere fast.

Maybe Leonard will have a better fate. Personally I prefer to remember him of days gone by, when he whipped Rocky Kansas and Charley White at Michigan City and stopped Pinky Mitchell at Dexter Park. The latter bout, if you recall, ended in a miniature riot.

Leonard was at his peak when he weighed from 135 to 140 pounds. He plans to campaign now as a welterweight and middleweight. Wonder if he will be able to get out of his own way at that weight.

The ballyhoo buildup calls for Leonard's appearance at Chicago Stadium the latter part of this month. Fans will be able to judge then whether he still has enough on his knuckles to beat second and third raters. Most of the latter group are at least in superb physical condition with youth on their side and attuned to competition.

This is not to say that Benny is not in physical trim. Charley White, too, was confident he was in great shape when he essayed his recent comeback. But condition at 35 is not what it is at 21.

Leonard was a great champion. It would be too bad to have such a glorious career come to a miserable climax.

Primo Carnera Knocks Out De Carlos in Second

Wilmington, Del., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Primo Carnera, giant Italian, added another knockout to his string tonight by disposing of Armando De Carlos, of South America in the second of a scheduled eight round battle. Carnera weighed 272½, De Carlos 187.

NO MORE LEADS SISKIN HOME IN LA SALLE PURSE

BY FRENCH LANE.

No More, the eastern 3 year old son of Friar Rock-One More, shows his heels to our best western sprinters almost every time he steps on the track.

He started doing it way back last May, when he first appeared in Chicago. He still was doing it as late as 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when he galloped to an easy victory in the La Salle handicap at Hawthorne.

Trailing him home were such noted runners as Siskin, Sweet Scent, Ladder, and Epithet, not to mention a few others. And No More never left the result in doubt. He flew to the front at the rise of the barrier and, although challenged desperately and repeatedly, he never once surrendered the lead.

It Was Easy But Not Fast.

At the end he was three-quarters of a length ahead of the fast finishing Siskin, which was making a game and noble comeback. But Suskin was going a bit awkwardly, probably due to his patched up legs.

Sweet Scent, the daughter of Bunting-Bird Call, was third and was running fastest of all in the stretch, but Jockey Riley made his move too late.

It wasn't a fast race, No More scoring his triumph in 1:12 2-5. Both Epithet and No More ran the same route two seconds faster only a fortnight ago at Arlington. But the Hawthorne course is not as fast as the Arlington strip.

No More was the favorite, although there was a plunge on Ladder. No More's mutuel price was $6.58 to win, $3.96 to place, and $2.80 to show. Siskin had few backers and was $9.20 to place and $5.78 to show. Sweet Scent's show price was $4.04.

It seems impossible to keep Frank Chiavetta, the old man of the Hawthorne jockey room, out of the limelight.

And He Bet Nary a Nickel.

Frankie wasn't beaten on a favorite this time. Instead, he was riding a 42 to 1 shot, which was giving a favorite a terrible drubbing, and he charged right on home on the long shot Uma to win by half a length from Crystal Prince, another long shot. He conquered the favorite, Witeon, so completely coming down the stretch that Witeon dropped far back and Lejoy, still another long shot, got third money.

Uma paid $86.68 to win, $30.14 to place and $16.18 to show. Crystal Prince was $9.46 to place and $6.54 to show. Lejoy's show price was $16.40.

Back in May on a track deep in sloppy mud, Uma performed what everybody considered was another turf miracle when she won a debutante stake. That was her last victory until she scored in the six furlong claiming race yesterday. She is owned by Edward Cebrian of California, who didn't have as much as a plugged nickel wagered on her in either contest.

10,000 WATCH ST. BRIDEAUX WIN $7,700 SARATOGA

Society Turns Out for Opening Day.

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Mrs. Payne Whitney's St. Brideaux, by St. Germains, sire of Twenty Grand, won the 29th running of the Saratoga handicap before 10,000 as the month long meeting of the Saratoga association began today. The colt is the first three year old to win the handicap, which yesterday was worth $7,700 to the winner, since Mars scored in 1927. Before that no three year old had won since Purchase in 1919.

Dividing the interest of the society folk and turf followers who welcomed the thoroughbreds back to Saratoga, was the Flash stakes for two year olds, which had it inaugural running in the '60s. James E. Gaffney's Irene's Bob, the colt which won the Juvenile at Belmont Park, took the Flash with its purse of $5,050 from a smart field of a dozen others.

Mrs. Whitney Sees Colt Win.

It was a splendid day for the return of the sport to this course, and many of the best known men and women in the east where at the track. Mrs. Whitney saw her colt win, and among others at the track were Mr. and Mrs. William Ziegler, George H. Bull, Algernon Daingerfield, Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, Willis Sharpe Kilmer, and John Hay Whitney.

St. Brideaux, with Charley Kurtsinger in the saddle, was made the even money favorite and won by two lengths from J. A. Best's Reveille Boy. Four lengths divided Reveille Boy and Morton L. Schwartz's Quarter Deck. The order after that was Hot Toddy, Fleet Flag, Spinach, Tall Spin, and Sandy Ford.

Sandy Ford Takes Lead.

At the start Sandy Ford was rushed out into the lead, but after the swing into the back stretch Reveille Boy took the lead, with Quarter Deck, St. Brideaux, and Spinach close up.

Skirting the far turn, Reveille Boy opened up more of a lead, with Spinach and Quarter Deck giving St. Brideaux plenty of opposition farther back. At the top of the stretch Reveille Boy still was on top, but St. Brideaux now had shaken off Spinach and Quarter Deck and was in earnest chase of the leader. The stretch run at first was a hard duel, and Kurtsinger used his whip to get to Reveille Boy. Once level with that colt, however, he took things easy and coasted across the line an easy winner in 2:04. The fractions follow: 0:23 3-5, 0:49, 1:13 1-5, 1:38 1-5, 1:51 1-5, and 2:04.

Peter Patch Wins Famous Oaks Purse

Hartford, Conn., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Winning three heats, Peter Patch, from the Arthur G. Lord stable, Nyack, N. Y., captured the historic $5,000 Charter Oak here today.

He pulled out in front in each heat after the field had swept through the upper turn, fighting off challanging sprints by Bob Galloway, Calumet Armistice and Hollywood Susan.

The victory grossed the Peter Patch team $2,750. Will Hodson, leading driver on the Bay state circuit this season, piloted the big stake winner. Bob Galloway, Harry Stokes driving, took second. Summaries:

TWO-YEAR-OLD PACE, 2 IN 3, PURSE $1,500:

RAY TRAMBLIE WINS DECISION OVER HANSON

Ray Tramblie, Rockford, Ill., middleweight, won a ten round decision over Haakon Hansen, Chicago Norwegian, last night at Shewbridge field. Tramblie easily won the first five rounds, flooring Hansen in the first round.

Glenn Camp, Kewanee, Ill., lightweight, defeated Paddy Waltier, Chicago, in the six round semi-windup. Young Suhley, also of Kewanee, won from Mickey O'Shea in six rounds. Bill Baker knocked out Bobby Vernon in the second round, and Bobby Allen defeated Small Change in the four round opener.

FAVORITES HAVE BETTERS TALKING TO THEMSELVES

The favorite players at Hawthorne are beginning to think that figures do not always tell the truth. Only five favorites have won during the running of thirty races on the first four days of the Hawthorne season.

The choices that delivered the goods were Dick Morris, Black Comet, Stimulate, Sun Fire, and Modern Times, all selling platers.

Eight rivals are going to try to take the measure of Sun Beau in the $25,000 added Hawthorne handicap tomorrow afternoon. They are Mike Hall, Plucky Play, Brown Wisdom, Paul Bunyan, Battleship, Silverdale, The Nut, and Satin Spar.

John Schank, president of the Hawthorne association, was pleading with the weather man last night for plenty of sunshine and a fast track. He is afraid that if the going should turn muddy Sun Beau may dodge the issue.

Risque, the Arlington Matron stakes winner, made her first appearance of the Saratoga season this afternoon in the Test stakes, a 3 year old filly affair. It is sort of a warm up for the Alabama stakes, to be run later in the season. The Chicago filly will rule as the favorite in today's struggle.

Business is on the upgrade at Hawthorne, if the new place and show totalizator in the infield is telling the truth. It showed at the end of yesterday's races that a total of $235,468 had been wagered to place and show on the eight races. This is about $18,000 more than has been wagered to place and show during any of the earlier days of the season. The fifth race, won by Givanna and engaging a field of seven, was the heaviest betting number. There was a total of $31,974 wagered to place and show, much of it on the favorite, Oscillation, which finished third.

There was great happiness out on the northwest side last night. For Barney Kaufmann's selling plater, Shady Rest, had won the seventh race at Hawthorne, at odds of 33 to 1. There was a time when Shady Rest was the only horse in the Kaufmann stable. It was the first time this year the Kaufmann jacket has been carried to victory.

"If Pittsburgher was on edge we wouldn't fear Sun Beau nor any man's horse," Trainer Moody said. Pittsburgher's first Hawthorne start will be in the Fort Dearborn handicap, an event for 3 year olds, to be run one week from tomorrow.

STONEHOUSE AND M'INTYRE TIE IN GOLF PLAYOFF

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Ralph Stonehouse and Neal McIntyre, who finished even up with 296 for their four regulation rounds ending yesterday, waged another even struggle today in what was to have been the overtime deciding match of the Indiana open golf tournament. Each took 72, one over par, on a round with as thrilling a finish as has been afforded Indianapolis galleries for many years.

A 15 foot putt on the last hole enabled Stonehouse to keep in the running today. Even with McIntyre at the 18th tee, his drive on the treacherous last fairway was as good as McIntyre's, but his second shot was short and to the right of the green. His opponent was just on the green, 40 feet from the cup, on his second.

Stonehouse's approach stopped 15 feet from the pin. McIntyre, trying hard for an eagle three, missed by just a fraction of an inch. He holed out in 4. Stonehouse sank his putt to even the match.

PATRICK TO FIGHT SALTIS TONIGHT IN DENEMARK SHOW

Mickey Patrick, East Chicago boxer, and Bud Saltis, north side slugger, will meet in the windup of the boxing show at Denemark stadium, 21st street and Kostner avenue, tonight. Promoter Billy Cepak signed the match for eight rounds at 162 pounds.

Although Patrick is only 19 years of age he has engaged in 29 professional encounters, winning 22, fighting 2 draws and losing 5. His most recent victory was over Jud Judkins. His best win was scored over Tuffy O'Dowd of Pocatello, Idaho.

Four six rounders will round out the card.

Calumet Bush Trots Mile in 2:04½ During Workout

TURNER-LAWSON DUEL FEATURES NET MEET TODAY

Douglas Turner, University of Illinois, will meet Ted Lawson, Chicago, in the quarter final round of the United States open tennis tournament at Washington park this afternoon. Turner defeated Dudley Woodward of Washington, D. C., yesterday, 6-1, 6-1.

Other matches will have Dr. M. H. Gaff, West Virginia, meeting C. H. Parrish of Louisville, Ky., and Richard Hudlin of St. Louis paired with Wilbur Clarke, Chicago Normal college. Wilfred Jones, Boston, will meet Tom Brown, Kansas City, in another quarter-final match. Yesterday's results:

Blake Hurls 3d Victory, but Needs Help.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Fred Blake pitched his third straight victory for the Phillies today, but, as in the other triumphs, he failed to finish. He scored a 6 to 4 decision over the Giants, who brought on his removal by threatening to tie the score in the ninth inning.

The Phillies hammered John Berly and Red Parmalee when the hits counted. By beating the Giants today, Blake helped the Cubs, his old teammates, to retain second place in the National league. Score:

South Chicago Legion Juniors Face Zeigler

South Chicago, Cook county champion, will meet Zeigler, Ill., which won the downstate title last Sunday, in the first of a best two out of three game series at Wrigley field this afternoon at 3 o'clock for the Illinois state championship of the American Legion Junior baseball league.

The second contest will be played tomorrow at Wrigley field, with the third game, regardless of the outcome of the first two games, scheduled on the baseball grounds at Edward Hines Jr. Memorial hospital, Speedway, Ill. Proceeds of the third game will be donated to the hospital.

The Chicagoans went through light practice yesterday on their home grounds. They defeated Marine post on Tuesday, 11 to 4, and won from Berwyn, 8 to 6, for the county title on Wednesday.

Their hopes for victory this afternoon will rest on 15 year old Frank Mikrchey, whose hitting and pitching has helped South Chicago in its drive toward the championship. Mc Kinley struck out 18 in South Chicago's victory over Marine post, and pitcher Berwyn made two hits, one driving in two runs, in three times at bat.

The boys from the southern Illinois mining town, 1928 and 1930 state champions, won 23 games in their 26 game schedule this year in winning the downstate title. Although winning 21 games in 1929, Zeigler was eliminated in the second game of the state finals.

ZEIGLER ON WAY.

RUTH HITS NO. 30 AS YANKS WHIP ATHLETICS, 5 TO 3

New York, Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Babe Ruth hit his 30th home run of the season today as the Yankees defeated the Philadelphia Athletics, 5 to 3. The circuit drive came in the fifth inning off Walberg, but the real damage was done in the opening inning when New York scored four runs.

Gomez held the Mackmen in check until the ninth, when Henry Johnson was called in to halt a rally which netted the A's two runs. Score:

Chicago's Civil War of 1906 Still Greatest World Series

shortstop, who was unable to enter the Sox lineup until the fourth game. Chance's lineup for the opener was:

Manager Fielder Jones presented Hahn, rf; Jones, cf; Isbell, 2b; Rohe, 3b; Donohue, 1b; Dougherty, lf; Sullivan, c; Tannehill, ss; Altrock, p.

Sox Win First Game.

The game was a tight pitching duel between Three Fingered Mordecai Brown, Cub pitching ace, and Nick Altrock, who allowed four hits each. The first run came in the fifth inning when Frank Rohe, utility man pressed into service, drove the ball into the left field seats for three bases under the ground rules. Donohue struck out. Then Dougherty took a mighty swing. The ball rolled only a few feet in front of the plate and Brown, a great fielding pitcher, rushed in and tossed the ball to Kling, best catcher in the league. Kling dropped the throw and Rohe was safe. In the following inning, Jones hit safely and was scored by Isbell.

Kling opened the Cub half with a walk. Brown hit safely. Hofman sacrificed the runners to second and third. Then Kling scored on Altrock's wild pitch, and Brown rested on third. Tannehill ran back to snare Sheckard's high fly and held Brown at third. Schulte hit to Rohe, who made a wide, low throw to first, but Jiggs Donohue stretched out his mitt, fell flat on his back in making the catch but kept his heel on the base to retire the side. That was all, and the first game had been bagged by the White Sox, 2 to 1.

Cubs Take Second, 7 to 1.

On the following day at the south side park, then located at 39th street and Wentworth avenue, the Cubs won, 7 to 1, with Reulbach holding the Sox to two hits, while Doc White was driven from the slab in the third inning and was succeeded by Owen. Westsiders then chirped, "I told you so; class will tell."

The third game, played with the thermometer in the 30s, was won by the Sox, 3 to 0. Walsh, for the Sox, confined the Cubs to two hits and struck out 12. Jack Pfiester struck out nine White Hose, but one hit by the series hero, Rohe, did the business.

Tannehill opened the sixth with a single, Walsh walked. Then Hahn was hit by a pitched ball and suffered a broken nose. O'Neill took his place while Hahn was removed to a hospital. Rohe then drove past Sheckard and the ball bounded into the left field seats for three bases and three runs, which won the ball game.

The Cubs won the fourth game, evening the series, 1 to 0, Brown and Altrock opposing. Chance's single, sacrifices by Steinfeldt and Tinker, and Evers' single produced the only run.

Sox Come Back in Fifth.

Although making six errors in a wabbly game, the Sox acquired the fifth game, 8 to 6. Walsh started and was succeeded by White. Reulbach started for the Cubs and was relieved by Pfiester.

Baseball fans by this time were just plain "out patients of Bedlam," according to a favorite expression of I. E. [Sy] Sanborn, who, with Charles Dryden, who died last spring, was THE TRIBUNE baseball staff of that period. And here is where the writer of this article has opportunity to get into the picture and to use the personal pronoun. Sanborn, under the tense strain and a heavy cold contracted in the raw weather, collapsed, and his physician forbade even his attendance at the final game. Dryden wrote the humorous side of the picture and declined to be serious.

Hence it was that E. S. Sheridan, then sporting editor and now of THE TRIBUNE telegraph desk, called my home on Sunday morning. I was then secretary and treasurer of the Western Jockey club, controlling body of middle western racing, and did not, of course, work Sundays. I had been trying to think of some adequate excuse to convince my good Christian mother that I should attend a Sunday ball game.

Came the telephone call and Sheridan's request that I return to my former harness for that day, as he would be too busy with pictures and handling copy to write the story himself. I remember the opening sentence of my story as well now as twenty-four years ago. It started "White Sox, World Champions of 1906, to be emblazoned on pennants and blankets next season, was spelled out in actual play yesterday," etc.

Cubs Routed in Final Game.

At White Sox park, 19,249 persons crowded into the enclosure before the gates were closed long before 1 o'clock. The game was a rout of the Cubs, 8 to 3. Doc White officiated for the Sox, while Mordecai Brown for the Cubs was driven from the mound in the second inning, which ended with a White Sox margin of 7 to 1. Thereafter until the finish, White Sox partisans tooted tin horns, rang cowbells, shouted through megaphones, and counted the score in unison after the manner of college crowds.

That night there were wild scenes in loop cafés. On the south side a huge parade of fans formed and tramped to the homes of various players and Manager Jones and would not leave until speeches had been made. Owner Comiskey established himself at a favorite haunt, pulled out $2,000 in currency and said he would not leave until it was all spent. There were plenty about to help him spend it.

Winners Get $1,945.

Total attendance for the series was 99,845. The White Sox pool, 75 per cent of the players' share, amounted to $25,051.23, to which Owner Comiskey added a $15,000 bonus, yielding each of twenty-one eligible players the sum of $1,945.29 at a time when $4,000 and $5,000 salary per annum was paid only to topnotchers.

Such is the story of perhaps the greatest world series of all time—certainly the greatest series of all time up to the present, so far as Chicago is concerned. What would happen if the fates ever decree another world series between Cubs and Sox we leave to the future.

REYNOLDS HITS HOMER; SOX BEAT ST. LOUIS, 7 TO 6

his last previous time up and was feeling pretty mean when he went to bat. He was so mad that he knocked the ball 25 feet higher in the left field stand than he had to. And that was the victory swat.

There were seven runs in the first inning—four for the Browns and three for the Sox—but the Sox came out of the inning with a manager, whereas the Brownies didn't, Bill Killefer being bounced for getting too sassy to Umpire Campbell.

Cissell opened the long home stay by taking a good kick at Schulte's easy grounder. Melilo singled to left and Schulte stopped at second; then Goslin walked, filling the bases. Kress doubled past third, Schulte and Melilo scoring and Goslin stopping at third. Storti singled off Sullivan's glove, Goslin scoring and Kress taking third. Burns grounded to Blue, but Kress scored on Ferrell's fly to Watwood. Levey popped to Kerr.

Sullivan Starts Attack.

The Sox' first inning offensive started with Blue being called out on a close play after grounding to Melilo. Sullivan followed with a single to right and Reynolds grounded to Levey, who juggled the ball in his anxiety to start a double play. Eventually he got hold of the ball and threw to first. Umpire Campbell said the throw was too late to get Reynolds, and this is where Manager Killefer said his piece and got chased for his eloquence. Sullivan and Reynolds put on a double steal, but Fonseca fanned.

However, Watwood singled past third, Sullivan scoring and Reynolds taking third. Kerr doubled over Kress' head, scoring Reynolds and Watwood. Melilo went into right field to get Cissell's fly.

The stage was set for the White Sox to do a lot of business in the third inning, but the first of the Brownie's three double plays spoiled things. Reynolds walked with one out and went to third on Fonseca's single to right center. The bases were full when Watwood beat out a tap in front of the plate. Collins pitched three balls, then a strike to Kerr. Johnny hit the next one right back to Collins and an easy double play ensued.

Storti Gets Gift Double.

The Brownie's probably thought they had won the struggle after their didoes in the fifth. With one out Storti sent a fly to left which Fonseca probably would have caught with ease, but Watwood came charging into him and it dropped for a double. Kerr made a nice stop of Burns' infield hit, but he made a wide throw to first which enabled Storti to score. Ferrell singled to right and Burns went to third. Burns scored and Ferrell stopped at third on Levey's double to left, but Blue got Collins' grounder and started a run down of Ferrell between third and home, and Schulte forced Collins.

RECEIPTS $9,582 FOR ROSENBLOOM, SLATTERY FIGHT

New York, Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Although Maxey Rosenbloom did not make enough out of his 15-round title scrap with Jimmy Slattery last night at Ebbets field, Brooklyn, to pay for a session at one of his favorite night clubs, Promoter Jimmy Johnston didn't lose very much even if the net receipts amounted to only $9,582.23.

"I certainly fared better than Rosenbloom did," Johnston said. "I had the honor of putting on the world's worst fight and of proving that Rosenbloom was positively the champion of Slattery. Well, Max, tell the boys what you got for your labor."

Whereupon Maxey reluctantly admitted that after expenses and a lot of other deductions from his purse of $3,372 he had about $600.

ARGUMENT OVER NEW SOX FIELDER BEFORE LANDIS

Springfield, Mo., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Minneapolis' protest over the sale of Outfielder A. B. Wright of Muskogee, leading slugger of the Western association, to the Chicago White Sox has been placed before Commissioner Landis for a decision, according to word received from Manager Mike Kelly today. A decision is expected on the case within two or three days. In the event Minneapolis wins the protest, it will call in Wright immediately.

Lehman's 153 Wins Low Gross In District Meet

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Chicago's official golfing family held a reunion at the Oak Park Country club yesterday, the 18th annual club relations tournament of the Chicago District Golf association being the occasion. The day's play was restricted to officers of the association's member clubs so that for once presidents, vice presidents, secretaries, treasurers and other executives throughout the district had an opportunity to match their skill.

JOHNNL LEHMAN.

It took the youngest member of the family, Johnny Lehman of Olympia Fields, competing as a member of the association's official handicap committee, to shoot the best 36 holes of the day. The former western amateur champion was around in the morning with a 74, two over par, but slipped a bit in the afternoon for a 79 and a total of 153. Al Hale of Medinah, who won Butterfield's annual cruise Wednesday, was second with 157.

Medinah Wins Plaque.

Low net went to C. A. Shourney of Brookwood, who turned in a card of 130—40—140. Next in line were a pair of Medinah officials, C. A. Ziebarth, with 167—26—141, and Frank Baker, with 164—18—146.

Medinah won the C. D. G. A. plaque for the best afternoon gross by a club foursome. The winning quartet was composed of Hale, Baker, Zelbarth and Erwin Roemer, who had a combined total of 338. The home club was second with 346.

Four Class Competition.

Competition for the individual rounds was divided into four classes, A for presidents; B for vice presidents, secretaries and treasurers, C for directors, and D for former and present officers of the Chicago District Golf association. The prize list follows:

FRENCH GAMING CASINOS DEMAND TAX MORATORIUM

Claim Revenue in "Kitty" Has Dwindled.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Aug. 6.—Something new in the line of moratoriums sprang up today when the gambling casinos of France formally petitioned Premier Laval for their right to hold back one-third of this year's taxes due the government until parliament could enact relief legislation for their benefit.

The "big wheel and ball" men declare that they have been hit below the belt by the increasing rapaciousness of the government by muscling in on their racket at a time when their business has been cut 60 per cent by the world crisis. The tax on which they are asking a partial moratorium amounts from 2% to 75 per cent of the cagnotte or "kitty," represented by the house's cut on every spin of the wheels or turn of the card. The income from this source alone, not counting special licenses, luxury, corporation property and gross revenue taxes, brings the government $6,000,000.

Fear Loss of Tourists.

The casino men claim that if a moratorium is not granted, every licensed gambling establishment in France will be forced to close, depriving the state of this important source of revenue and working great damage to the hotels and railroads. As a further argument it is pointed out that the closing of the French casinos would send a large part of the tourist trade to other countries, notably Germany, where a big gambling casino opposition campaign now looms.

The scarcity of American tourists and the scarcity of money in the pockets of those tourists, who do find their way to Deauville, Le Toquet, and other resorts, is given as the principal reason for being unable to meet the government's tax demands.

The gambling chiefs, however, also complain of the increased overhead, necessitated by competition and which requires them to put out all sorts of special attractions to draw tourists. It is well known that, despite the high prices, the bars, the bathing beaches, tennis courts, swimming pools, dance orchestras, and what not, have been run at a loss to lure tourists to the tables.

Beauties Cost Money, Too.

And the upkeep of the bevies of professional beauties who help the visitors spend their money is a serious drain on the gambling budget in itself.

The petition was presented this afternoon by deputies representing all the districts of France where licensed gambling exists.

LONDON, Aug. 6.—The Saturday Review, one of the most famous of England's weeklies, will appear for the last time on Aug. 15, after which it will merge with the "Spectator."

The paper has not prospered since March, 1931, when after a disagreement with the proprietors and its editor, virtually the entire staff resigned to found "a week end review." It was alleged at the time that Lord Beaverbrook had given financial backing to the paper and had ordered a sudden change in its editorial policy.

The disappearance of the Saturday Review leaves only three political weeklies now in the British field—the Spectator Week End, News Statesman and the Nation.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Write Just Around the Corner

MRS. GARRAGHAN, NATIVE OF CITY, IS DEAD AT 88

Mrs. Bedelia Kehoe Garraghan, one of Chicago's oldest native born residents, died yesterday in the Belmont hotel. She was 88 years old.

Mrs. Garraghan was born on March 2, 1843, in a house on Canal street near Washington street. Her father, Michael Kehoe, was one of Chicago's first aldermen. He later had an active part in unearthing the famous canal-scrip fraud of the fifties.

During her childhood, Mrs. Garraghan attended old Mercy academy on Wabash avenue, having for her schoolmates the daughters of the Pottawattomie Indian chief, Alexander Robinson. She was an honorary member of the Chicago Historical society and furnished many recollections of Chicago in the early days.

Mrs. Garraghan is survived by two sons, the Rev. Gilbert J. Garraghan, S. J., of St. Louis university, and Dr. Edward F. Garraghan of Chicago. Funeral services will be held at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning in St. Ignatius church, Glenwood and Loyola avenues.

GEORGE SCHMITT, MINERAL WATER MERCHANT, DIES

Funeral services for George Joseph Schmitt, founder and president of Hinckley & Schmitt, mineral water concern, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 from the home at 6138 Sheridan road. He died yesterday in the Edgewater hospital after a two weeks' illness at the age of 64 years. Mr. Schmitt attended the Illinois College of Pharmacy at Northwestern university. He came to Chicago in 1885 from Beardstown, where he worked in a drug store. He helped found the firm bearing his name in 1903. Mr. Schmitt was a member of the Chicago Athletic association, the Chicago Yacht, and Edgewater Golf clubs. He is survived by his widow, Charlotte, and son, Victor T. Schmitt. Burial will be at Rosehill cemetery.

WCFL READY TO PAY CITY FOR USE OF ELECTRICITY

Edward N. Nockels, secretary of the Chicago Federation of Labor, said yesterday that the federation's radio station WCFL stands ready to pay the bill for the city's electricity it has been using at Navy pier.

For five years, the Cermak administration says, the station has been drawing its current from city lines and the recent installation of a meter shows that the bill runs about $300 a month. At that rate the total used in five years would be $18,000.

Under the five year agreement between the city and WCFL, which was renewed last spring for another five years, the station is obligated to pay for the electricity used. City officials are preparing to present the bill.

FINAL SERVICES FOR MISS LAVARON WILL BE TONIGHT

Funeral services for Miss Leonide C. Lavaron, designer of jewelry, who died on Wednesday, will be held at 8:30 o'clock tonight in the chapel at 6237 Normal avenue. She will be buried tomorrow.

Many Chicagoans, some of them prominent in social and art circles, are expected to attend. The funeral is made possible through the temporary aid of these friends, among them Mrs. J. B. Zielinski, former president of the Polish Arts club, and W. A. Campbell, owner of the mortuary.

When Miss Lavaron died some of these friends banded to defray funeral expenses. However, these expenses, it is believed, will be more than covered when Miss Lavaron's estate is settled. She left a collection of handwrought jewelry.

R. L. DOUGLAS OF MEYER BOTH CO. DIES IN SLEEP

Robert Lindsay Douglas, 52 years old, special field representative of the Meyer Both company, advertising service concern, died of heart disease in his sleep yesterday. He was known in newspaper and retail advertising circles. The widow, Mrs. Florence Green Douglas, is in Bloomington, and funeral services will be held in that city at a time to be announced later.

200,000 Sign Petitions to Bar Amos 'n' Andy from Air

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Robert L. Vann, Negro attorney and publicher, said today he would ask the federal radio commission and the United States District court in Illinois to ban "Amos 'n' Andy" from the air. Vann, who said he had petitions signed by more than 200,000 persons, described the radio sketch as a "reflection on a race of people who believe they are doing a little better than 'Amos 'n' Andy' are doing with the 'Fresh Air Taxicab company.'"

Pet Cat Which Submitted to Operation Is Doing Well

Tom, the yellow-streaked pet cat at Haffner's pharmacy, 1358 Devon avenue, who was operated on Tuesday for a fractured jaw, was reported yesterday as getting along well. The cat is able to eat without assistance. Since the story of the cat's operation was published many persons have called to see him. Others have telephoned to inquire about his condition.

DOCTOR ASSERTS DISEASE DOOMS BANDIT'S MOTHER

Sentence of death already has been passed upon Mrs. Anna Baranski, the 57 year old grandmother accused by the Irving Park police of aiding her son, John, in numerous robberies. It was learned yesterday from physicians in the Bridewell hospital that Mrs. Baranski has only a few months to live, due to cancer.

"It is only a matter of time, perhaps a few months, before she joins her son in death," said Dr. Kenneth J. Rierlain.

John Baranski, former convict and the son of Mrs. Baranski, was shot to death by Patrolman Fred W. Kretschmer while he was fleeing after the robbery of a real estate office in Irving Park boulevard last week. Mrs. Baranski was found in the automobile her son had abandoned. With Harold Marcelle and her son she was said to have participated in a series of holdups in which she entered the stores first and then beckoned to her accomplices if the coast was clear.

She was taken to the Bridewell hospital after she had collapsed at the Shakespeare station from a hemorrhage. Yesterday she was better and was permitted to leave the hospital, but there is no hope for her, according to the doctors.

3,000 MEN FIGHT FIRES IN FOREST FANNED BY WIND

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Heavy winds hurled flames over the fire lines in the Priest River conflagration today, and the weather bureau here reported the situation hazardous.

More than 3,000 men were in the trenches of north Idaho, Montana, and eastern Washington fighting fires.

Relief workers said children of one family were ill, so their parents buried them in earth and sprinkled water over their heads to temper the heat of the blazing timber.

Rain Lessens Fire Hazard.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Although steady rain and a subsiding of winds combined to lessen the forest fire menace in British Columbia today, every able bodied man in the southern Okanagan valley has been pressed into service since last night to halt the march of a serious blaze at Oliver, near the international boundary.

HAUPT, ACTOR, PRODUCER, SLAIN ON HUNTING TRIP

Santa Barbara, Cal., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Ulirich Haupt, 43, for years prominent as an actor, playwright, theater owner, and producer in this country and Germany, was fatally wounded late yesterday while on a deer hunting trip in an isolated section 50 miles north of here.

Meager reports from the camp on Figuroa mountain, said Carl Anderson, Haupt's chauffeur, was unloading a gun and accidentally discharged it. The bullet struck Haupt.

Son of State Representative Benson Drowns at Ottawa

Ottawa, Ill., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—The body of Frederick Benson, 16 years old, son of State Representative Ole Benson of the 39th senatorial district, who was drowned in the Illinois river this afternoon, was recovered tonight. The youth died when he attempted to leap ten feet from his motor boat to a barge, a mile and a half east of the Ottawa bridge. He, his brother Floyd, his cousin Robert Berge, and James Catlin were in the boat. When it was feared the boat would hit the barge young Frederick leaped, but failed to land upon the barge.

FATHER CAVALLO DIES; RECEIVED HONOR RECENTLY

The Rev. Michael Cavallo, pastor of the Holy Rosary Roman Catholic church, died suddenly yesterday in the rectory at 612 North Western avenue. He had been ailing for several months.

Only three weeks ago Father Cavallo was notified that he had been awarded the title of Chevalier to the Royal Italian Crown by the king of Italy for his meritorious services to Italian Americans. The emblem was to be presented formally by the Italian consul at a banquet next month. Last Tuesday the clergyman officiated at memorial services for the Duke d'Oasta, kin of the king.

The Rev. Father Cavallo was 44 years old. He was born in Brooklyn and studied at the American college in Rome. He became pastor of the Holy Rosary church fifteen years ago and built it up to a position of affluence.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday morning, with Cardinal Mundelein officiating. The body will lie in state at the church from Sunday to Tuesday. Burial will be at Mount Carmel cemetery. Surviving Father Cavallo is his father, Pasquale Cavallo, of 834 Gunderson avenue, Oak Park.

HERBERT S. IDE, PRESIDENT OF SHIRT CO., DEAD

Troy, N. Y., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Herbert Savage Ide, president of the shirt and collar manufacturing firm of George P. Ide & Co., died here today after a short illness.

Mr. Ide was a son of George Peck Ide, founder of the industry which bears his name, and Mary Ella Savage Ide, and was born in Troy Jan. 14, 1870. He was a graduate of Williams college. He was active in various civics philanthropic and educational affairs of his native city as well as in banking.

At the time of his death he was a director of the Manufacturers' bank of Troy, trustee of Troy Savings bank, and a director and vice president of the Security Safe Deposit company.

Blade of Grass Punctures Lung of Boy, 2; He Dies

A blade of grass, swallowed on July 23, caused the death of Farrell Lasky, 2 years old, 2643 South Keeler avenue, a coroner's jury decided yesterday. The child died on Tuesday at the Michael Reese hospital. Evidence submitted at the inquest indicated that the blade of grass punctured Farrell's lung, and that an infection developed. The child swallowed the grass somewhere in Ohio while on a trip with his parents.

SOL SHONINGER, CLOTHING TRADE PIONEER, DEAD

Funeral services for Sol H. Shoninger, for many years a leader in the development of Chicago as a center of the clothing industry, will be held at 10 o'clock Monday from the chapel at 936 East 47th street, with burial in the Free Sons' cemetery at Waldheim. Mr. Shoninger, who was 73 years old, died early yesterday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Cahn, 202 Vine avenue, Highland Park.

Mr. Shoninger was born in New York and came to Chicago the year after the great fire. He became a manufacturer of infants' wear and was active in the Association of Commerce and in other movements to foster coöperation between retailers, wholesalers and manufacturers in developing the city as an apparel marketing center.

His widow, with whom he celebrated their golden wedding anniversary two years ago, and five daughters survive. The family home is at 5026 Woodlawn avenue.

SIGNS OF TURN FOR BETTER ARE SEEN IN STEEL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 6.—Indications of a turn for the better in the steel industry were seen today in a statement by W. C. Conger, vice president of the Truscon Steel company of Youngstown, O., in making public the report of earnings for the June quarter and the first six months of the year.

"We feel that there is a decided tendency toward revival of business, basing our opinion on the increased inquiries and volume coming to us," said Mr. Conger.

The Truscon Steel company reported a net profit for the June quarter of $1,051, compared with a net loss for the first quarter of $341,403. Second quarter gross income was $5,711,026, against $5,713,876. The June quarter net was equal to $1.74 a share on 5,150 shares of 7 per cent preferred stock outstanding. In the June quarter of 1930 the company earned a net profit of $670,281, which not only covered preferred dividend requirements but left a balance of $2 cents a share on the common stock.

Six Months' Loss.

The statement for the six months ended June 30 showed a net loss of $99,886, which compared with a net profit of $132,185 in the first half of last year, equivalent to 92 cents a share on the common stock after preferred dividends. The Truscon Steel company is one of the largest fabricators of heavy steel in the country.

Another steel company, American Steel Foundries, also reported an improvement in net for the June quarter compared with the first three months of the year. It showed a profit of $1,014 after depreciation, federal taxes, and minority interest, equal to $.14 a share on the preferred stock. This compared with a profit of $66,396, or $1.05 a share on the preferred stock, earned in the March quarter. In the June quarter, 1930, the company earned net of $1,120,078, or $1.02 a share on the common stock, after allowing for prefered dividends. For the six months ended June 30 net was $6,070, or $2.21 a share on the preferred stock. In the first half of 1930 net was $2,139,538, or $1.93 a share on the common stock after preferred dividends.

Republic Co. Cuts Salaries.

Following the recent announcement by the United States Steel corporation that salaries of officers and employes would be reduced, the Republic Steel corporation today revealed that it had reduced salaries of officials, mill executives, department heads and employes in the higher income brackets by 10-24 per cent.

The U. S. Steel corporation has not announced what the extent of the cut in salaries would be, but it has been learned that the cuts would range from 10 to 15 per cent, according to the amount of salary received, and that the cut would go into effect Aug. 15.

The Republic Steel corporation is the third largest steel organization in the United States. It was organized by Cyrus S. Eaton of Cleveland and associates in 1929.

Little Change in Backlog.

New York, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Dow, Jones & Co., says present indications are there will be little change in either direction in unfilled orders of the U. S. Steel corporation as of July 31, scheduled for publication at noon today.

"Reports of subsidiaries for the last few days of the month are still to come," Dow, Jones says, "and they may have a slight influence on the showing. If there was an increase in the average rate of buying in those days it will permit a moderate gain in bookings, but this is by no means certain."

Timken Roller Bearing Cuts Dividend Rate

Timken Roller Bearing company stock was placed on $2 annual dividend basis yesterday as compared with $3 formerly, when directors declared a quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share.

The company reported earnings for the six months ended June 30 of $2,462,714, as compared with $6,120,023 in the like months of 1930. June quarter profits amounted to $1,148,075, against $1,314,639 in the preceding quarter and $3,013,364 in the same period last year. Six months' earnings were equivalent to $1.03 a share as compared with $2.54 a share in the first six months of 1930. June quarter net was equivalent to 54 cents a share, as compared with $1.25 in the corresponding quarter last year.

The company has received an order from the Pennsylvania railroad for $400,000 of bearings to equip 150 new electric locomotives.

Now on Dollar Basis.

A quarterly dividend of 25 cents was declared on the common stock of A. G. Spalding & Brothers, placing the stock on a $1 annual basis, compared with $2 paid previously. A reduced sales volume of 15 per cent, the company stated, coupled with the uncertainty in general business, influced the directors to take this action "for the best interests of the company and for the maintenance of its present favorable cash position."

Bucyrus-Erie company omitted the quarterly dividend of 25 cents on the common and the 62½ cents quarterly dividend on the convertible preference stock, due at this time. The regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 was declared on the 7 per cent preferred stock.

Hart Schaffner & Marx announced yesterday that the regular quarterly dividend of $1 a share on the common stock of the company would be paid Aug. 31 to holders of record Aug. 15.

Reports Operating Profit.

Federated Metals corporation reports for the six months ended May 31, 1931, an operating profit of $195,431 before interest charges, depreciation, etc. This compares with an operating loss of $285,344, before similar charges, for the corresponding period of the previous fiscal year. After all charges, including a reserve for market fluctuations, in connection with metal inventories, of $982,923, a net loss of $991,166 is reported for the six months ended May 31, 1931.

The balance sheet as of that date shows total current assets of $6,966,751.85, including cash of $689,374, compared with total current liabilities of $471,527.

RAIL EARNINGS REPORTED LESS BY 100 MILLION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—The class 1 railroads of the country today advised the bureau of railway economics that their net income for the first six months of 1931 had dropped more than 100 million dollars from their earnings in the same period of last year.

According to the road's report, the net operating income of class 1 roads in the first six months of 1931 was $238,550,140, as compared with $377,379,211 in the same period of 1931. The report is based on figures submitted from 171 roads operating over a total of 242,878 miles.

Gross operating revenues showed a similar decrease, it was reported, declining by 18.8 per cent. Operating expenses for the six-month period, however, likewise declined by 17.2 per cent from the same period of last year.

A decrease of 8.6 per cent from the amount of taxes paid in the first six months of 1930 also was reported for the first half of this year.

Sears, Roebuck & Co. Plans $535,000 for Construction

Expenditure of $535,000 for new construction was announced yesterday by Sears, Roebuck & Co. A $300,000 addition to the Detroit retail store will be built, and the Indianapolis store will have a $175,000 addition. In Chicago the company will spend $60,000 on an automobile service station at its west side plant.

HOWELL LONG 8,000,000 BU. IN CORN MARKET

Denies Iowa Reports of Short Sales.

Thomas M. Howell, reputed to be one of the largest operators on the Chicago Board of Trade, last night issued an emphatic denial of Iowa reports that he had cleaned up $1,000,000 by selling corn short. Mr. Howell asserted that he has been on the long side of the corn market during the entire year and is now holding 8,000,000 bushels of cash corn which he took on July deliveries. A story in THE TRIBUNE of July 31 told of Mr. Howell occupying a long position in July corn, which he now affirms.

Mr. Howell's statement was made in answer to a statement circulated by the Agricultural Advisory Council of Des Moines which had charged that the Chicago grain man had profited to the extent of $1,000,000 on the short side of the corn market, while farmers suffered through his operations.

A Consistent Buyer.

"It is a fact that not only was I a consistent buyer of corn, not a short seller, but that my purchases lifted the price and maintained for some time a higher market, from which farmers benefitted," Mr. Howell asserted. "The records will show that many farmers were able to ship their corn to Chicago during the period of these comparatively high prices and that they profited thereby.

"During the entire year up to the present time I was constantly on the buying side of corn. At the present time I am the owner of eight million bushels of cash corn which I will not sell at present prices, as I expect to get more for it."

Gets Credit for Upturn.

Last week Mr. Howell was credited with having caused the sharp bulge in July corn which sent the price to 72½ cents bushel and caused a wild scramble among the traders, many of whom were reported to be short the market at 60 cents bushel. All the corn that was wanted was sold and by brokers said to represent Howell, who in recent months, has become noted as one of the most mysterious of all the great plungers the grain exchange has known.

The statement issued by the Des Moines agricultural group claimed that Mr. Howell sold corn short during the market decline from 87½ cents a bushel to 54½ cents a bushel and that when July corn reached 54½ cents, which was the end of that future, he had covered his short commitments through purchases, reaping large profits.

GEN. GIBBS HERE TO CO-ORDINATE I. T. & T. SERVICE

Maj. Gen. George Sabin Gibbs, who recently retired as chief signal officer of the United States army, came to Chicago yesterday in connection with his new task of coördinating the land, air, and underwater communication services of the world wide International Telephone and Telegraph corporation.

Today he will continue the conferences he began yesterday with officers of the western division of the company the purpose of which is to effect a situation which will insure that a message deposited in the most lowly branch telegraph office will go ahead directly to its destination without delays whether it is to be transferred to cable or radio.

As a young Iowan, Gen. Gibbs volunteered in the Spanish war, was cited for gallantry at Manila, and participated in twenty-eight engagements and skirmishes. He helped build the military telegraph lines in Alaska. He went to France as assistant chief signal officer of the A. E. F. in 1917.

This noon Gen. Gibbs will be the guest at a luncheon in the Mid-Day club.

Declines Registered in July Auto Production

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 6.—Automobile production in the United States and Canada in July dropped 19.6 per cent below a year ago and 13.6 per cent under the previous month, according to the estimate of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce. Output was 221,485 cars and trucks, compared with 256,297 in June and 275,721 in July last year. For the first seven months production was 1,855,933 units, a decline of 28.2 per cent from the 2,584,986 turned out in the same period last year.

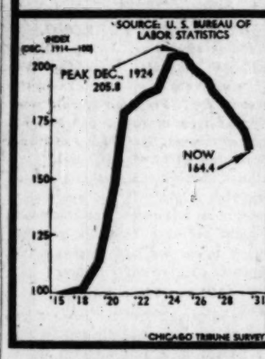
National Dairy Products Reports Drop in Surplus

New York, Aug. 6.—(AP)—National Dairy Products corporation and subsidiaries for the first half of 1931, including operations for the entire period of properties acquired during the period, reported consolidated surplus of $10,552,826, equal to $1.68 a share on 6,263,141 common shares outstanding at the end of the period. For the like period last year the company reported consolidated surplus of $12,947,211, or $2.16 a share, on 5,971,636 common shares outstanding at the end of the period.

Russian Exports Through Bosporous Show Increase

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Soviet Russia's exports passing through the Bosporus in July were 40,000 tons above the total for July, 1930, and the seven month total in 1931 was 20 per cent higher than the same period last year. Wheat, rye and barley exports were considerably higher than last year, when heavy cereal exports did not begin until August. The July total was 690,000 long tons, including cereals, oils, manganese and coal.

RISE AND FALL OF RENTS IN CHICAGO SINCE THE WAR



RADIO CORP. INCOME AHEAD OF LAST YEAR; TOPS PFD. DIVIDENDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 6.—David Sarnoff, president of the Radio Corporation of America, today announced that the corporation earned $35,294 more than its preferred dividends in the first half of 1931, equal to one-fourth of one cent for each share of common stock, comparing with a deficit of $2,093,802 after preferred dividends in the first six months of 1930.

DAVID SARNOFF. [Asso'd Press Photo.]

This result was achieved, he said, despite a $3,202,186 decline in gross $3,202,186 decline in gross, from $58,584,482 to $47,382,296, and a $1,556,166 decline in other income, from $2,147,597 to $591,431. Total gross income for the six months was $47,973,727, against $52,732,079 in the 19030 period, a decline of $4,758,352 or 9 per cent.

Cost of sales and expenses were cut from $48,282,370 to $40,545,013, a reduction of $7,737,357, or 16 per cent. This left net earnings of $7,248,714, comparing with $4,449,709 in the 1930 period, a gain of $2,979,005, or 67 per cent, attributable to the economies effected in operating the business.

Total income was $23,130,355 against $24,843,372. Net earnings were $3,406,353, against $4,022,361, and net income available for dividends was $1,072,184 against $1,566,519. No figures for the second quarter of 1930 are available for purposes of comparison. There was a deficit of $228,353 after preferred dividends for the quarter, comparing with a balance of $263,648 for the first quarter.

Says Treasury Offering Is Heavily Oversubscribed

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Acting Secretary Mills announced today subscriptions of $200,798,000 had been received for tenders of $60,000,000 of 91 day treasury bills offered Aug. 3. The bills are dated Aug. 10 and mature Nov. 9. The highest bid made was 99.878, equivalent of an interest rate of about 0.48 per cent annually, and the lowest 99.846, equivalent of an interest rate of 0.61. Bids accepted totaled $60,005,000.

S. S. Kresge Company July Sales Show Slight Drop

July sales of the S. S. Kresge company showed a decline of $160,536 to $10,721,890 from $10,882,426 reported for the like month of 1930. Sales for the first seven months this year aggregated $77,960,492, compared with $78,340,038 for the like period of last year.

Ebb in Speculation Shown by Big Brokers' Loans Drop

The low ebb which speculation has reached in this country was shown in the weekly reports on brokers' loans which was issued yesterday. That the public is letting the professional trading element carry on the market show alone is indicated in the further drop of $44,000,000 in the loans to brokers.

The further drop in loans followed a $26,000,000 contraction in the previous week and brings the total volume of credit devoted to speculation to $1,346,000,000, the lowest figure recorded since the current method of compiling the figures was adopted early in 1926.

Loans Show Increase.

Few significant credit changes are shown by the weekly report of the federal reserve system. The loans of the twelve reserve banks to member institutions showed an increase of $5,539,000, bringing the current total to $188,575,000. Bills purchased in the open market held by the system were practically unchanged at $66,074. The system increased its holdings of government securities by $2,654,000, while note circulation expanded $37,171,000 to $1,772,672,000. Deposits of the system declined to $44,150;000, bringing the current total to $2,510,447,000.

Deposits Off $34,952,000.

The report of the New York reserve bank showed an expansion in loans to member institutions of $7,260,000. The bank also increased its holdings of bankers' acceptances by $2,471,000 while its holdings of government securities remained unchanged at $169,535,000. Deposits declined $34,952,000 while total reserves decreased $96,064,000 and the reserve ratio receded to 88.3 per cent, as compared with 90.4 at the close of the previous week.

Loans of the Chicago Federal Reserve bank increased $1,356,000 but the bank disposed of $298,000 in bankers' acceptances. Government securities holdings were unchanged. Deposits increased $13,443,000 and reserves gained $20,409,000. The reserve ratio increased to 89.3 from 89.2 at the end of the previous week.

Values Off 3 Billions.

Market value of all shares listed on the exchange on Aug. 1 totaled $44,422,740,446, against $47,417,147,581 on July 1, a decrease of $2,994,403,135. During July borrowings of members decreased $47,232,163 to $1,344,092,754 at the end of the month, a new low record since publication of this series of figures began in 1926.

As of Aug. 1, there were 1,293 stock issue aggregating 1,303,221,198 shares listed on the exchange, against 1,297 issues aggregating 1,303,489,082 shares on July 1.

REPORTS CHICAGO GROUP PLANS BIG CANADA PROJECT

WINNIPEG, Canada, Aug. 6.—(AP)—The Free Press evening bulletin said today that plans for the investment of $30,000,000 for establishment of pulp and paper mills and building a railway from Gypsumville north to Grand Rapids and Churchill have been under discussion lately between the Manitoba government and Chicago financial interests.

The proposed plan involves development of a huge power project, either on the Dauphin river or at Grand Rapids, construction of mills in the inter-lake area north of Gypsumville and construction of a direct rail line linking Winnipeg with Churchill which would tap the Hudson Bay railway north of Grand Rapids, at the northwest end of Lake Winnipeg.

Thomas J. McManus, representative of important Chicago financial interests, the bulletin says, has been conferring with Premier John Bracken and Donald G. McKenzie, minister of mines and natural resources. The newspaper quotes Mr. McManus as saying he will return to Chicago soon to make a report on his findings.

Says Western Farmers Hold Wheat for a Rise

"Farmers in our territory north of Kansas apparently are holding their grain for better prices," Vice President H. H. Holcomb of the Burlington road said yesterday. "There is more diversified farming in this territory which accounts for the people there being in better financial position to hold crops for improved markets. This condition, while it temporarily keeps down grain shipments, is better in the long run."

Fairbanks, Morse Reports 6 Months' Loss of $559,534

Fairbanks, Morse & Co. and subsidiaries reported for the first six months of the year net loss of $559,534 after all charges, including depreciation and interest, as compared with net profit of $803,461, equal after 7 per cent preferred dividends to $1.52 a share on 368,977 no par common shares, in the first half of 1930.

Net shipments for the period totaled $8,673,509, as against $13,585,558.

Australian Senate Rejects Wheat Marketing Bill

CANBERRA, Australia, Aug. 6.—(AP)—The senate today defeated a wheat marketing bill providing for establishment of a commission to control pooling of wheat for export and to fix the price of wheat for home consumption. The measure was nullified last week when the senate carried an amendment substituting a flour and wheat tax for the compulsory pool.

MONTGOMERY WARD & CO. SALES ARE $15,320,476

Montgomery Ward & Co. last night reported July sales of $15,320,476, as compared with $18,668,623 in the same month last year, a decrease of $3,348,147, or 17.93 per cent. The rate of decline in July sales is approximately the same as the average decrease for previous months this year.

Sales for the first seven months this year of the chain store and mail order company were $123,111,841, against $148,853,726 in July, 1930, a drop of $25,741,885, or 17.29 per cent.

Pullman Operations for June Show Net of $351,687

The Pullman company's report on transportation operations for June shows net of $351,687 after expenses and taxes, against $947,430 in June, 1930. Six months' net amounted to $832,559, against $2,631,040 for the first half of last year.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 6.—Nothing appeared in the news, either domestic or foreign, to change anybody's mind about the position of the stock market today. There were a few minor bank failures, some dividends were cut, and another batch of poor or indifferent earnings reports came out, but none of them was of sufficient weight to cause a ripple on the situation.

So the market just stayed put. Of the little more than 400 different issues traded in during the greater part of the day, less than 10 per cent showed gains or losses of as much as a point. Less than a dozen of these are ordinarily active. This probably makes for some sort of record for dullness.

American Can Bumps Bottom.

Among the pivotals interest—such as there was—was focused on United States Steel, American Telephone, American Can and Consolidated Gas and all four sold at new low prices for the movement before meeting with support of any consequence. American Can bumped the lowest bottom it has hit since 1929. Selling of Telephone was something of a mystery in view of the denial—apparently from inspired sources—that the corporation's dividend is to be sharply reduced. The street understands now that the rate will not be cut at all. All four of the big leaders rallied somewhat toward the close, American Can, American Telephone, and U. S. Steel all managing to register a net gain on the day.

Rails Again Unsteady.

Rails were again unsteady although inactive. New York Central touched a new low, the poorest since 1921, Illinois Central, Baltimore and Ohio, New Haven, Southern railway and one or two others sagged a point or so each.

Utility shares in the main were no worse than tired. One notable ex-

Potomac Edison.

I have a $500 bond of Potomac Edison company, series F, 4½ per cent, due 1961. I would like you to give me information on the issue.—C. G.

Potomac Edison company, a subsidiary of West Penn Electric company, is a part of American Water Works and Electric company system. It furnishes utility services to 276 communities in Maryland, Pennsylvania, Virginia, West Virginia and District of Columbia. In 1930 sales of electric power accounted for 76.2 per cent of gross revenues. Bus lines contributed 16 per cent and operation of railways 5.2 per cent.

In April, 1931, $5,000,000 first 4½s, series F, due April 1, 1961, were issued to retire the first 6s, series C, due 1941, and the first 5½s, series D, due 1957, for improvements and other purposes. In addition there are outstanding $12,921,000 first 5s, series E, due 1956, $6,500,000 of cumulative preferred [par $100] and 120,000 shares of no par common.

Each of the last seven years has seen an increase in gross revenues. Following increases in fixed charges and operating expenses in 1930, fixed charges for that year were earned 2.13 times against 2.23 times in 1929. Charges were covered 2.15 times in 1928 and 1.87 times in 1927.

The first 4½s, series F, are secured equally with the first 5s, series E, by a first mortgage on all property of the company and by deposit of the capital stock of certain subsidiaries. They are reasonably sound.

Van Sweringen Corp.

Please give me information on Van Sweringen corporation 6 per cent notes.—C. E. T.

Van Sweringen corporation was incorporated in April, 1930. It holds title to all stock of a subsidiary owning or leasing the 52 story Terminal Tower building, Cleveland hotel and coördinated properties.

On May 15, 1931, the office space of Terminal Tower building was 91.5 per cent occupied and store space was 42 per cent occupied. Builders Exchange was 94.3 per cent rented, Medical Arts building 46.4 per cent and Midland Bank 74.7 per cent.

Net income for the period of May 1 to Dec. 31, 1930, before interest, was $82,099. Interest on the $30,000,000 6 per cent notes totaled $1,140,637. The company agrees to maintain cash and [or] marketable securities to at least 50 per cent of the par value of outstanding notes. On Dec. 31, 1930, cash on deposit was $1,143,849. Segregated assets, including United States government bonds, cash and accrued interest, totaled $5,023,672. There were received under an agreement with Messrs. Van Sweringen $10,243,955 United States government obligations and cash. Profit and loss deficit was $2,854,895.

To the Holders of

5% Gold Debentures, due 1954, of

Eastern Utilities Investing Corporation

Notice is hereby given that the requisite amount of Eastern Utilities Investing Corporation 5% Debentures due 1954 having been deposited with The Public National Bank and Trust Company of New York under the offer of this Company to exchange said Debentures, the offer has been declared operative.

For the benefit of such remaining holders of Eastern Utilities Investing Corporation 5% Debentures due 1954 as desire to make this exchange, the offer has been extended until the close of business August 31, 1931. No further extension can be made.

In view of the large volume of deposits an arrangement has been made to increase the maximum to be acepted to $15,000,000. Over $12,000,000 of the Debentures having already been deposited, at the rate deposits are now being received it is likely that the maximum will soon be reached.

Excess deposits can only be accepted subject to allotment or return. Intending depositors should therefore deposit promptly to be certain that their Debentures will be accepted in full.

Deposits may be made through your security dealer, bank or sent direct by registered mail to The Public National Bank and Trust Company, 76 William Street, New York City.

WHAT A. G. BECKER & CO. OFFERS THE INVESTOR

PLAN

• A doctor in the upper peninsula of Michigan has $2500 a year to invest. A widow of 63 in central Illinois lives on the income of $32,000 in securities. The present investment account of a Chicago manufacturer totals $400,000. A boy out of college two years has a recent legacy of $16,000.

• These and hundreds more are the "average investor". The differences in their investment requirements are obvious. But one thing they all have in common and that is the need for investment programs that fit their own situations. Since securities differ widely in their suitability for a specific investment purpose, only selection based on a plan can assure the achievement of the individual investment goal. Just as the problem for the builder of selecting the right type of door from the many that are available is simplified and satisfactorily disposed of by adherence to the plans for the house, so the selection of securities should be dictated by the investment plan that meets the individual investor's needs.

• And so, first of the services which A. G. Becker & Co. offers the investor is all possible cooperation in the drafting of his investment plan It is the first step in sound investment.

• This is an especially good time to examine your investments in the light of fundamentals. We invite your inquiry.

BUYS BLOCK IN EVANSTON FOR INDUSTRIAL USE

Coal Company President Is Purchaser.

BY AL CHASE.

Purchase of the entire square block in Evanston, bounded by Greenleaf and Lee streets and Grey and Brown avenues, by William W. Robson, president of the Marquette Coal and Mining company, was disclosed yesterday at the recorder's office. The property, which is vacant, was sold by John P. Risch and his wife, Mary Eva Risch, and John P. Welland and his wife Katherine Welland for an undisclosed consideration. Mr. Risch and Mr. Welland are members of the Welland Risch Co., florists, 154 North Wabash.

The property, it is stated, will be placed on the market by Mr. Robson and sold as one parcel. Although there seems to be some doubt about the zoning of this block it is understood that the property will be sold for industrial development. The land fronts 504 feet on both Grey and Brown avenues and 340 feet on Greenleaf and Lee streets. It is close to the Niles Center cutoff of the Chicago and North Western railroad.

Refinances at 4½ Per Cent.

Peter Krants has given a trust deed for $203,750, ten years and four months at 4½ per cent to the Chicago Title and Trust company, trustee, for refinancing a loan on the eight story Glengyle apartment hotel, at 939-41 Glengyle place. It contains sixty-five suites of one, two and three rooms, all furnished. The lot is 50x149.

Title to the Galt Arms apartments, at 906-16 Galt avenue, lot 120x125, has been transferred by Louis and Harry Morris by quitclaim deed to William M. Richards. The building contains twenty-four four room suites. Fisher, Boyden, Bell, Boyd & Marshall were attorneys.

David E. Linder has purchased for investment the four story stone front rooming house, lot 25x115, at 741 North Dearborn street, from Samuel Segal for an undisclosed consideration, subject to $24,000. Frank Alden was attorney.

Sells Six Flat Building.

The six apartment building at 7620-22 Greenview avenue, lot 50x127, has been sold by Harry and Eva Feiwell to Tillie Werfel for an undisclosed consideration. Louis Steinberg was attorney.

The county records yesterday disclosed the terms of the lease by the federal government of the postoffice quarters at 833 West Roosevelt road, occupied by the Roosevelt road station. The property was rented from Rene Wahl for ten years from June 1, 1930, at $3,000 annually. The quarters include first floor space, 20x24 and basement space 23.6x56.

Janet Ives Duncan has purchased the two story residence at 344 Kenilworth avenue, Oak Park, lot 58x204, from William Y. Gilmore for an undisclosed consideration. S. G. Rantbord was attorney for the buyer.

Estimated receipts at Chicago today—Cattle, 1,500; hogs, 15,000; sheep, 7,000.

There was a better tone in the market for top classes of live stock yesterday, but others ruled weak to lower grade. Top steers at $9.40 equaled the previous high mark of the season, while top hogs sold up to $8.15, highest since last Friday and within 35c of the year's peak.

Lambs made the poorest showing, but top strong weight fat lambs reached $7.75, which was as high as any time this week. Compared with the low point of the year, top steers show advances of $1.50@1.75, while top hogs are selling $1.75@1.95 above the low point in May. Lambs, however, are about in line with the lowest spot since October, 1914.

Hogs opened steady to 10c higher yesterday, a big share of the best grades selling at the advance, but the rise was weaker and some instances of 10c loss were cited when larger hogs refused to follow at the rough. Selected 170@210 lb averages were popular at $8.00@8.10, a few reaching $8.15, while few hogs sending 300 lbs in weight were able to more than $6.65.

The general average price moved less to at $6.60, with the price range 5 inch or two wider. The top and mmon show a spread of $1.55, while year ago, when prices were almost 50 higher, the spread was only 85c. Weights at leading markets this week have been below any corresponding period in many years, and another decrease is expected today. Five markets report 38,000 in sight, against 45,000 a year ago.

August Hogs Bid $8.00.

Lightweight hogs delivered any time during the first half of this month carried bids of $8.00 on the futures market, but there were no sellers at that figure. The lowest offer at the time stopped at $8.75. September hogs were also offered at $8.75. Medians for September were offered at $8.85 and bid $7.50, while December positions were offered at $6.50.

The cattle market was a two-way affair again yesterday, the best holding firm and occasionally selling to slightly better advantage, while unfinished stock and particularly "grassy" animals ruled weak to lower, most of the cows and heifers showing 25@50c loss for the week. Light steers and yearlings of choice quality sold under brisk competition, a shipment of mixed steers and heifers averaging 820 lbs, selling to Armour at $9.40, the top quotation.

Packers, here and at principal eastern distributing centers, are eager for well fed cattle, but report that animals having a "grassy" appearance are hard to dispose of after they are slaughtered. Only a small number of steers are selling below $6.50, although practically a few lots of inferior low grades range downwards to $3.00, the latest bottom price in many years.

Lamb Quality Poor.

Quality of lambs is the poorest in many years. The drought has dried up pastures in many of the lamb feeding areas and stock has been going flesh for several weeks. Only a few fattening are fat enough to bring top quotations, while a big share of offerings are subjected to severe "cuts," the culls selling at $3.00@4.00, while the top end goes at $7.00@7.75.

The wholesale market is swamped with inferior grades of stock, but carcasses from well finished lambs are under requirements of the trade. The spread of prices is spreading out rapidly. Inferior classes have been selling on the wholesale trade as low as 8c per pound, while outlet is broad on the 10@22c kinds. Aged sheep and yearlings were scarce and steady. Feeding lambs were quoted steady. Only inferior grades of natives reported as worthless by packers are being picked up by country buyers at $4.00, although good western feeding stock is costing $5.00@5.50.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—(AP)—COTTON goods were firm in the unfinished goods division and steady in finished goods today. Trade was in steady demand. Rayon yarns were sold up closely on 150 denier deliveries. Silk was steady. Silk and rayon were selling better.

COMPETITION OF EXPORT NATIONS HITS GRAIN MART

China Reported Making Big Wheat Purchases.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Extremely keen competition on the part of exporting countries in an effort to dispose of their surplus grain coming at a time when the buying power of the world seems to be practically demoralized continues to dominate the trend of prices.

All deliveries of wheat, corn, oats, and rye, with the exception of September corn, sold at a new low for the season yesterday, with September wheat at a new all time record low, touching 47½c at the extreme, while December corn at 40¾c was only ⅝c above the inside figure made in December, 1906.

While there has been a much larger export business in North American wheat of late than has been reported, China being credited with taking 2,500,000 to 3,000,000 bu American and Canadian grain at the Pacific coast in the last ten days, there was again an utter absence of demand from Europe, and further pressure to sell Russian and Danubian grain was reported abroad, and the break of 1@1¼d in Liverpool to a new record low had considerable influence both here and in Canada. October in Liverpool closed at equal to 54c per bu, while December was 56⅝c.

Exporting Countries Need Money.

Financial conditions in central Europe are regarded as the main factor in forcing the surplus wheat to be sold at prices far below production costs, and Russia needs foreign currency to pay for commodities and manufactured articles which must be secured abroad. The latter country cleared 3,080,000 bu of wheat the last week from Black sea ports, an unusually large quantity for this season of the year.

The local wheat market showed little disposition to rally, although there was considerable support from holders of bids, and the finish was within a fraction of the bottom, with net losses of ⅝@⅞c, with September 47¾@47⅞c, December 51⅝@51¾c, and May 56½c.

Winnipeg wheat broke sharply early, but the market rallied quickly on buying regarded as against export sales, and by strong commission houses which some interests were inclined to attribute to the dominion government. A Chicago trader was also a liberal buyer. Closing trades in the Canadian market were ⅛@⅜c lower, with the October finishing at 52⅝c.

Buying by Millers.

Prices in American markets are regarded as being sustained to some extent by the heavy buying of cash wheat by millers who have made liberal sales of flour of late, part of the business being at unusually low prices. As a result of the mill buying the price of cash grain in parts of Kansas is about the same as when Chicago September was selling around 51c, according to reports from Hutchinson, Kas. Owing to lack of European demand No. 1 hard winter at the gulf was quoted as much as 2½c under Chicago September, or about 44¼c at the last without attracting any demand of consequence.

Cooler weather prevailed over a good part of the corn belt and the recent rains in the southwest brought in reports of an improvement in conditions in that section. Commission houses were persistent sellers of the deferred deliveries in small lots and later sellers of bids were forced to protect themselves, making the close 1⅝@1¾c lower, with December 40¾c and May 44⅝@44¾c.

Gets Fair Support.

September corn, representing the old crop, received fair support and was only ⅛c lower at the last at 50⅝@50¾c. Shipping sales aggregated 100,000 bu, the eastern demand showing fair improvement.

Liquidation was on in oats early, but buying by houses with northwestern connections brought about a rally of 1¼c from the inside figures at one time. The market eased again toward the last with corn, but closed unchanged to ⅛c lower, with September 21⅜c, December 23½c, and May 26¼@26⅝c. Rye was off ⅝@1¼c with wheat, the September future being 32¾c, December 36⅝@36¾c, and May 40⅝c at the last.

CASH GRAIN NEWS

There has apparently been a much larger export business passing in North American wheat of late than has been reported. Messages from Portland, Ore., claimed between 1,500,000 and 2,000,000 bu of American wheat had been sold to the orient in the last 10 days, largely to Shanghai. There was also some business in Manitobas at the Pacific as well as the Atlantic ports, but the quantities were not given. Some Canadian barley was worked during the day to the United Kingdom. Late in the day it was claimed 1,000,000 bu of Manitobas had been sold to China.

Basis of cash wheat at the gulf continues easy with No. 1 hard for August loading quoted at 3@3½c under Chicago September. Southwestern cash houses have practically ceased to bid the country for shipment of grain to the gulf owing to the slow demand Mills, however, were reported as active buyers in the interior.

Chicago handlers sold 100,000 bu corn and 28,000 bu oats to the domestic trade with 200,000 bu wheat sold to go to store. Purchases to arrive were 32,000 bu wheat; 16,000 bu corn, and 6,000 bu oats. Charters were for 300,000 bu wheat to Buffalo.

Demand for hard winter and for spring wheat showed improvement in the local sample market yesterday and while the basis on red winter was steady hard and spring advanced ¼@½c, as compared with the September. No. 1 red was September price to ⅝c under; No. 2 red, ¼@¾c under; No. 3 red and hard, 2@2¼c under; No. 1 and No. 2 hard, September to ⅛c over; No. 1 northern, 1½c over September. At Kansas City the basis was 5c higher.

EGG FUTURES EASY

Egg futures started higher on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange yesterday but dropped toward the close, closing unchanged to ⅛c lower. Butter closed unchanged. Potatoes were slightly easier. Idahoes dropping 2c, and round whites and green mountains being unchanged. Egg news was slightly bearish, the outward storage movement being under that of a year ago but support was fairly good, particularly after a midseason selling wave had run its course. The butter news was bullish the Centralizers report on production showing a 7 per cent decrease from last year and the Pacific coast creameries reporting a 13 per cent decrease. However, the uncertainty over the movement in the next week held buying in check. Sales: Butter, 1,152,000 lbs; eggs, 1,464,000 doz; potatoes, 904,000 lbs. Prices follow:

Exchange to Give List of Unobjectionable Trusts

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 6.—[Special.]—A list of fixed investment trusts "unobjectionable" to the New York Stock exchange will be published within the next thirty days, it was learned today.

From this "unobjectionable" list trust stocks will be admitted to trading on application providing they meet the listing requirements of the exchange, it was said.

Reports that "new and novel" changes were to be made in the regulations regarding fixed trusts were denied in exchange circles. The stock exchange, it was declared, contemplates no shift in its present attitude toward the group.

Eastern Nebraska Corn in Critical Condition

"Eastern Nebraska corn is in a very critical condition, with most of it already badly damaged," says Harvey S. Williams in a wire from Hastings to Thomson & McKinnon. "The only real good corn seen in a 125 mile drive was 22 miles from Madison to Newman Grove."

H. C. Donovan reporting from Norfolk, Neb., to Logan & Bryan, said: "Sioux City, Ia., to O'Neill, Neb., corn very spotted. Some good fields on bottom lands and some on high light soil now past recovery, with largest portion still promising half a crop, but could gain in condition if heavy rains were received soon."

August 6, 1931.

Notice is hereby given to holders of CITY OF CHICAGO, BOARD OF EDUCATION SCHOOL BUILDING TAX ANTICIPATION WARRANT NOTES. Following bonds called for payment: Nos. B-3459 to B-3480 both inclusive at $5,000.00 each, dated July 1, 1929, due August 15, 1930, at 6% interest.

That the money for the payment of said warrants is available and that said warrants will be paid on presentation through any bank to the City Treasurer of the City of Chicago, Halsey, Stuart & Company of Chicago, or the Guaranty Trust Company of New York.

INTEREST ACCRUAL WILL BE STOPPED ON AUGUST 14, 1931, if foregoing described notes are not presented for collection on or before that date.

ATTORNEY.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, Office of the Supervising Architect, Washington, D. C., July 30, 1931.—Sealed Proposals will be opened in this office at 2 p. m., August 20, 1931, for furnishing all labor and material required for renewal of cast iron fronts on the five hawley down-draft furnaces in the high pressure steam boilers in the U. S. postoffice (old) at Chicago, Ill. Especial attention is called to the fact that the right is reserved to consider both time for completion as well as price in awarding the contract. Specifications may be obtained from the custodian at the U. S. postoffice at Chicago, Ill., or at this office in the discretion of the supervising architect.

JAS. A. WETMORE,

PIT NOTES

Declines of grain prices day after day to the lowest levels known to the trade is attributed by practically all operators as due to the absence of a speculative short interest in all markets. Prices have reached a level where there is believed to be little prospects for profits on the short side and the speculators largely have abandoned selling. This leaves the trade between the hedger as a seller and the speculator as a buyer. The latter has absorbed the hedges, believing largely that prices are at a level where investment buying is safe.

Failure of prices to respond to the most bullish news from the northwestern spring wheat crop that the trade has even known, is said to be due to holders of wheat getting tired and selling out in a market where buyers are scarce. Had there been a large general short interest it would have absorbed the offerings, traders say, and furnished a supporting factor. So long as present conditions last traders are inclined to believe there will be no permanent improvement in values.

"There are plenty of factors of a potentially bullish character in the wheat market," says S. C. Harris. "They are chiefly serious deterioration in large producing countries, but when we speak of potentially bullish factors, that implies the existence of a speculative interest which might conceivably translate them into current advances. The volume of trading affords eloquent testimony of the lack of speculative interest. A revival of the latter is absolutely essential to any advance in prices."

COTTON TONE BEARISH

A bearish statistical situation in cotton on one hand, with fairly good crop prospects and expectations of a liberal sized crop to be shown on Saturday's official report, had a bearish influence on the cotton market yesterday. However, trade was small, but considerable cotton was absorbed on breaks.

Selling pressure was sufficient to keep prices down most of the day, although there was a fair sized rally at one time, but the disposition is to go slow on both sides of the market, awaiting the crop figures and consummation of the German government deal with the federal farm board. The transaction is not as large as expected at first, said to be about 600,000 bales, with an option for an additional 200,000 bales, provided satisfactory credits can be arranged.

Liverpool was strong, but gained only 2 @3 points net, with spot sales 6,000 bales. At the close futures in Chicago and New Orleans were off 1@5 points and New York 2@4 points. Spots in the latter market lost 5 points to 7.95c, with New Orleans unchanged at 7.85c, being the same as Galveston, and Houston 7.75c. Proctor & Gamble's crop estimate is 13,750,000 bales. The Memphis Appeal estimate is 14,117,000 bales, with a condition of 73.4 and the American Cotton Crop service estimates it 13,656,000 bales with a condition of 70.6. Another estimate is for 14,375,000 bales and a condition of 70. Average estimates of 75 members of the New York Cotton exchange is for a crop of 13,813,000 bales. Prices follow:

Household's rates are the lowest in Chicago
